Great Britain's Labor Premier and his daughter, welcomed in New York today. The Premier has to confer with President Hoover about naval disarmament. They were last in United States in April of 1927 on a "vacation from politics."

Today

Flying for Pasture.
X-Raying the Mummy.
A Prosperous Country.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TODAY, Rosh Hashanah begins the Jewish new year at sundown. According to the ancient Hebrew calendar, the world was made 5,690 years ago. Figures that agree substantially with the Christian idea as to the age of the world.

They do not, however, agree with scientific facts. But that need not disturb religious beliefs.

MEN have been on the earth, in various forms, for at least 1,000,000 years.

The earth itself is thousands of millions of years old.

MORE important, and most comforting, is the scientific statement that our earth will last, with the sun keeping it warm enough for human beings to enjoy themselves for millions of centuries to come.

In that time, doubtless, war will die out, also selfishness, poverty and injustice. But such progress cannot be hurried.

THE Canadian government bought a herd of 3,000 selected reindeer and will drive them from Kotzebue Sound in Arctic Alaska to the east side of the Mackenzie delta in Northwest Canada.

Driving great herds to new pasture lands is old.

Ahead of Canada's reindeer an Alaska Airways plane will fly, carrying officials of the Canadian government, spying out the best pastures to which the reindeer may be driven. That is new.

MODERN science is useful. Airplanes select pastures, prospects for gold, watch forest fires, carry medicine.

The X-ray is used in the purchase of mummies.

Prof. Langmuir in the General Electric research laboratory shows a life size X-ray of a mummy, taken through all its wrappings. The outer edges of the vertebrae show indications of arthritis in those ancient days.

THE Field Museum in Chicago will purchase no mummy until its genuineness has been demonstrated by X-rays showing the bony structure of the old Egyptian inside.

X-rays and other scientific processes are used in selecting merchandise of many kinds.

UNCLE SAM continues to prosper, in spite of increasing expenses. In three months ending September 30, he collected more than one billion dollars, and $128,959,834 more than he collected in the same three months a year ago. It's a big, rich country, with one single city spending in a year as much as the United States used to spend before the war.

BUSINESS and buying, generally, throughout the country, continue active. The September report of Sears, Roebuck, which deals with the whole country, shows a gain of 23 per cent. The

PETITIONS HINT 'DARK HORSE'

Ralph H. Smith, resigned United States assistant district attorney, made a ripple in the calm local political waters today.

What he intends to do with 50 election petitions which he obtained from the County Commissioners is puzzling observers.

Smith was an ardent campaigner for Councilman James F. Malone, defeated in the mayoralty fight. Today he was in conference with E. Lowry Humes, prominent Democrat, supporter of Thomas A. Dunn, Democratic mayoralty nominee.

"Is there going to be a dark horse in the mayoralty fight?" Mr. Smith was asked.

"I don't know whether you would call him a dark horse or not," Mr. Smith replied.

"When will these mysterious petitions be filed?"

"They will have to be filed before Tuesday," Mr. Smith said.

Fifty petitions, dark-horse experts pointed out, are enough to cover a complete independent ticket.

Physician Doubts Increased Longevity

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Dr. Louis I. Dublin, life insurance statistician, doubts that longevity will be increased. Though the average life is 20 years longer than it was in 1880, this is due to reduction of preventable deaths of young people. Improvement after the age of 40 has been slight. Dr. Dublin gave his views to the American Public Health Association.

City Noises Blamed For Many Divorces

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The city's din is blamed for the bulk of divorces here. As Dr. Paul V. Winslow, nerve specialist, expressed it in an address, in a great majority of cases you won't find anything very seriously wrong except irritability due to rumble of traffic, garbage cans, screeching brakes, riveters and the like.

Ramsay MacDonald's Greetings to Americans

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Anticipating a barrage of questioners from the large delegation of newspapermen which greeted him on board the Berengaria today, Premier Ramsay MacDonald sent out the following prepared statement:

"At the moment of arrival I greet my hosts. His Majesty has honored me by telegraphing his good wishes for the success of a mission which I feel instinctively is to have benefits far beyond the boundaries of our two countries.

"The United States and ourselves are really making an appeal by example to all nations to gather round a council board of peace, so that whilst cherishing their historical past and engaging in all the healthy rivalries of genius and skill, and work, they will remember the wider unities of a humane civilization.

"You almost make me afraid by the boundless hospitality you seem to be preparing for me. I hope I shall be equal to your kindness.

"The problems of armaments are full of hidden difficulties, and a patient working out of details in an atmosphere of mutual confidence is required to overcome them. And I crave a judgment from you as generously sympathetic as your welcome is to be generously lavish.

"When I return and it is all over, I pray that I shall leave behind me some memories which will make it easy for you to think well of Great Britain and be a reason for close co-operation between your country and mine in the great causes of democracy and liberty which inspire the peoples on both sides of the Atlantic."

FALL ILL, MAY DELAY TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Illness may again bring a postponement in the trial of former Secretary Albert B. Fall on charges of accepting a bribe for leasing the Elk Hills (Cal.) Naval Oil Reserve to Edward L. Doheny.

He is down with one of the bronchial attacks to which he is subject, and the attendant weakness, in view of his 68 years and the frail condition of his health for several years, is causing apprehension on the part of his family.

The attack is ascribed by Dr. H. T. Safford, of El Paso, Tex., the former interior secretary's personal physician, to exposure to inclement weather Wednesday while going to and from the District of Columbia Supreme Court for arraignment and to move for dismissal of the indictment.

The physician does not feel free yet to give an opinion whether his patient would have sufficient strength to appear in court Monday, the date set for the trial.

He said Fall was slightly improved today.

Waggoner's Trial Off Until Oct. 10

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The trial of Charles Delos Waggoner, bank president of Telluride, Colo., on an indictment charging mail fraud, was delayed until October 10 in Federal Court today. Waggoner's attorney, Allan B. Campbell, for more time to arrange his client's defense. The motion was granted over the protest of Charles H. Tuttle, United States Attorney.

BROKERS' LOANS 'LEAK' HINTED

See Finance Pages for full details of today's trading on Wall Street, including a big slump in the first hour, a noon rally on heavy buying and exciting trading all day.

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Wall street was stirred to its depths today by unconfirmed rumors of a "leak" in the Federal Reserve Board's process of reporting the compilation of brokers' loans each week, after the close of the market.

These reports are released at Washington on Thursday shortly after 4 o'clock, and show in tabulated form the total of "loans against securities" by banks, bankers' correspondents and "others," the latter including investment trusts, corporation treasuries and rich individuals to whom the lure of 10 per cent is a powerful magnet for their idle funds.

A few hours after the worst break in the market since March, 1926, brokers and traders were asking how it was possible for those "in the know" in Wall street to figure on an increase in brokers' loans, when the tottering market of the week previous pointed to the prospect of another drop in brokers borrowings. They wondered if the figures "leaked out" before the close of the market and thus provided the big bears with an unfair advantage of their fellow traders.

Some brokerage houses have also been accused, in some sections of Wall street, of manipulating their loans at the banks, in order to conceal loans made through these channels. It is as easy to make loans show larger than they really are, if manipulation the other way is desired.

For these and other reasons Wall street thoroughly indorses the demand of the American Bankers Association for a thorough investigation of brokers' loans.

Solo Record Set By Flier on Coast

LONG BEACH, Cal., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Vern Speich, Santa Ana, Cal., flier, landed at Municipal Airport here last night a few minutes after he had set a new solo endurance non-refueling airplane flight record.

Speich's official time in the air was announced by Joe Nikrent, National Aeronautic Association timer, as 38 hours 48 seconds. His official landing time was at 8:27:03 p. m.

British Premier Reaches U. S. On Peace Mission; Leaves To Visit Hoover at Capital

By DAVID P. SENTNER,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A new era in Anglo-American relations, marked by the reduction of navies to insure world peace, was imminent today when Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, head of the British Labor government, arrived here en route for Washington to confer with President Hoover.

The British prime minister will reach Washington late this afternoon to discuss Anglo-American questions in general, but especially to arrange plans for a five-power naval limitation conference in January.

PREMIER ACCLAIMED

MacDonald landed at 10 o'clock this morning and was enthusiastically acclaimed.

His ship, the Berengaria, was escorted in from sea by two United States cruisers, the Memphis and Trenton, and was met at Quarantine by the city tug Macom, bearing the official welcoming party.

His daughter, Ishbel, also was heartily greeted.

ACCIDENT AVERTED

An accident was narrowly averted at Quarantine when a hawser holding the tug Macom against the Berengaria parted just as Mr. MacDonald was preparing to step aboard the gangplank.

The Macom slid back several feet, almost pulling the gangplank off her deck. Mr. MacDonald was waved back and a new hawser quickly adjusted. He and his party then clambered aboard the bobbing city tug.

A police band, in an accompanying tug played "Britannia Rules the

Mob Menaces Woman Annoying MacDonald

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—A middle-aged woman, bearing a banner reading "Down With Hoover and MacDonald," caused a near riot in Pennsylvania Station today when she rushed at Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald while he was hurrying to his train for Washington.

A crowd of 5,000 milled around her and in the uproar she was knocked down. Police fought their way to her and placed her under arrest.

Tunney's Fight Pay Set at $1,715,863.54

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Gross earnings of Gene Tunney as heavyweight champion are revealed as $1,715,863.54 in papers filed in court in his behalf answering the claims of Timothy J. Mara, sports promoter, for a share.

JEANNE EAGELS DEAD

JEANNE EAGELS

Miss Eagels, glittering star of the stage who last appeared in Pittsburgh as "Sadie Thompson" in "Rain," Somerset Maugham's record-breaking stage play. She died suddenly yesterday in a New York private hospital.

JEANNE EAGELS FALLS DEAD

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Broadway—the street that knows perhaps better than any other the heights of gaiety and depths of sorrow—was plunged into sadness today.

It mourned the loss of one of its most popular and glittering figures. Jeanne Eagels, born to the stage and in spite of Hollywood peregrinations, for more than 10 years one of Broadway's fixtures, lay dead.

The brilliant actress, who leaped into international fame through her creation of the role of Sadie Thompson in Somerset Maugham's record-run play, "Rain," died suddenly in a private hospital last night while awaiting treatment for a nervous ailment.

Plans New York's Tallest Building

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—Plans are being prepared for the erection of a new building which will be the city's tallest, A. E. Lefcourt, builder, has acquired a huge plot for an office building 1,050 feet in height.

4 CAPTURED GUARDS SLAIN

Ringleaders Take Own Lives As Militia Batters Fort Set Up Within Prison

CANON CITY, Col., Oct. 4.—(AP)—One of the bloodiest prison mutinies in the nation's history, which claimed the lives of seven guards and at least six convicts, ended at the Colorado State Penitentiary here this morning when the four ringleaders of the uprising committed suicide

Barricaded with more than 150 other convicts in Cell House No. 3, surrounded by troops, police and prison guards, and hoplessly outnumbered, the ring leaders first killed a wounded comrade and them fired bullets into their own brains.

The other convicts then surrendered and were marched out of the cell house just at sunrise.

The mutiny left in its wake a list of 13 dead, and as many wounded, some of whom may die.

GUARDS EXECUTED

Four of the dead were prison guards, disarmed and slaughtered in cold blood inside the cell house, to emphasize the convicts' demand for unmolested freedom.

Warden Francis E. Crawford, who declined all offers to parley with the embattled prisoners, himself was wounded during one of the attacks on the cell block.

Warden Crawford in a formal statement today gave the reasons which led him to accept what was an apparent sacrifice of the lives of prison guards, in preference to capitulation to demands of the mutinous convicts.

"We adopted the only course open," he said. "Any other course would have made only for further mutiny and insurrection."

7,000 SHOTS FIRED

National guard troops and police details from four Colorado cities fired more than 7,000 rounds of ammunition into the convicts' stronghold during the night. The battle was marked by two attempts

PRIEST PRISON RIOT HERO

CANON CITY, Col., Oct. 4.—(INS.)—Father Patrick O'Neill, of the Holy Cross Abbey here, risked his life twice today to place charges of dynamite in Cell House No. 3, of the state penitentiary, where rioting prisoners had barricaded themselves in a bloody all-night battle.

Father O'Neill advanced under the precarious protection of an enfilading barrage of machine gun and rifle fire from militiamen. His first charge failed to explode because of a defective fuse.

Against the entreaties of officers, the priest insisted upon placing another charge.

"I deplore seeing men killed," Father O'Neill said, "but I can't stand this savage butchery on the part of these convicts."

Another dynamite charge was prepared and the priest again faced death from the constant fire of the maddened prisoners.

Swindle Attempt Gets Paroled Man 2 Years

His efforts to repay $800 to a former sweetheart proved the undoing of Donald McIntire, 24, a taxicab driver, of 3928 Fifth avenue, according to testimony in Criminal Court today.

McIntire was paroled two weeks ago by Judge H. H. Rowand, on condition that he repay $800 to Helen Liton, of 4535 Forbes street, who averred that he obtained that sum from her on his promise to marry her. He failed to fulfill his promise to wed, she contended.

Testimony revealed that McIntire, subsequent to his parole had tried to obtain $800 with which to make restitution from Mrs. Mary Sandor, 4710 Gladstone street, by promising to save her son, John Sandor, Jr., from a penitentiary sentence. Sandor was sentenced last week to serve from 10 to 40 years on burglary charges.

Mrs. Sandor and her daughter, Elizabeth testified against McIntire. "He told us he had paid $200 to an attorney to help John and that if we would give him $800 more he could free John" they testified.

McIntire and Sandor had become acquainted while in jail awaiting trial, it was disclosed.

Judge Rowand today sentenced McIntire to serve from two to six years in the workhouse, without option of a parole, on the previous charges of larceny by trick and forgery.

Night of Terror in Prison Riot Drives Guard Mad

CANON CITY, Col., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Marvin Duncan, one of the state penitentiary guards held prisoner by convicts during the night of battle, was carried to a hospital this morning stark mad from terror.

He was found locked in a cell and it was necessary to take off the door to get him out. He was at first thought to be dead, but examination revealed he was not even wounded. He saw Elles, the prison hangman, shot down and saw his body tossed out of the cell house window.

He stood by while Danny Daniels asked Wiggins, another guard, if he had said his prayers, and then shot him through the head.

He heard Daniels tell John Shea, another guard, to take Wiggins' body out to the warden and tell him that Marvin Duncan would be the next guard to die.

That was at 9:30 p. m. From then until he lost his mind, he expected each moment to be his last. Prison physicians said his condition resembled shell shock.

GUNS ROAR SALUTE TO PREMIER

The distinguished visitor felt the first warmth of his reception at the quarantine station. A welcoming committee, which had gone down the bay on the city tug Macom, boarded the liner and formally welcomed him to city and nation.

These preliminaries over, Premier MacDonald, his daughter, Miss Ishbel, and members of his party were taken on board the Macom, which proceeded to the tip of Manhattan Island at the Battery. Vessels of all descriptions in the harbor gave the party a mighty whistle salute, while at Governor's Island the guns at Fort Jay thundered a salute of 19 guns.

WEARS HEATHER

It was a brisk, fine day with a chilly wind tempered by autumnal sunshine.

As the Premier left the Macom at the Battery he wore a sprig of Scottish heather tied with a ribbon of tartan that had been presented to him because of his own Scottish nationality.

Lower Broadway, from the Battery to City Hall, was aswirl with ticker tape, torn telephone books and fluttering bits of paper as the Premier rode up Broadway to receive the city's typical official greeting.

Windows of skyscrapers all along the route were thronged with spectators—clerks, stenographers and even the "bosses" themselves. It was a typical New York greeting.

The Premier in an interview aboard the Macom, expressed belief that, if America and Britain stood together in behalf of world peace, the movement would be completely successful.

"If we stand side by side for peace, what could resist us?" said Mr. MacDonald.

"The United States and ourselves are really making an appeal by example to all the nations to gather round a council board of peace so that, while cherishing the historical past and in engaging in all the healthy rivalries of genius and skill and work, they will remember the wider unities of a humane civilization."

While the Premier was talking to the reporters aboard the Macom a convoy of airplanes flew overhead.

The Prime Minister declined to go into technicalities of disarmament. He was asked if England had shown any dissatisfaction over giving up cruisers. He answered:

"I am sure you will understand that any conversation regarding cruisers will be between your President and myself."

One of the reporters, just before the interview was terminated, asked Mr. MacDonald:

"Do you personally know William B. Shearer?"

Mr. MacDonald looked a bit puzzled for a moment and then, smiling, said:

"I do not believe he is known on the other side."

"JOVIAL DIGNITARY"

Although reporters bombarded him continuously with questions he remained smiling and amiable. In fact, the reporters voted him the most jovial and easy-mannered dignitary that ever came in here on shipboard.

While the distinguished visitor was replying to questions, his daughter, Miss Ishbel, stood upon the pilot house of the Macom talking with Lady Armstrong, wife of the British consul in New York, and Amelia Earhart, the flier.

Newspapermen turned their attention to Miss MacDonald and she expressed her views on a number of topics.

In the meantime, Mr. MacDonald was still "under fire from gentlemen of the press."

He was asked what would be the influence of the proposed United States of Europe on world peace. His answer was:

"That all depends on how it is worked."

The Premier was asked if he believed in the possibility of future wars in Europe, and he answered:

"What makes Europe afraid is the enmity of other people. They are not afraid of us English making war."

LIKES HEAVY WORK

Asked if England would enter a United States of Europe as proposed by Premier Briand, of France, Mr. MacDonald said it depended entirely upon conditions. He said if the proposed league was a menace to peace, England would have nothing to do with it.

Some one suggested that the Premier looked much better than he did when he was in New York in 1927.

"Heavy work agrees with me. I am an American in that respect."

The Premier said he hoped to come back to the United States next year.

Miss Ishbel was fashionably attired in a two-piece tweed suit of black and white. She wore a small black hat and a scarf with futurist markings. Her long top coat was trimmed with gray fur.

Miss Ishbel told International News Service that she had no intention of giving up her social betterment work for politics. She has no intention of running for the House of Commons at present.

The premier was showered with honors from the time the Berengaria reached Quarantine at 7:08 a. m.

He was officially greeted on behalf of the City of New York and the nation, then he drove through lanes of cheering people to the City Hall, where he received the freedom of the city.

Secretary Stimson came from Washington to greet the Premier on behalf of the government.

FIRST VISITING PREMIER

Detachments of police and soldiers were on duty at the Battery, where the triumphal procession started up Broadway.

CROWD CHEERS 'MAC'

In City Hall park a great crowd was waiting, packed in until it seemed there was hardly room for another person.

They broke into wild applause as the Premier's car rolled through the lane held open by police and stopped at City Hall steps.

"Hello, Mac," several shouted, taking up the British laborer's usual greeting to the Premier, their voices clear above the din.

The Premier, his cheeks glowing and his eyes sparkling, seemed in high good humor as he bowed and smiled, waving his hat in a continuous greeting to the welcoming crowds.

There were several bands in City Hall park, one of them a childrens Scottish band, attired in kilts, that shrilled out a highland greeting to the man from Lossiemouth.

On the steps of City Hall, forming a line through which Mr. MacDonald ascended, were 150 recent graduates of the Police College, tall, brawny chaps in regulation police uniform but wearing white leggings and white gloves. They saluted as the Premier passed between their ranks.

SCOTCH IN LINE

Lining the sidewalk in front of the hall, in the front rank was a delegation of 20 Scotchmen in Highland costume, their kilts and sporrans forming a colorful contrast to the severe blue and white of the police uniforms.

Hesitating but a moment on the steps to wave a greeting at the crowd in the plaza, Mr. MacDonald and his party were escorted to the aldermanic chamber where Mayor James J. Walker and Edward J. Flynn, New York's secretary of state, greeted him in the name of the city and state.

The time being short, Mayor Walker launched immediately into his welcoming address and presented the Premier with an embossed scroll from the City of New York commemorating his visit. The Premier made a short response.

The mayor then escorted Mr. MacDonald and his party to their automobiles and they were whisked away to the Pennsylvania Station to board a special train to Washington. Their train left shortly before noon.

TRAIN AT PHILADELPHIA

ON BOARD M'DONALD TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald had a fast and pleasant trip from New York to Philadelphia where he arrived at 1:15 p. m.

A stop was made to change engines and the special train continued to Washington seeking to make up 22 minutes so as to arrive on schedule time—4 p. m. The train left Philadelphia at 1:19 p. m.

Reading Socialists Ask Visit by MacDonald

READING, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—In the name of the only city in the United States having a Socialist majority administration, an invitation to visit Reading was sent to Premier MacDonald by Mayor J. Henry Stump. The invitation was signed by two Socialist councilmen and the Socialist city controller. MacDonald will also be met in Philadelphia by a committee which will urge him to come here for a banquet and mass meeting.

SHEARER TAXES INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau are investigating income tax returns of William B. Shearer, naval propagandist.

They want all the facts underlying testimony he gave the Senate committee investigating his actions at the 1927 Geneva naval limitations conference as an employe of shipbuilders.

Replying to a question while testifying, he said he had not paid income taxes and contended the $51,230 received by him from the shipbuilders over a period of a little more than two years was to meet his expenses and could not be considered as salary.

While the bureau is prohibited by law from giving out any information concerning income tax returns, it operates on the broad principle of always investigating income tax returns of any person against whom charges have been made or which come to its attention.

COSTE SIGHTED IN SIBERIA

MOSCOW, Oct. 4.—An unconfirmed dispatch to the Russian News Agency Tass says that Dieudonne Coste, missing French aviator, was seen last Sunday evening flying near the village of Beklemischew, in the region of Lake Arakley, about 60 miles from Chita.

The advices stated that the airplane was ying low, indicating that the flier was looking for a place to land.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Advices received here today from Moscow stated that Dieudonne Coste, missing French aviator, was reported to have landed 60 miles from Chita, Siberia, about 400 miles east of Irkutsk.

If the French ace and his companion succeeded in flying almost to Chita from Le Bourget without a landing, they will have set a new world's record for distance in non-stop flights.

Irkutsk is roughly 5,000 miles from the French aviation field.

The record for non-stop distance flights, held by the Italians, Arturo Ferrarin and Carlo Del Prete, is 4,475 miles.

Merger of Radio Stations Proposed

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Managers and owners of several radio stations operating in New York and Pennsylvania, it was announced last night by J. R. Goransio, owner of Station WNBF here, will meet in Rochester Wednesday of next week to discuss a proposal for tying these stations into one network.

The stations which it is proposed to unite are WEBR, of Buffalo; WSYR, of Syracuse; WIBX, of Utica; WNBF, of Binghamton; WGBI, of Scranton, Pa., and WBAX, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Sift Road Bureau 'Irregularities'

HARRISBURG, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—An investigation into complaints of "irregularities" of Wayne M. High, the State Highway Department's road supervisor for Berks County, has been ordered by Gov. STATE FUNERAL ORDERED FOR STRESEMANN

All Germany Pays Tribute to Dead Statesman; Services Will Be Held on Sunday

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—The German nation went into deep mourning today for the death of its greatest post-war statesman—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister and head of the German peoples' party—who was carried away by an apoplectic stroke early yesterday.

Grief-stricken over the sudden and entirely unexpected death of the man who had led Germany through the trying years of post-war reconstruction, German officialdom nevertheless bent every effort toward perfecting funeral arrangements for the great statesman of a type that will leave no doubt of the esteem in which Dr. Stresemann was held.

STATE FUNERAL

He will be accorded a state funeral, bestowed only once before in the history of the German republic. On that occasion, it was the memory of Friedrich Ebert, first president of the republic, which was honored by state obsequies.

The funeral will be held Sunday morning, according to present arrangements. The body of Dr. Stresemann will be buried from the rostrum of the Reichstag, where for so many years the foreign minister had fought against seemingly overwhelming opposition for the political doctrines which are just now, in the time of his death, reaching fulfillment.

FUNERAL ADDRESS

Chancellor Hermann Mueller will deliver the funeral address over Dr. Stresemann's body, which is to be placed on a raised catalfalque before the rostrum. Diplomatic and government notabilities, representatives of all nations and scores of friends and associates of Dr. Stresemann will attend the ceremonies.

President Von Hindenburg has returned to Berlin from the countryside, where this week he celebrated his eighty-second birthday, in order to be present at the funeral of the man who carried this nation's banner through the dramatic international rapprochements and important conferences which followed in the wake of peace.

REICHSTAG SERVICE

The Reichstag service will be followed by a military procession. The body will be escorted through the Wilhelmstrasse and a brief stop will be made at the foreign office, where Dr. Stresemann served his nation for so many years. Burial will take place in the Luisenstaedtischen Cemetery, on the outskirts of Berlin. Only immediate members of the family will be present.

President Von Hindenburg today appointed Dr. Julius Curtius, minister of economics, to be foreign minister ad interim succeeding Dr. Stresemann.

Dr. Curtius was chancellor for a short time in 1927. He was a member of the German delegation to the recent Hague conference on reparations which worked out the details for application of the Young plan.

'Hip Slapping' By Customs Men Banned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—Positive orders have been issued by the Treasury Department forbidding "hip slapping" and other undignified methods of searching passengers returning from abroad on steamships.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman said from time to time protests reached the treasury against these methods of attempting to discover contraband by inspectors of customs.

"It is expected that inspectors of customs when they suspect a person of having liquor or any other contraband will search the suspect," he said.

"This is clearly within the law but promiscuous 'hip slapping' is not the same thing and has been forbidden."

CAPITAL AWAITS PREMIER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—A welcome from all America was embodied today in the capital's greeting to Britain's premier.

Here, as he expressed it, on a "voyage of peace," the acclaim at hand was of a warmth seldom extended to a visitor from a foreign land.

Although forced to wait until New York had shrieked its salutation immediately after the arrival of the Berengaria at quarantine, the seat of government had cancelled all else in his honor for late in the day.

FLAGS AFLUTTER

The capital's celebrated street flags were early aflutter and a touch of Old World splendor was added in honor of the occasion.

Accustomed to the entertainment of distinguished visitors, care had been taken by State Department officials to omit no detail from the reception.

Nattily uniformed marines, a battalion of field artillery and two troops of cavalry were ordered to the station to meet Prime Minister MacDonald upon his arrival. These were the escort, along Pennsylvania avenue, to the British embassy.

From the embassy, after a brief rest, Mr. MacDonald's first point of call was the White House and the long-awaited meeting with President Hoover.

DIPLOMATIC CUSTOM

This visit was only for short duration—long diplomatic custom requiring the first official act to be an exchange of greetings between the visitor and the Chief Executive.

That formality over, the Prime Minister was left free to look forward to an evening of informality and rest after a brief meeting with newspaper correspondents.

Another round of formal calls tomorrow morning—on the Vice President, chief justice, speaker of the House and secretary of state—confronted him, however, before his departure from the British embassy to be the guest of President Hoover.

MAY VISIT CAMP

Whether the President would whisk him away to the quiet of his fishing camp at the headwaters of the Rapidan in Virginia depended on the results of a survey of the roads. The temperature didn't matter, for the camp is comfortable, but the condition of the roads after recent heavy rains was important.

Except during his visit with President Hoover—which is expected to bring the real purpose of his trip close to fruition—the Prime Minister's days in America will be a severe strain, despite efforts to keep the program as informal as possible.

Until he leaves October 10 for Philadelphia, New York and Canada, he will have only a few hours to do with as he pleases, sandwiched in between formal and informal social functions and the meetings incident to the business of his history-making trip.

TEMPLARS WILL HONOR HEAD

A parade of 1,500 uniformed Knights Templar in Oakland tomorrow evening will precede a program in honor of Acting Grand Commander James H. Chickering, of Pennsylvania.

The procession will pass a reviewing stand at Syria Mosque after starting from McKee place and Louisa street at 7:15 o'clock and proceeding along Forbes street to Bellefield avenue, to Bigelow boulevard and to Lytton avenue. Very Eminent Sir Chickering and Commander John A. Lathwood, of Division No. 2, will be among those in the stand.

PEACE LOBBY UNDER FIRE IN SENATE

Seemingly Endless Funds Arouse Curiosity; Groups Target for Investigators

By KENNETH CLARK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Seemingly endless funds spent with lavish hands by Pacifist and Internationalist propaganda organizations to influence Congress for the world court and against adequate national defense will come under the searching microscope of the Senate lobby investigating committee, it was announced yesterday.

Both Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas, who sponsored the investigation into the secret activities of the paid favor seekers swarming the Capitol, and Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, who is likely to be chairman, agreed the doors must be wide open to ferret out every form of lobbying.

Representatives of the organizations which the American Legion, in a resolution adopted at its annual convention, charged were attempting to weaken national defense, will be called to explain the full extent of their funds and activities.

SOCIETIES LISTED

Among these are the National Council for the Prevention of War, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, the American Civil Liberties Union, the League for Industrial Democracy, the National Students' Forum, the War Registers' League, the Young Workers League, the Young Pioneers, and the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism.

The Senate judiciary committee will meet Monday to appoint the sub-committee of five to conduct the investigation. Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas, who declined yesterday to be considered as chairman, insisted that Senator Norris should head the inquiry. Norris pleaded he was overwhelmed with other business, but committee members indicated they would persist in their demands that he take the chairmanship.

"I recall that dowi[illegible] state a peace society tried to bring pressure to bear up[illegible] recede from my insistence upon reservation five to the world court protocol," Senator Caraway said, referring to the American Foundation, Inc., maintaining the American peace award, a world court enthusiast.

GUARDED RIGHTS

The fifth reservation of the Senate sought to safeguard America's position against advisory opinions being rendered by the court.

"Lobbyist, in my opinion, is a half brother to the grafter. It is important for the country to know where the lobbyist spends the money he gets supposedly to influence Congress. I think that in a great many cases these four-flushers filch money from the business man and then do nothing with it but put it in their own pockets. When organizations become aware of this they will dry up the source of the lobbyists' revenues."

Senator Brookhart (Rep.) of Iowa, who has insisted upon an investigation of the "vicious social lobby," will be accommodated, for not only the social lobby but the "bottle lobby" as well will be inquired into, Caraway said.

"I think the 'whisky lobby' may be still functioning," he explained.

Brookhart, who told the Senate a Wall street financier gave a dinner to senators at which pocket flasks were available to the thirsty, is to lay his charges later before the federal grand jury here.

Ishbel 'Never Heard' Of Mrs. Gann

By MILDRED GILMAN,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—She has met England's King and Queen socially—hobnobbed with ambassadors and statesmen most of her young life—been the official hostess of her famous daddy, at No. 10 Downing street while still in her teens—but—

Bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked Ishbel MacDonald appeared a little terrified on the official welcoming yacht Macom, as she faced 20 girl reporters in a tiny cabin—each reporter filled with questions.

She sat before the press like a shy, sturdy schoolgirl.

She wore a black felt hat and gray tweed coat, trimmed with caracul, orchids in the lapel of her coat, fingering her yellow suede gloves as the barrage started.

The clear hazel eyes of Ishbel never wavered, but her face dimpled into a smile occasionally, making her look strikingly like her father.

"I'm awfully happy to be here in America," she began. "No, I'm not at all interested in where I will sit at Washington dinners."

She looked a little perplexed. She'd never heard of Mrs. Gann.

"Yes, I like the modern girl. Do I prefer her to the Victorian girl?"

She smiled, showing beautifully white teeth.

"I've never met one. They do look nice on the stage.

"I don't disapprove of smoking for girls—or drinking—but I prefer not to form unnecessary and expensive habits.

"What do I think of the divorce problem? I've never had occasion to study it."

"Would you [illegible] your career for marr[illegible] later asked.

Miss MacDonald looked surprised and answered:

"I have no career."

She said she believed the right kind of women should run for political office. As to peace, she said that women seemed more interested in this topic than men.

"Women," she said, "do not feel that they have brought up a child to fight in a war."

"Am I a feminist? Not what we English women mean by that term. To us a feminist is anti-men."

When someone asked her if she would give up her daddy, whom she has been so close to since the death of her mother 15 years ago, to marry, she said:

"I wouldn't have to neglect my father if I married. Of course, I would never neglect him."

Then Ishbel asked a few questions:

Are the American women as interested in the peace mission of her father as the British women? Are they training their children as the English mother is—to know the horrors of the last war thoroughly—that it is better "to live for one's country than to die for it?"

Senate Pays Tribute To MacDonald

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—While Broadway was showering its ticker tape and other evidence of welcome today upon Premier Ramsay MacDonald, tribute was paid to the British statesman and his mission on the floor of the Senate.

Senator Dill, (Dem.) of Washington, declared MacDonald's visit "represents the hopes not only of the masses of people of the British empire but also the masses of people of this country for world peace."

By a coincidence, the Senate recessed a few minutes after this speech on world peace in order to greet Sergt. Alvin T. York, one of the World War heroes, who was escorted on the floor by Senator McKellar, (Dem.) of Tennessee.

CROWD JAMS COURT FOR TRIAL

Mother Tells of Daughter's Ripped Clothing After Visit to Pantages Office

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, demure and well but inexpensively dressed, took the witness stand today in the court of Superior Judge Charles W. Frick and began the story of the attack she charges Alexander Pantages, 54, millionaire showman, made upon her when she went to his offices to book her dancing act.

Calm and composed, the girl took the stand after her mother, Mrs. Lou Irene Pringle, had undergone a 10-minute direct examination by the state at the opening of court.

AVOIDS DEFENDANT

Miss Pringle watched District Attorney Buron Fitts constantly, keeping her eyes away from the crowded room and the defendant.

As the girl took the stand, approximately 500 persons surged about the courtroom barriers vainly trying to gain admission.

Meanwhile Harry E. Hollum, manager of one of Pantages' Showhouses, was rounding out a 24-hour sentence in the county jail for contempt of court. He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Charles Fricke for talking to one of the Pantages jurors.

The girl who accuses Pantages was called as the state's first witness yesterady. She described the condition of her daughter"s body after the alleged attack, telling of the presence of "bruises and bites."

IDENTIFIES CLOTHING

The mother identified a flaming red frock, a torn silk undergarment, a pair of silk hose and red dancing pumps as the clothes worn by her daughter when she left home the morning of her visit to Pantages' theater office.

All other witnesses, including her daughter, were sent from the courtroom before she began her story. The prosecution's examination of Mrs. Pringle was short. Defense Attorney Jerry Geisler then launched his cross-examination in detail, keeping the high school teacher on the stand for the remainder of the afternoon.

Geisler's questioning failed to gain much ground for the defense in the announced plan to prove that the girl and others had "framed up" the story against Pantages.

The mother denied that she had planned to bring civil suit against Pantages. She stated that all she wanted was "justice for Eunice!"

FUNERALS HALT STRIKE PROBE

MARION, N. C., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Official investigation of the riot at the Marion Manufacturing Company's plant Wednesday, which cost the lives of five men, was temporarily halted today, while many of the principals attended a public funeral for four of the five strikers fatally shot in the early morning battle.

The fifth victim of the flare-up, James Roberts, 18, died a short time before the hour set for the funeral rites of his fellow strikers.

Two of the dead men, Randolph Hall and Sam Vickers, were killed outright during the fight. John Jonas died a few hours later, and Luther Bryson died at the Marion General Hospital yesterday.

38 STRIKERS ARRESTED

The Rev. A. J. Muste, of the Brookwood Labor College, Katonah, N. Y., conducted the services from a speakers' stand near the center of the Marion Manufacturing Company's mill village. Tom Typpett, a fellow teacher at the labor college, assisted.

A total of 38 arrests have been made among the strikers and their sympathizers, charging rebellion and resisting an officer. Many of these defendants are relatives of the slain men. Sheriff O. F. Adkins, 14 deputies and special deputies have been arrested charged with murder and conspiracy to murder. The strikers are free under $500 bonds and the officers under $2,000 bonds.

The men buried today were the victims of a riot which started when a part of the night shift at the textile plant went on an unexpected strike and picketed the company's grounds.

TARIFF TO FACE NEW ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—A move to return the tariff bill to the finance committee with instructions to confine revisions to increases on agricultural duties will be made by Senator Thomas, (Dem.), Oklahoma, as soon as the Senate takes up the rate schedules.

Thomas said his motion would leave the way open for submission of individual amendments on the floor to the industrial rate schedules, changes in which are provided in the bill in hundreds of instances.

The rate schedules are expected to be reached next week.

Republican independents are anxious to confine revision to farm products, but whether they were consulted by Thomas is not known.

Coroner's Juror Dies on Way To Morgue

On his way to the county morgue this morning, where he was to serve on the coroner's jury, W. J. Patterson, 72, of 211 North Highland avenue, was stricken with apoplexy and died a short time later in Pittsburgh Hospital.

Patterson was talking to Andrew Lewis, a window cleaner at the morgue, while they were waiting for a street car in Highland avenue, when he was stricken. A passing motorist took him to the hospital.

He was a retired druggist of Sharpsburg, where he conducted a pharmacy for 20 years. For several years he had been serving on coroners' juries.

BALM GRILLING SHAKES CLARK

SEATTLE, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—More testimony from the Rev. H. H. Clark, complaining witness in the $50,000 breach of promise suit against Mrs. Minnie E. Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, was expected in the trial here today.

A recess was taken yesterday afternoon because of what was termed a near breakdown on the part of Clark and also because the minister's attorney asked time to find necessary law books.

The minister, who alleges Mrs. Kennedy wooed him in a "whirlwind courtship" and then refused to keep her promise to marry him.

John S. Robinson, Mrs. Kennedy's attorney, questioned Clark about his reported courtship of other women after he had filed the breach of promise case. During a short recess Clark was found sobbing in a hallway, but returned to the stand until the afternoon recess.

Cross-examination then brought out that Clark had borrowed $200 from a Mrs. Seena Lomen, of Seattle, and that he had intimated to Ruth Day, of Everett, Wash., a church organist, that he would appreciate a loan.

Several letters admittedly written by Clark asking loans, before he met Mr. Kennedy were introduced.

RIVERS RECEDE, LOSS SLIGHT

Rivers in Pittsburgh, which yesterday threatened to reach a flood stage as a result of heavy rains throughout the eastern section of the country, were receding today.

The highest stage reached was 23.9 feet at 9 o'clock last night when a gradual fall began. The noon reading showed a stage of 21.4 feet. The flood stage is 25 feet. Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said the waters would continue to recede at the rate of half a foot an hour.

Tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio and the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, on the North Side, were covered by water early today, but little damage was reported.

YORK AT ARMY WAR SHOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The Army's annual war show opened at the War College with Sergt. Alvin C. York and a few of his comrades in the historic Argonne drive viewing a re-enactment of his exploit of killing 25 and capturing 132 Germans.

The three-day event staged for the Army Relief Society drew a number of notables including Secretary Good, Gen. Summerall, and Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, of Virginia, who arrived in an Army airplane from Richmond.

Sergt. York and his surviving comrades are the guests of honor. They include Sergt. Harry M. Parsons, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who dispatched the men to wipe out a machine gun battalion; Sergt. Bernard Early, of New Haven, Conn., who led the men until shot down by German machine guns; William B. Cutting; Pvts. Percy P. Bearsley, of Roxbury, Conn., and Joseph Knotsky, of Holyoke, Mass.

The veterans, who went under fire together 11 years ago, greeted each other warmly at their reunion on the reviewing stand. Sergt. York came from his mountain home in Tennessee at the request of the Army.

Preacher, Pantages Juror In Fight; 4 Slugged

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Four men today bore marks of a physical encounter in the courtroom where two Loss Angeles ministers are being tried for contempt as a result of remarks they made about the recent trial of Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the theatrical magnate.

Those involved in the clash and the injuries received are the Rev. Robert P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, South, a bruised eye; the Rev. G. A. Briegleb, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, scratches and bruises; Deputy District Attorney James Costello, bruised right cheek and Ira F. Gay, juror in the trial of Mrs. Pantages, bruised knuckles, scratched face.

Gay, alleged to have been the subject of recent radio remarks by Shuler, in which the minister charged that "the Lois Pantages jury was hung before taking of testimony was begun, and I can name the man who will hang it," accosted the pastor at adjournment of the latter's hearing yesterday on the contempt charges.

"Take off your glasses," Gay demanded of Shuler before the bench upon which three Superior Court judges sat en banc.

"Why should I?" the minister asked.

"Because you have treated me unjustly. You have asked me questions which have placed me in a bad light, and you have given me no opportunity to clear myself. So take 'em off."

Shuler attempted to pacify Gay. The latter, however, shot out his right fist and blackened Shuler's eye. Shuler missed a return blow and caught Costello on the cheek, nearly flooring him. Briegleb, co-defendant with Shuler in the contempt charges, whose case was taken under advisement, stepped between the antagonists and was jostled and bruised. Gay's face was scratched in the melee before he was led into Superior Judge Carlos Hardy's chambers, where he was placed under arrest. He later was released.

KLAN PROTESTS COURT COSTS

The national organization of the Ku Klux Klan today filed a protest in Federal Court against the statement of costs set up by the Rev. John F. Strayer and other klansmen involved in recent litigation.

Attorney John H. Connaughton, chief counsel for the klan, objected to $2,000 of the $3,817 statement which Strayer and his co-defendants filed.

The Klan in April, 1928, sought an injunction to prevent Strayer and Attorney Van A. B. Barrickman, among others, from functioning as klansmen. Judge W. H. S. Thomson threw the case out of court and placed the costs on the Klan.

Connaughton charged that the statement included expenses for witnesses who did not appear and that expenses involved in taking depositions were not rightful part of the bill.

DRYS HEAD FOR FLORIDA

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The active sector of the perennial prohibition war is about to be transferred from the Canadian border to Florida's winter playground of the northern millionaires.

"March orders," to send hundreds of prohibition, customs and coast guard agents south for the winter, as the big bootlegging activities shift from the border to the resort district of the Southeast, were in preparation today.

Treasury officials said the annual migration might be delayed somewhat this year and that it would be late November or December before the north border forces were depleted to reinforce the winter trouble zone in Florida.

It was reported that some agents already were being withdrawn from the Detroit sector, where a big drive has been in progress against smugglers since last June, to districts of increasing bootleg activity. Some of the agents were going to Chicago, some to New York, according to reports.

ROCKEFELLER'S KIN DIVORCED

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 4.—(INS.)—Florence Lincoln Rockefeller, of Greenwich, today received at the hands of Judge Carl Foster a divorce from William A. Rockefeller, a grandnephew of John D. Rockefeller, on the grounds of habitual intemperance. Rockefeller's attorney told Judge Foster that his client had made arrangements for alimony but the details were withheld from the public. Mrs. Rockefeller received absolute custody of three children, Frederick L., 11, William, 10, and Elsie, 4.

Mrs. Rockefeller told Judge Foster her husband had been in a sanitarium between three and four years. They were married February 9, 1918, and their married life was happy "until he became addicted to strong drink," she said.

13 DIE IN PRISON RIOT, CAPTIVE GUARDS SLAIN

to dynamite the cell house walls, one blast breaking all the windows, but failing to effect a breach in the masonry.

The hero of the dynamiting attempts was a Catholic priest, Father Patrick O'Neill, who carried the bombs to the foot of the cell house wall, under cover of machine gun fire from the prison walls.

Three guards were killed at the outbreak of rioting yesterday and four more during the night.

Those guards killed in the early rioting were Roy Brown, Walter Rinker and Elmer G. Erwin.

John J. Elles, Robert A. Wiggins, Charles Shepherd and John W. McClelland were slaughtered in the cell house.

The convict dead included: A. A. (Danny) Daniels, who led the rioting and acted as executioner of the guards; Chas. Davis, A. H. (Major) Davis, Albert Morgaridge, George (Red) Riley and James Pardue.

LEADERS KILL SELVES

Pardue was wounded in the abdomen during the early rioting.

Removed to Cell House No. 3 by the other convicts, he was found this morning with a bullet through his head, fired by one of the other convicts to end his suffering.

Three of the other ring leaders were found dead in the same cell, powder burns on their temples bearing mute testimony to self-fired shots. The body of Daniels was in the doorway, sprawled half in and half out of the cell.

At least five of the 13 deaths are attributed to "Danny" Daniels, arch slayer, who finally took his own life when his battle against dynamite, machine guns, rifle bullets and tear bomb gas failed to effect his release.

The four guards, held hostages by the prisoners were shot down in cold blood by the prisoners themselves, or held up to windows where they were riddled by the terrific fire from officers on the outside.

Following a lull in the fighting early this morning, O. M. Earle, a guard previously believed dead, came out of Cell House No. 3 and informed officers that all of the ringleaders had shot themselves.

Guards rushing into the cell house found the bodies of the leaders. They had apparently been dead about an hour.

The nearly 200 other prisoners who had been barricaded within the prison walls by the bloodthirsty ringleaders, immediately marched quietly into the yards, joining some 700 other prisoners who had been led from cell houses late yesterday after the first outbreak of rioting.

LONG FIGHT PLANNED

It was a horrible sight that greeted guards and militiamen as they poured into the cell house. A few feet within the door lay the body of a guard; the body of Daniels was stretched out on the cement floor a little further along.

That the convicts had prepared for a long siege was indicated by the discovery of a large amount of bread and other provisions hidden within the cell house.

The floor of the cell house, which last night served as the execution chamber of four unarmed guards, was slippery with blood. The bodies of Charles Shepherd and John W. McClelland, two of the slain guards, were found in the cell house, bound hand and foot. Both had been shot through the head.

Close estimates fix the time of the suicides of the riot leaders at 4 a. m., but it was not until an hour and a half later, at daybreak, that Earl made his way into the prison yart.

Earl said he was afraid to leave the cell house until daylight, for fear of being mistaken for a convict and shot by the watchers on the walls. With him in the cell house were John Pease and Lawrence Roche, who escaped the fury of the convicts. Roche's sister, Josephine, secretary to Warden Crawford, had remained at the prison all night, fearing each minute to see her brother's bullet riddled body tossed out of a window of the cell house, as the bodies of Elles and Wiggins had been.

Giving her brother up for dead, she had left the prison shortly before daylight. When she learned that he was alive, she collapsed.

PRISON IN RUINS

Wrecked by fire, which destroyed the dining room and chapel and two of the cell houses and scarred by machine gun bullets and dynamite, the prison yard this morning was in utter ruin.

The penitentiary will need to be completely rebuilt. The inmates are being quartered temporarily in tents erected inside the prison walls.

Warden Crawford today estimated the damage to the penitentiary at between $300,000 and $400,000. All the cell blocks except No. 3, in which the mutinous convicts were barricaded, were destroyed by fire, and No. 3 is badly damaged, he said.

When the prisoners were assembled for roll call this morning, four were reported unaccounted for. Prison officials expressed doubt, however, that they had escaped. They were believed to be in hiding somewhere in the ruins of the prison yard.

ARTILLERY CALLED

Three pieces of light artillery had been ordered from the state militia base to pound the convict fort to pieces.

State militiamen and townsfolk mined the outside walls of the cell house in which convicts had taken refuge. A supporting fire of machine gun bullets sprayed the cell house windows as the volunteers bent to their dangerous work of laying the charges.

Intermittent firing from the cell block answered the barrage of the militiamen with a beleaguered convict occasionally showing his head at a window.

Light artillery stood ready to support infantrymen. Two airplanes, reported to be carrying military bombs, soared above the the prison ruins, but were unable to find a suitable target for their missiles.

Hour-by-Hour Story Of Battle to Subdue Rioting Convict Army

CANON CITY, Colo., Oct 4.—(AP.)—Here is the history of the Colorado penitentiary riot in brief:

Mutiny among the prisoners broke out Thursday noon in the main dining hall.

James Pardue, 36-year-old convict with a long criminal record, armed with a revolver smuggled inside the walls, shot and killed Elmer Erwin, on guard in crow's nest overlooking the dining hall.

Pardue and "Danny" Daniels then seized Erwin's rifle and keys. They liberated other prisoners and killed two more guards, Roy Brown and Walter Rinker.

Telephone wires leading into the prison were cut, but not before an alarm had been flashed to Canon City police.

Within 15 minutes the rioters were in complete control of the prison. They disarmed the remaining guards and locked them in Cell House No. 3.

Police and firemen arriving at the prison gates were driven off by armed convicts. The walls were soon surrounded by hundreds of armed men, who prevented any of the convicts from escaping.

Police reinforcements were rushed from Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo. National Guard units at Canon City and Pueblo were mobilized. A National Guard airplane was dispatched from Denver with tear bombs.

Shortly after 4 o'clock about 175 convicts retreated into Cell House No. 3. Guards entered the prison yard, herding the convicts into the recreation yard, where they spent the night without shelter.

Daniels then sent a trusty to Warden Crawford with a note demanding that he and his four companions who led the riot be furnished with three automobiles at sundown, threatening to murder all the hostage guards if the cars were not forthcoming.

Crawford declined to parley.

Shortly after sundown Daniels sent another ultimatum.

Half an hour later the bullet-ridden body of John Eeles, prison hangman, was tossed out of the cell house window into the prison yard. He died an hour later in a hospital.

The body of Abe Wiggins, a guard, followed shortly afterwards.

At 9 p. m. the third body of a guard was pushed from a cell house window. Power lines were cut by the prisoners, throwing the administration buildings into darkness.

A "final" ultimatum delivered by prisoners, stated that if motor cars were not furnished for escape by 10 o'clock, all imprisoned guards would be slain at once.

The west entrance to Cell House No. 3 then was dynamited and machine gun fire opened on the breach. Cell House No. 4 caught fire. John Shea, guard, was sent from Cell House No. 3 with the body of another guard.

Father Patrick O'Neil, Catholic priest, advanced to the wall of Cell Block No. 3 under terrific barrage of machine gun and rifle fire and placed a 50-pound charge of dynamite which failed to explode.

A party of convicts appeared for a parley, sending John Pease, guard, with another demand for an unhampered escape. A refusal was shouted by megaphone. Father O'Neil placed a second 25-pound charge of dynamite, making his trip under a blanket of machine gun fire.

WARDEN WOUNDED

The dynamite charge exploded and national guardsmen charged through the prison gate toward the cell house, but were halted in the "bull pen" by heavy fire of the convicts. Two Denver policemen were wounded.

Warden Crawford was wounded by fire of prisoners and John Allen, chief clerk of the prison, also was wounded.

An armored car arrived from Denver and advanced on the cell block. D. F. Osborne, a guard, was brought out of the cell house, badly wounded, by a group of prisoners bent on a parley.

E. J. Hollister, another guard, also was carried from the cell house, wounded by shots of a convict "firing squad."

The armored car, after circling the cell house, became mired in a hole caused by the dynamite explosion.

Early today O. M. Earle, a guard released by the prisoners, reported the ringleaders of the rebellion had shot themselves. Troops promptly surrounded the cell house. The mutiny ended when the besieged convicts, more than 150 of them, marched from the cell house with hands high over their heads.

PRIEST PRISON RIOT HERO

failed to tear away much of the cell house.

SHOT AT TWICE

Father O'Neill modestly told the International News Service later of his exploit.

"There was nothing to it, really," he said, "although Daniels, the ringleader, did take a couple of shots at me.

"I placed the first dynamite charge against the wall, but there seemed to be some difficulty with the contact and it failed to explode.

"When I went up first to the cell house I met a messenger coming from the convicts with a renewal of their ultimatum. We both kept close to the ground and I advised him to make a dash for the gate, which he did without injury. He told me Daniels was in the lower window of the cell house and just as I continued my trip to the corner of the building a shot whistled by my head. It was a greeting from the 'arch slayer' all right. But it missed.

DYNAMITE SET OFF

"I didn't waste any time getting back after placing the first charge, and when it failed to explode I tried again, placing the second charge directly on top of the first. A second shot whizzed by me from Daniels' lower window as I hastened away after placing the second charge. The dynamite explosion shook the town, but dug into the ground at the corner of the cell house instead of blowing it upward."

Father O'Neill was born in Manchester, O., in 1887, and was educated at Alabama Abbey Monastery, in Cullman, near Birmingham.

In 1913 he went to Rome where he was ordained into the Benedictine order. He returned to the United States in 1915; volunteered for service in the World War but was not accepted, and returned to Cullman, Ala., where he taught philosophy until September of this year, when he went to Colorado.

Father O'Neill is well known among alumni of St. Vincent's College, Beatty, Pa., having taught in the English department there for two years. He was also an assistant director of the college orchestra. Father O'Neill left St. Vincent's two years ago to teach in a Minnesota school.

Rioter Executes 2 Guards, Frees 'Good Sport'

CANON CITY, Col., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—"Wiggins, have you said your prayers?"

"Yes; where do you want me to stand?"

"Right where you are."

A shot and Abe Wiggins was dead with a bullet in his temple.

These details and the conversation were related by John Shea, released guard of the State Penitentiary, as occurring between Wiggins and Danny Daniels, one of the convicts alleged to be leading the mutiny at the prison.

Shea said Daniels then turned to him and said:

"Shea, you have been a pretty good sport. Take Wiggins to the gate."

Daniels, Shea said, then turned to Marvin Duncan, another captive guard, and said: "Prepare yourself to be the next to die."

Shea said there was a shot as he left and he presumed Duncan had been the next.

Daniels told Shea to tell officers outside that, surrounded by the six guards, he and his companions would come to the gate if two automobiles were waiting for them and the guards would be freed. This offer was refused by the warden, as plans were then nearly ready to start dynamiting the wall and making a charge at the cell block.

The 150 convicts, Shea said, were in cell house No. 3, with only three rifles and two pistols, but "their pockets are crammed full to bulging with ammunition."

At the time, Shea reported, 80 men from cell block No. 4 routed by the fire in that block, were huddled around a campfire they had built in their courtyard. These men, Shea said, were not participants in the rioting.

Court Holds Rum Buyer Cannot Be Punished

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals held that a purchaser of liquor cannot be punished under the federal prohibition law, even though transportation was involved.

The court reversed the Federal District Court of Eastern Pennsylvania, which had fined Alfred E. Norris, society man of New York, $200 for buying liquor from a Philadelphia man who caused it to be shipped to Norris' home.

LEADER OF RIOT 'PLENTY TOUGH'

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—A. A. (Danny) Daniels, leader in the Colorado penitentiary mutiny, who committed suicide, was under a $7,500 appeal bond in District Court here, pending outcome of his appeal from a robbery charge, officers said here early today.

Officers here said he was known as "plenty tough."

Daniels, they said, was arrested in Coffeyville, Kan., and returned to Bartlesville September 30, 1926, on a charge of robbing a wholesale grocery company here. He was convicted and sentenced to serve seven years in the state penitentiary at McAlester.

He was released on bond by J. R. Charlton, district judge, and while awaiting hearing on his appeal engaged in a gun battle with officers at Noawata, Okla., when they attempted to arrest him on a car theft charge.

He escaped at that time, officers said today, and later was arrested and convicted for a robbery committed in Colorado.

Colorado Riot 4th in 10 Weeks

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The riot of convicts at the Colorado State Prison at Canyon City was the fourth major outbreak of its kind since July 22, when three inmates of Clinton Prison were killed in an uprising at Dannemora, N. Y.

There were 1,300 confined within Clinton's walls when the mutiny occurred. Besides the three deaths, many were injured and several hundred thousand dollars worth of damage was done when the rioting prisoners burned several buildings.

Hardly had this uprising been suppressed before another occurred at the Auburn (N. Y.) Penitentiary, July 28. Two prisoners were killed in the riots, 11 were wounded and the loss to prison equipment was estimated at $250,000.

A third prison mutiny followed at Leavenworth, Kan., August 1, when inmates of the Federal Penitentiary there staged a rebellion in which one was killed and three wounded.

PRISONER SLAIN TRYING ESCAPE

DANNEMORA, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—A 21-year-old convict at Clinton State Prison was shot and killed yesterday in an attempt to gain his freedom. The youth, Nick Mastro, of Schnectady, was serving three terms, totaling 22 years, for robbery and assault. He climbed an electric light pole and gained the top of the prison wall. Jeremiah Callahan, a guard, rushed to meet him, armed only with his guard stick.

Heedless of the blows rained on him by the guard, Mastro closed with Callahan and the two struggled atop the wall. Another guard, Thomas Brannigan, ran from the principal keeper's office and shot the convict in the hip.

Mastro fell to the top of the wall and Callahan stepped back into the guard house for his gun. As he stepped out, Mastro again attacked him and Callahan pressed the trigger of the sub-machine gun. Mastro's body slumped to the wall.

He previously had escaped from another prison, but was recaptured.

Two Guards Slain In Plain View Of Rescuers

CANON CITY, Col., Oct. 3.—(INS.)—Two of the prison guards slaughtered in the Colorado State Penitentiary mutiny here—John Eeles, the prison hangman, and Abe Wiggins—were placed so near a window of cell house No. 3 that their actual execution was witnessed by persons outside. Wiggins was seen to slump to the floor as the convicts released a barrage of bullets.

Eeles was shot three times through the head and once through the body—and then hurled while still alive from a window.

3 Women Federal Prisoners at Riot

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The Department of Justice announced today an agent from the Denver office had been ordered to go immediately to Canon City, where a bloody prison outbreak occurred, to look after federal interests involving three women prisoners there.

ESCAPE 'ARTIST' IN PRISON RIOT

ST. PAUL, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—William H Dalihunt, alias "Slippery" Dell Hanlon, one of the rioters at the Colorado state penitentiary at Canon City, is a former St. Paul pugilist with a long police record who was given the name 'Slippery" as a result of his maneuvers in eluding arrest.

After leaving the ring nearly 10 years ago, Hanlon operated a gymnasium in St. Paul for a time. He was first arrested in 1920 when he was charged with stealing an automobile but was acquitted. In 1921, while being taken to jail to await trial on a grand larceny charge, he escaped but was recaptured after a street gun-fight.

He again eluded arrest in 1923 when he fought his way out of a trap set by postal inspectors and narcotic agents in the St. Paul postoffice. A few weeks later he was arrested in Denver on a charge of highway robbery.

Sentenced to the Denver county jail on the highway robbery charge, he led a break from jail in April, 1924. With 14 other prisoners he fought off four guards and made a dash for liberty.

M. E. LAYMEN TALK CHANGES

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 4.—Two constitutional amendments were the important business matters before the annual session of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church here yesterday. One of them, the matter of granting to laymen representation in the conference sessions on an equal basis with the ministers, was also to go before the laymen's meeting.

The other concerned the placing of central missions, located in foreign fields, on an equal basis with the conferences of the church in the United States.

The admission of laymen to the conference is a matter of interest throughout Methodism. The move was initiated by the general conference in May, 1928, and when a sufficient number of conferences have adopted the amendment it will become a part of the church law.

Such participation by laymen will give them a greater degree of responsibility in the program of the church.

Two prominent members of the Pittsburgh Conference have requested they be granted the retired relation. They are the Rev. D. L. Myers, former pastor of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal Church, who is in poor health, and the Rev. M. A. Shea, pastor of the Beaver Falls church. Both requests were referred to the relations committee.

Four additional transfers were announced. The Rev. A. C. Brown goes from the Pittsburgh Conference to the West Virginia Conference, and newcomers are: The Rev. R. W. Faus, from Central Pennsylvania Conference; the Rev. W. G. Smiltzer, from Erie Conference, and the Rev. J. W. Buano, from West Wisconsin Conference.

Dr. Ralph E. Diffendorfer, corresponding secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the church, who has just completed a tour of 25 conferences, spoke last evening. He stressed the mission work being conducted by the church and the necessity for enlarging its scope.

During yesterday afternoon Dr. Edward A. Steiner, author and an instructor at Grinnell College, occupied the pulpit during the lecture hour.

West Brownsville has organized a Citizens party; West Finley Township has a full slate of Independent party candidates and Canton Township Independents have nominated a candidate for tax collector.

Mitten's Son Named To Succeed Father

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Dr. A. A. Mitten was elected by the directors of Mitten Management, Inc., to succeed his father, the late Thomas E. Mitten, as president and chairman of the board. The action was taken at a special meeting of the directors and was by a unanimous vote. Thomas Mitten lost his life by drowning Tuesday while rowing on a lake at his Pocono Mountain estate near Milford, Pa.

Deaths of Leaders Dims Lisbon Fete

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—On the eve of Portugal's national holiday, two of the most illustrious national heroes died at almost the same time, casting gloom over today's elaborate festivities.

OPEN BUILDINGS AT ALLEGHENY

When Allegheny College celebrates its annual Home Coming this week-end in Meadville, Pa., there will be the added feature of a "house-warming" of two new buildings, Arter Recitation Hall and Caflisch Memorial Hall, a residence hall for freshman men. This evening at 7:30, in the Little Theater of Arter Hall, with Chairman of the College Board of Trustees Arthur W. Thompson, of Philadelphia, presiding, Frank E. Baker, president of Milwaukee State Teachers College, and alumnus of Allegheny College, 1905, will give a brief address on the subject of "College Teaching." After his address, Miss Alice Spalding's Play Production Staff will present a one-act play. Afterward Arter Hall will be thrown open to the public for inspection.

On Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock, in Ford Chapel, the "house-warming" program for Caflisch Hall will begin, with Mr. Thompson again presiding. Dr. Warren F. Sheldon of New York City will bring greetings to Allegheny from the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The Rev. Robert E. Brown, Albion, Mich., alumnus of 1901, will speak briefly on "Importance of Freshman Dormitories." Dr. Robert L. Kelly will speak on "The Place of the Small College."

Arter Hall, a red brick structure, distinctly colonial in appearance, is two stories high. It has 14 recitation rooms on the first and second floors.

Caflisch Hall is also a red brick structure, having five separate units. There are 51 single rooms and 25 three-room suites. Each unit is supervised by a proctor who is a younger member of the faculty. Mrs. C. C. Laffer, Meadville, is the hostess in charge of the whole building.

Arter Hall is the gift of Francis Asbury Arter, Cleveland capitalist and philanthropist who died in March, 1928. Mr. Arter was graduated from Allegheny in 1864.

Caflisch Hall was made possible through the gift of Mrs. Margaret E. Caflisch, Union City, in memory of her husband, Jacob C. Caflisch, who died in 1927.

Physician Kills Self With Pistol

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Chauncey T. Scudder, 57, a former member of the State Legislature and a practicing physician, died in the Alleghany Hospital shortly after he had been found in the bathroom of his home here with a bullet wound in his head.

A certificate of suicide was issued after investigation had disclosed that he had bought the pistol with which he fired the bullet into his head, shortly after noon.

Franklin Rector Sees Friend Honored

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 4.—The Rev. Martin Aigner, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, of Franklin, is in Philadelphia, where this morning he was to participate in the consecration service by which his brother-in-law, the Rev. Dr. Francis Marion Taitt, rector of St. Paul's Church, Chester, becomes bishop coadjutor of Pennsylvania. Dr. Aigner and the Rev. Dr. Taitt were students in college together.

Franklin Attorney Heads County Legion

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 4.—John H. McKinney, former Franklin attorney, was named Venango County chairman of the American Legion, in an appointment announced by District Commander William G. Smith, of Grove City. McKinney has been active in legion work for several years, and has represented Franklin Post at several conventions.

U. S. Rubber Men Talk Price Fixing

LONDON, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The Evening News today said that representatives of American rubber manufacturers have been in London inviting British growers to join a projected international price-fixing rubber combination. It was said that the Dutch planters of Sumatra have received the idea enthusiastically.

year's sales will reach close to half a billion.

THE automobile industry also is cheerful. Four million eight hundred and twenty-three thousand, seven hundred and twenty cars have been made in nine months this year, an increase of 31 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Stock gamblers may be worried, but the people at large feel cheerful.

THINKING about evil, dreading it, is worse than evil. One man killed himself because he feared a duel arranged for next day. Another blew his brains out rather than walk to safety on a tree trunk stretched over a deep chasm.

HERMAN LINDERMAN, New York gangster, strangled himself with his belt in prison yesterday. He had "squealed" on his associates, had been stabbed once in prison, and feared what would happen when he reached the penitentiary again.

HE put $8.50 in the pocket of a criminal asleep in his cell, with a note asking that it be divided with a friend. He wrote to that friend "have a good feast on me, on my way to hell."

Crime does not pay.

GERMANY mourns the loss of Stresemann, great and patriotic leader, who died yesterday. Having actually worked himself to death for Germany. Before he died, he had the satisfaction of negotiating the evacuation of the Rhineland, thus restoring to Germany her territorial integrity.

THERE came a pause in the American usury orgy yesterday. Call money dropped officially to 6 per cent, and was offered as low as 5 per cent.

Nevertheless, some lambs, changing from fever to chills, as malaria patients do, thought it time to sell. Prices dropped, nearly five million shares were sold.

THOSE that sold trash, of which many samples dance along on the ticker tape, will be glad. Those that sold real American values will worry.

DUNN TO STUMP ON SCHEDULE

Thomas A. Dunn, Democratic nominee for mayor, is of the opinion that a political campaign need not interfere with the regular business routine of a nominee. Supporting this opinion, Dunn has announced that he will have regular office hours for the discussion of politics.

Beginning Monday he will be at his political headquarters, 517 William Penn way, daily from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., at which time he will meet with supporters and discuss all questions bearing on the campaign. Attorney E. Lowry Humes, who is directing the Dunn campaign, will be at headquarters daily.

JEANNE EAGELS SUCCUMBS

after her death said he believed she had died of alcoholic psychosis.

A quantity of alcohol was also found by the chemical analysis.

Miss Eagels acted her last role in far less dramatic circumstances than most of the parts she had played on the stage or screen.

For several weeks she had been receiving regular treatments at the hospital for a nervous trouble. She had an appointment with her physician, Dr. Edward Cowles, for last night.

Accompanied by her maid, Miss Eagels left her Park avenue apartment shortly before 8 o'clock. Arriving at the hospital, she found Dr. Cowles had not yet arrived, and his assistant, Dr. Alfred Pellegrini, conducted the actress to his examination room on the top floor.

Miss Eagels removed her hat and coat and sat down on the edge of a bed to await the examination.

Suddenly, the face that had charmed countless audiences was contorted with a convulsion. Miss Eagles collapsed on the bed with just one strangling gasp. Death had been instantaneous.

Dr. Pellegrini notified the medical examiner's office, and Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, assistant medical examiner, rushed to the hospital. He performed an autopsy, and issued a terse statement to the effect that "alcoholic psychosis" had been the cause of the actress' death.

Miss Eagels was born in Boston on June 26, 1894, and taken to Kansas City two years later. She made her stag debut at the age of 7 as Puck in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and first attracted serious attention in "Jumping Jupiter" in New York in 1911.

From then on her success was assured. A long and varied career culminated in her brilliant creation of the immemorable Sadie Thompson, which role she played for two solid years in this city.

Miss Eagels was divorced last year from Edward H. (Ted) Coy, whom she married in 1925. Not long ago she underwent an operation for ulcers of the eyes, caused by sinus infection. She had recovered from this ailment and had planned to resume her screen work in Hollywood when death wrote an unexpected finish to her career.

It was while Jeanne Eagels was playing Sadie Thompson in "Rain" at the Nixon theater that her romance with Ted Coy became a matter of public interest. Coy and his dog were always waiting for Jeanne at the stage entrance at the conclusion of performances. Miss Eagles at that time haughtily denied she was engaged, but nevertheless married the football star a few months later.

U.S. TAKES OVER STRANGLING INQUIRY

Attorney General Mitchell Supersedes D. C. Officials In Killing of Young Wife

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Attorney General William D. Mitchell, yesterday stepped into the chaotic tangle of Washington's law enforcement machinery, taking the sensational Virginia McPherson murder case out of the hands of the U. S. District Attorney's office here.

The McPherson case, which has rocked the entire District government, from the White House to Capitol Hill, involves the death by strangulation of a pretty, young nurse, designated a suicide by the police homicide squad and the coroner's jury. The case was reopened at the demand of Senator Lee Overman, of North Carolina, and a grand jury indicted the girl's husband, Robert A. McPherson, Jr., for the first-degree murder, accompanying the presentment with a fiery report excoriating the Detective Bureau and the U. S. district attorney's office for its handling of the case.

RELIEVED BY REQUEST

It was explained today by the Attorney General that the step was taken at the request of the district attorney's office, that organization feeling a reluctance about handling the prosecution of the young husband after the fusillade of criticism hurled at it.

The special prosecutor for the case has not yet been named, but he will be appointed probably from the ranks of the local criminal bar. He will bear the title of special assistant to the Attorney General.

At the same time the attorney general took out of the hands of the local police detective bureau the further investigation of the case. A special investigator of the Department of Justice will be named to direct collection of evidence, it was stated, and certain detectives from the local homicide squad temporarily assigned to assist him.

POLICE FACE QUIZ

Meanwhile, today, the extraordinary commission appointed by the District heads to investigate the charges against detective bureau heads of withholding and distorting evidence, and attempting to intimidate witnesses, made by the grand jury in its searing report, prepared to open its sessions tomorrow morning. It is composed of the assistant engineer commissioner of the District and the District corporation counsel. More than 100 witnesses have been called before the body, including the 23 grand jurors who made the report.

The two members of the commission this morning visited the two-room McPherson apartment in fashionable Parke lane, to acquaint themselves with the details of the murder scene.

POLICEMAN HERO

Mrs. McPherson was reported dead to police by her husband, now charged with her murder. She was clad only in a pajama coat, lying on her bedroom floor, a pajama cord knotted tightly around her throat.

Reopening of the case came largely as the result of the efforts of Policeman Robert J. Allen, 28-year-old private, who braved a barrage of criticism, suspension, arrests and petty persecution from his superiors in a fight against their suicide theory.

Departmental charges against Allen brought in connection with his investigation, were ordered temporarily postponed today pending the outcome of the investigation of Lieut. Edward Kelly, chief of the homicide squad, and Chief of Detectives William S. Shelby, against whom the grand jury charges were specifically directed.

Obituary

Coulter Funeral.

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 4.—Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Mrs. Imelda Black Coulter, wife of former Prothonotary John W. Coulter, of Butler. Mrs. Coulter died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas C. Wilkins, near Emlenton, where she was visiting. Mrs. Coulter was a native of the Emlenton district, but had lived in Butler for 33 years. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. Service will be held in the Stone Presbyterian Church, near Emlenton, and burial will be in the church cemetery. Other survivors are two brothers, Charles and Meade K. Black, of Emlenton.

William Lowe.

William Lowe, for many years engaged in the floral business in Diamond street, died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. F. W. Arnold, of 165 Knox avenue, Knoxville. He was a member of the German Evangelical Church, Smithfield street; Allegheny Lodge No. 339, B. P. O. Elks; Pittsburgh Lodge No. 46, L. O. O. M.; Allegheny Council No. 112, O. of I. A. and the Pittsburgh Society of Florists. Besides Mrs. Arnold he leaves another sister, Mrs. Clara Schuppert.

Duvall Funeral.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow for Mrs. Christine W. Duvall, 92, who died Wednesday at the Home for Aged Protestant Women, 900 Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg. She was a member of the English Lutheran Church.

BRITAIN'S LABOR CHIEF JEERED

BRIGHTON, Eng., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Uproars twice today interrupted the conference of the Labor party here. The first disturbance arose when cloture was applied to a discussion of an address by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer. The second occurred when two young women handcuffed themselves to the railing on the gallery and shouted denunciations of the Labor party's cabinet.

In each case epithets were directed at Herbert Morrison, minister of transport, who is chairman of the conference. The first dispute was precipitated by David Kirkwood, a member of Parliament from Glasgow, who insisted that he had the right to be heard despite the rule limiting discussion of the Snowden address to two speeches.

"Kirkwood need have no worry that he will not be in the headlines," the chairman said.

"You filthy cur," shouted a delegate at the chairman, "why do you say a thing like that?"

The incident ended after a formal protest against the "offensiveness" of the chairman had been entered by James Maxton, leader of the left wing of the party.

The second attack on the chairman came while the young women were being ejected from the gallery. There were loud protests that needless violence was being used, but Mr. Morrison denied this and retorted that the Communists should be condemned for putting women into a rough and tumble job, instead of men.

Chancellor Snowden was given a reception proving him to be a party hero. His long speech was devoted almost entirely to the recent change in the bank rate and to the currency question. He revealed himself as an opponent of what is called "a managed currency" and as an orthodox supporter of the gold standard until, as he said, "the wisdom of man has devised some better substitute."

Six Men Held In Chicken Thefts

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—Six men arrested in investigations into wholesale thefts in Nottingham Township, where raids have been conducted for several months, were held for court at hearings. Robert Lash, W. J. Gamble, Clarence Hindman, Lawrence Brennen and Frank Swain, all of the Finleyville district, were held under $5,000 bail each when arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. H. McCracken, of Finleyville. Ed. Scott, R. D. 2, Eighty-Four, arrested in another chicken-stealing case, was held when arraigned before Alderman A. A. Cummins, of this city.

Vice Squad Officer Convicted in Bribe

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Thomas Washburn, vice squad policeman, was convicted of bribery by a jury in Superior Court here. Washburn was the first of nine policemen indicted here for alleged graft among bootleggers to go to trial. As a result of the case, Chief of Police James E. Davis has been ordered to "clean up" the department or leave.

Donora School Contract Awarded

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—Members of the Board of Education of Donora have awarded contracts for the construction of a new high school building in Waddell avenue, Donora, the general contract being awarded to the General Building Service Company of Johnstown at $205,565. Citizens Dedicate Hospital Unit

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 4.—The Rev. George L. Ford, John Tod, Leroy A. Manchester and Albert Kahn, Detroit architect, were principal speakers at dedication exercises for the new North Side unit of the Youngstown Hospital, built at a cost of $1,800,000. The hospital officially opens Sunday.

Maple Creek Road Open to Traffic

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—That section of the Charleroi-Beallsville road, within the limits of the Borough of Charleroi and known as the Maple Creek road, has been completed and thrown open to traffic. It is about one mile in length. Its construction has handicapped traffic from the Charleroi section of the Monongahela Valley to the National pike.

Woman Overcome By Gas Recovering

Found overcome by gas fumes in the bedroom of her home last night, Mrs. Sarah Dearing, 27, a Negro, 2325 Wylie avenue, was reported recovering in Passavant Hospital today. Police said the woman attempted to end her life by turning on the valve of a gas stove. She was found by her husband, Ulysses Dearing, who took her to the hospital.

Youngstown Church To Dedicate Addition

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 4.—Dr. C. P. Wiles, Lutheran preacher of Philadelphia, will be the principal speaker next week at dedicatory services for a new Sunday school auditorium for St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Dr. W. J. Kratz, pastor. Other speakers include: Dr. Rees Edgar Tulloss, of Springfield, O., president of Wittenberg College, and John F. Kramer, Mansfield.

Novel Features Planned For Radio Show

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

GEORGE FRAME BROWNE, who is better known to the radio public for his impersonation of Mayor Matt Thompkins in Real Folks, will appear at Duquesne Garden tonight as the main attraction of the Pittsburgh Radio Show.

Teamed with him will be Columbia's famous contralto, Madame Valia Valentinova, who will introduce a promising Pittsburgh soprano, Virginia Harmon. The program will be broadcast by WCAE.

Despite a drizzling rain, the show was well attended last night. Crowds continue to swarm the Garden.

For the closing day, tomorrow, Manager James A. Simpson has arranged several novel features. Among these will be a Gimbee Family Party at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon with Cousin Lora in charge. Virginia Harmon will sing and the new "Uncle Gimbee" will greet the little folks.

In the evening Madame Valentinova will present a special program of Russian songs.

SECOND RADIO CONTEST OPENS

Today the second opportunity to win one of the hundred prizes in the Warner Brothers-Keps Electric contest is offered readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The first contest closed last night and the winners will be announced in Sunday's paper. It is impossible to forecast the winners or the stars voted the most popular as a last minute avalanche of mail swamped the judges.

With the beginning of the second contest, several common errors that were made in the initial contest should be corrected. Many people mailed their ballots to Warner Brothers instead of casting them at one of the Temple Radio dealers. These votes were not counted, but were mailed back to the contestants.

A few entrants labored under the impression that the entry blank appearing in the paper each day was good for a thousand votes no matter how many of them were mailed in. It is a matter of record that one person sent in over a score of the blanks, evidently expecting to be rewarded with 20,000 votes. This is clearly impossible. Only 1,000 votes can be credited to anybody for an entry blank and only one blank is necessary to enter each of the four contests. If you were registered in the first one which closed last night, you do not have to send in another blank.

At present indications, Billie Dove, Al Jolson, Dolores Costello, Jack Mulhall or Alice White seem to have the best chance of being elected the popular star. This is far from certain though, and not until Sunday's paper is published will it be possible to tell the winners with any accuracy.

WEST VIRGINIA TOWN FLOODED

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 4.—Railroad and automobile traffic in parts of Central West Virginia was paralyzed from floods resulting from continuous rains, but the rain had stopped and the flood waters had reached their crest.

The most of Buckhannon was under water and traffic was carried on by boats. Big property losses were reported from Buchannon, where Elk River is unusually high. Elkins, Burnsville, Weston and Salem report minor losses.

Cement in Barge Ruined by Freshet

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—Several hundred barrels of concrete loaded on a barge in the Monongahela River at Greensboro which were to have been used in construction of a new road from Carmichaels to Greensboro, were made useless when submerged by high water, the concrete becoming set immediately after being submerged in the water. Several barges loaded with sand were floated to a hillside along the river bank.

The building material was owned by J. F. Stambaugh, an Ohio contractor, whose loss will be approximately $5,000 as a result of the flood's ravages.

African Conference Favors Church Union

Delegates to the eighty-second annual conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion conference, being held here, will vote today on the uniting of the Methodist Episcopal and Colored Methodist Episcopal Churches.

At yesterday's session Bishop G. C. Clement and Bishop C. C. Alyene spoke. The former asked for the organic union of the A. M. E. Zion Church with all other branches of the Methodist denomination, while the latter urged more intensive interest in church activities.

'61 VETS MEET, BUT 3 HERE

Further evidence that the Civil War will be soon fought only in history books, with its battles and sacrifices but a revered memory in the minds of the present generation, was seen yesterday at the sixty-fifth annual reunion of the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth Pennsylvania Volunteers at Soldiers' Memorial Hall.

But three of the original 1,070 members who fought from 1861 to 1865 under Gen. George Meade, were present. Seventeen others, confined by the infirmities of age, illness and distance, attended the reunion in spirit and by their messages of comradarie to the trio present.

The veterans, Sylvester F. Hildebrand, Company E; C. B. Hamilton, Company G, and Peter Kremple, Company H, occupied positions of honor, while the Sons of Union Veterans conducted the meeting.

However, the three grizzled soldiers made up in enthusiasm what the conclave lacked in numbers.

Battles were refought, camp fire experiences were swapped and military tactics were maneuvered with youthful agility for the edification of the younger generation.

Immediately after the morning session luncheon was served by the ladies' auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans, Collier Camp, in the Memorial Hall dining room. Miss Jean O. Hayes, soprano, sang Civil War marching songs and ballads, accompanied at the piano by Miss Polly Gray.

The afternoon session was featured by a camp fire meeting, at which talks were given by the veterans and their friends. Alfred E. Lloyd, past commander of Camp Hunt, United States War Veterans, was chairman, while Miss Bessie Warden was secretary.

VOTE MACHINES OPPOSED

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 4.—If the county commissioners had their way Pennsylvania would have no voting machines. This was made clear in the sessions of the convention here when opposition was voiced against the machines.

Commissioner Harvey M. Taylor, of Dauphin County, declared that in his county an additional cost of $637,000 will be necessary to operate the machines, as compared with the cost of the ballot system.

Officers were chosen and Altoona selected as the place of the 1930 convention.

Officers were elected as follows: President, George W. Hibbs, of Uniontown; first vice president, John D. Walker, of Cambria County; second vice president, Harvey Taylor, of Dauphin and Secretary C. J. Daugherty, of Dauphin.

President Hibbs, who is president of the board of commissioners of Fayette County, will announce his committees later.

In the open forum the general opinion was expressed that colleges and universities and hunting camps constructed on state property should be taxable. The convention will close with a brief session this morning.

MR. BICKFORD, IN NEW ROUGH DRESS ROLE, MISTAKEN FOR GAS MAN

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4.

CHARLIE BICKFORD—the "Dynamite" lad—is playing another rough dress role as Lenore Ulric's hero in "Kanaka Rose." (Title to be changed). A stubble beard is chucked into the characterization for good measure.

"Tother eve, Mr. Bickford, soiled clothes, beard, et al stopped at a gas station en route home from the studio. He strolled around while the man filled the gas tank. A woman, waiting impatiently, hailed Bickford.

"Please give me five gallons, I'm in a hurry."

Bickford smiled sweetly: "So sorry, madam. I'm not the gas man. I'm only the greaser!"

Charles Bickford

Al Jolson paused between "Mammy" scenes long enough to tell this one. According to Al, Mr. Producer and his wife traipsed to Agua Caliente. Now Mrs. Producer dresses very youthfully and fabricates her age with astonishing ease.

With a $20 bill in her hand, she followed her husband to the roulette table.

"What number shall I play, darling?" she ecoed.

"Put the bankroll on your age," he mumbled, busy with his own troubles.

Whereupon the dear thing plunked the bill on 21. The ball clunked into 36. "Number 36 wins," droned the croupier. And the producer's wife fainted!

Addressee Dead, Card on Way 21 Years Arrives

READING, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Twenty-one years ago, on November 27, 1908, to be exact, E. B. Callahan, of this city, paid a visit to Philadelphia. Today a postal card that he sent to his friend, Ed McGowan, a Penn street merchant, arrived at the site of the old McGowan store. It showed the Independence Hall on one side and on the other was Callahan's signature and the postmark. Since then McGowan has died, and trace of Callahan has been lost.

Confectioners Will Stage Two Meetings

SOHO NURSERY MAKES APPEAL

Appeal for contributions for next year's activities was made today by the Soho Day Nursery, with the issuing of its annual report.

Increased activities have caused a necessary fund of approximately $6,000 to carry out its budget. During the past year, 10,440 children were cared for in the nursery. During this period, the nursery started preparing hot lunches for school children of the district, making a nominal charge. Among other new activities was the sending of children and mothers to the country for a month during the summer. Checks are being made payable to Mrs. Charles W. Houston, of 7225 Meade street.

Y.M.C.A. Addresses To Be Broadcast

An address, "I. O. U.," scheduled to be delivered by James C. Mace, at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. at noon today, will be broadcast over station KDKA, according to present arrangements. An address will be delivered weekly Fridays at noon and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company will broadcast each one. This is the beginning of the fourth year that the talks from the Y. M. C. A. have been put on the air.

BILLY HOUSE FEATURES SHOW

Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee," which was one of last season's successful musical comedies in Pittsburgh, will return to the Nixon for an engagement of one week, commencing Monday evening. Richard Lane and Mary Adams head the cast, supported by Nana Bryant, Paul Everton, George E. Mack, Starke Patterson, Francelia Waterbury and others players.

"Luckee Girl," the musical comedy to be seen here next week, is based on the French farce, "Un Bon Garcon," by Andre Bard and Maurice Yvain, and has been adapted for lyrical use by Gertrude Purcell. The scenes of the play are all laid in Paris and its environs. Heading the cast is Billy House, rotund comedian. The opening performance Monday night will be given in Syria Mosque, with the remaining performances of the week in the Alvin.

"What Anne Brought Home," a comedy drama in three acts, will be presented in the Pitt next week. Kenneth Daigneau and Pauline MacLean will have the leading roles.

Visiting Fireman Taken to Hospital

Irvin Kaylor, 32, a firemon of Lancaster, became ill while visiting fellow firemen at No. 1 Engine Company last night and was removed to the Allegheny General Hospital. Kaylor attended the firemen's convention which ended yesterday.

Mary Adams is one of the featured performers in "The Connecticut Yankee," coming to the Nixon Monday.

FLAG SALE TO AID HOSPITAL

One hundred high school girls of the North Boroughs will sell miniature flags tomorrow, the annual tag day of the Suburban General Hospital, Bellevue, the concluding feature of donation week.

The hospital authorities expect the receipts to exceed those of the last tag day, when $1,000 was contributed. The girl receiving the largest sum tomorrow will be presented with theater tickets. Cash contributions and donations of supplies have been liberal this year, according to Miss Eva M. Braun, superintendent.

Stage and Screen News

tion William Van Dyke, writes most interesting from location in Darkest Africa. She says, in part:

"The company went into the Ituri forest to get Pygmy shots. (For the picture.) The Ituri forest is an impassable entanglement of huge trees and creeping vines. Here the Pygmies live, defying all government and governments. They live their lives as they have for hundreds of years. They are the only tribe of people in Africa over which the authorities have no authority, and which they treat with great kindness and respect, so as to keep them peaceable and at peace.

Edwina Booth.

"The Pygmies never live for more than a month in one spot, eating only wild fruit and game. The game they kill by poison bow and arrows and blow guns. They are agile and quick as cats and small enough to sweep through the thick forests like a flash. They are the last vestige of African wild life. Even the missionaries keep "hands off" them.

"On our arrival at Arebi, the district commissioner sent several men into the forests to leave signs which the Pygmies would be apt to run across, informing them that if they could concentrate at Arebi they would receive many presents and salt.

Salt Is Magic Word to Pygmies

"SALT is the magic word. They will do anything for it. A few days later, three Pygmies came in, to sort of look the situation over. They were treated kindly, and, by late the next evening, about 200 Pygmies were assembled. How the three communicated with the others we will never know. Perhaps they are a little advanced in sending thought waves.

"The Pygmies average from three to four and a half feet in height. They developed into splendid actors, taking it all quite serious. They seemed to possess a dramatic sense which the average native lacks sadly. They went home with quite a fortune, because everyone in the company bought their bows and arrows, spears and whatever they possessed for curios.

"Because of so much rain in the Congo, it was decided that we go back into Ugand territory. After three days of traveling we arrived at Navagada, where the big native village scenes are to be shot. But I'll continue about this in my next letter."

Is that "Trader Horn" troupe bumping into adventure or isn't it. . .

Vivian and Nils Visit Arrowhead

SCREENALITIES: Jack Conway's appendicitis went on the Fritz 'tother day and he was removed to the hospital. Operation okeh. Patient ditto. Sam Wood has taken over Jack's directorial duties on the Van & Schenck talky, "Take It Big." . . . . Vivian Duncan, Nils Asther and Rosetta D. have hied themselves to Arrowhead. . . . John Howard Lawson, who collaborated with Gladys Under on "Dynamite" dialogue, is a proud father and pleased, too. The baby weighs nine pounds and has been named Jacqueline. She's a red head is that little mite. . . . . Constance Bennett had to hit the ceiling before gatemen at First National granted her entrance to the lot. They refused to believe that she had come to heroine opposite Richard Barthelmess in "Son of the Gods" and oCnie felt no better about matters when she discovered she hadn't a dressing room. . . . . Frank Reicher was assigned the job of being dialogue assistant on some Pathe flick or other. A wicked wag remarked to him: "Oh, you're the stand-by director, are you?" Mr. Reicher had considerable difficulty keeping his temper. And scant wonder. . . . . Raquel Torres had an argument with a street car and her auto lost. Likewise Raquel, who suffered an injured knee cap and other injuries . . . . And—that's all.

Nils Asther.

GIRL'S 'SQUEAL' ON RING FAILS

BOSTON, Oct. 4. — (AP.) — A threat by a girl during a quarrel with her escort in a Chinese restaurant that she would tell what she "knew about that Sammy Reinstein case," was followed up with doubtful results by police in their efforts to track down the killer of the alleged white slaver.

Betty Smith, of the Roxbury section, was taken into custody and identified as the girl who was overheard making the threat. After lengthy questioning by Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle, she was turned over to probation authorities for violation of parole in an old larceny case against her.

It was understood she told authorities she was in New York with the escort against whom she made the threat about the time Reinstein was slain in a Back Bay hotel here.

Preparation of evidence gathered from half a score of men and women arrested in connection with the slaying and the traffic in women continued, but no other arrests were made. Police have still to strike the trail of either Moe and Jef Neuman, Pennsylvania gunmen wanted for the slaying, or of the leader believed to have hired them in revenge for a "double cross" by Reinstein in the operation of the ring.

Rainfall Aid To Oil Drilling

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4. — Heavy rains of the past few days will prove beneficial to drilling operations in Washington and Greene counties, in which two excellent strikes are reported.

The People's Gas Company has a production of 1,700,000 cubic feet at its No. 3 well on the Robinson farm, near Lover, while the New Oil and Gas Company, of this city, reports a production of approximately 20 barrels of oil from the fourth sand on the J. B. Montgomery farm, East Finley Township. Numerous other wells are being drilled.

92nd Bomb Wrecks Chicago Cigar Store

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Chicago's ninety-second bomb of the year, and the third in less than three days, early today blew out the front of a cigar store in Englewood, on the South Side. Several families living above the store were thrown from their beds. A passerby was cut by glass. Police believed the bombing was an incident in a gamblers' war.

Child Steps Before Truck, Crushed

MARTINS FERRY, O., Oct. 4.—John Thomas Lewis, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis, was killed when he stepped from the curb under the wheels of a truck. The driver, Walter Abasalom, is being held, but witnesses say he was not at fault.

Campaign to Put State on Air Gaining

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 4.—Joseph Reissenman, Jr., of Franklin, who has been advocate of Pennsylvania-on-the-Radio programs for the past month, will speak over station KDKA, Pittsburgh, at an early date.

Reissenman has returned from Pittsburgh, where he reports enthusiasm for his project of having the state endorse the radio broadcast.

His plan is to advertise the advantages of Pennsylvania by frequent entertaining programs over the state's broadcasting stations, ultimately working into a chain hookup.

EASTERN STAR SESSION ENDS

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. Hattie Taylor Thompson, of Keyser, was elected worthy grand matron of the West Virginia Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, at the closing business session of the annual convention here. Bluefield was selected for the 1930 meeting.

Other officers elected included: C. J. Douglas, Welch, worthy grand matron; Mrs. Vera M. Easley, Bluefield, associate grand matron, Thomas A. Gilmore, Huntington, associate grand patron; Miss Etta M. Barnes, Middlebourne, grand secretary; Mrs. Blanche C. Smith, Weston, grand treasurer; Mrs. G. A. Jugo-Slavia Now Official Title In Balkans

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Newspapers of this capital will tomorrow publish a royal decree on which the official name of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes will be changed to "The Kingdom of Jugo-Slavia."

The decrees will also divide the country into nine provinces, each headed by an esanos or viceroy, equipped with extended powers and subject only to the control of competent ministers under instructions from the government at Belgrade.

LEGIONNAIRES ON WAY HOME

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Turning homeward after the four-day carnival that was their eleventh national convention, members of the American Legion today had before them an ambitious program of activities for the 12 months that will elapse before they gather in Boston next autumn.

The veterans had placed direction of their organization in the hands of O. L. Bodenhamer, the first national commander to be elected without opposition. Bodenhamer today was aboard a special train with a group of Arkansas legionnaires headed for a rousing reception at his home town of El Dorado, Ark.

As the convention ended, official estimates were that it had brought 160,000 visitors to Louisville, including those who came last Tuesday for the parade. Approximately 64,000 persons had registered as guests. The meeting was proclaimed a success in all particulars by local officials and national leaders of the legion.

An extensive program of work in behalf of veterans and their families was outlined in resolutions adopted by the convention, outstanding features including proposals for material increases in hospital facilities for disabled men in practically every section of the country and an urgent request that the government provide funds for families of men in hospitals who, because their illness is not service-connected, receive no compensation.

During the next year the Legion also expects to make progress toward passage of a law providing for universal conscription of capital, labor, industry and transportation in case of war. The immediate objective is adoption by Congress of the Reed-Wainwright resolution calling for a commission to draft a suitable law.

Plasterers Vote To Meet in London

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Members of the Contracting Plasterers' Association at the twelfth annual convention here today re-elected all of last year's officers and chose London, England, as the 1930 convention city.

Those re-elected were: President, Oscar Reum, Chicago; W. S. Hannaford, Toronto, Canada; James Hamilton, Philadelphia, and Walter Fritsch, Detroit, vice presidents, and Edward McDonnell, treasurer.

Albania Breaks Turkish Relations

TIRANA, Albania, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The Albanian minister at Angora today is notifying the Turkish government of his return home and of breaking off of relations between Turkey and Albania. Failure of Turkey thus far to recognize the monarchist regime in Albania was assigned as a reason for the action.

Reckless Riding Under Ban at Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—After one high school girl was hurt and several others experienced narrow escapes, Burgess P. H. Meighen, of Waynesburg, today issued a warning that the law against riding running boards of automobiles will be strictly enforced.

During the past few weeks the students have spent spare time riding on cut-down roadsters, many of them seated in dangerous positions.

Wind and Rain Hurt Apple Crop

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Severe damage to the apple crop of the Eastern Panhandle producing district was reported from the wind and rain storm of the past two days.

GOV. SIMPSON GETS GIFT

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 4. — A silver vase and a wreath of flowers, spelling out the word "Victory," were presented by state officials and employes yesterday to Gov. Flem D. Sampson, who was acquitted in Franklin circuit court Wednesday of charges of accepting a gift from a textbook publishing company.

The wreath and the vase were purchased with contributions made by both Democratic and Republican state employes. The presentation was made in the state reception room by Thomas Bulloch, 82, night watchman of the capitol, who planned the congratulatory affair.

In expressing his appreciation, Gov. Sampson pledged himself "to continue to work for a greater Kentucky."

Man Dies as 13th Tooth Is Pulled By Dentist

SAYRE, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The thirteenth tooth extracted during a visit to a dentist here proved fatal to Howard Daly, 50 years old. He had been given an anaesthetic but died just after the last tooth had been pulled.

Acting Coroner George Bonfoey investigated Daly's death and, after a physician had reported that Daly was apparently in good condition to take the anaesthetic, released the body to an undertaker with a report that the dentist, Dr. G. M. Maxwell, had taken all necessary precautions.

Armstrong Attends County Heads' Meet

Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong, of the board of county commissioners, went to Uniontown, Pa., today where he was scheduled to address the concluding session of the state convention of county commissioners, late today.

LAKE DIVERSION CURB OFFERED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—As a special attorney general of Ohio and counsel for the Lake Carriers' Association, Newton D. Baker today submitted to Charles Evans Hughes, special master, three major recommendations for a final decree by the United States Supreme Court in the Lake Michigan water diversion case.

The recommendations are that after December 31, 1935, the sanitary district must desist from diverting water from the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence system and that on that date it must complete its sewage disposal plant and in the meanwhile progressively reduce the amount of water taken from Lake Michigan from 6,500 cubic feet per second on April 1, 1930, to 3,000 feet on December 1, 1933. "Polluting" of the Chicago River also must "cease" after December 31, 1935.

Hemorrhoids Disappear

All Pile Misery Banished Without Cutting or Salves.

External treatments seldom banish Piles for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting results.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by May-Liggett and Mayflower Drug Stores and druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and your money will be refunded if not satisfied.

SPEAKING OF RESULTS

Advertisers prove their confidence in the real ability of the Sun-Telegraph to produce outstanding results by consistently increasing their investment on Sun-Telegraph advertising space.

During the Past Six Months the Sun-Telegraph Has Gained of paid advertising. This tremendous endorsement, from advertisers in the Pittsburgh market, could be made possible only by a thorough realization on the part of merchants and manufacturers of the results being obtained by Sun-Telegraph advertising.

Six months of advertising gains reach a new high peak in September — when the Sun-Telegraph gain far outdistanced any increase made by any other Pittsburgh newspaper.

In September Alone, the Sun-Telegraph

Gained 297,014 Lines

Which was over 100,000 Lines more than the gains of either of the other Pittsburgh papers

Sunday's Radio Show Section

The Sun-Telegraph 1929 Radio Show Section, published last Sunday, carried the advertising message of hundreds of radio distributors and manufacturers. It contained

36 Pages—64,400 Lines of Advertising

This outstanding section, with its tremendous lineage, showed a 700% gain over the Radio Section of a year ago.

MARION DAVIES WINS ROME

By PRINCE PIGNATELLI.

ROME, Oct. 4.—Miss Marion Davies' ability as an actress finds high commendation in an article devoted to her film, "Her Cardboard Lover," by Il Corriere Della Sera. The picture is now showing here. The article says:

"The situations offer Marion Davies an occasion for her customary display of high-class comedy. Her personality, her sensitiveness to caricature and poetry is impressed all over the comedy. It seems as though the author before writing the play had said to a friend, 'what will you bet that I shall not be able to make the public swallow this situation?' The prevailing characteristic of the picture is sophistication."

Regarding Nils Asther, the article says:

"He is the latest idol of the American girls, but perhaps comedy is not his forte. Certainly he does not have the pace of Miss Davies, who has the speed of lightning. He always appears to be behind hand."

RIVER MINES HIT BY HIGH WATER

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 4.—The Monongahela River reached its highest stage in six years yesterday, rising to a more than 27-foot level here. The river flooded West Brownsville, paralyzed mining operations along the Monongahela valley regions and flooded Coal Center, Millsboro and several other towns before the crest was reached late in the afternoon.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company's tipple at Crescent was endangered by high water. Three barges moored to the Maxwell tipple, above here, drifted wild down the river and a houseboat broke loose in West Brownsville. All were rescued by river steamboats.

Traffic is at a standstill throughout the valley.

NEW BANK SOON TO OPEN

Progress made on the new bank of America Trust Company, which opens in the Chamber of Commerce building late this month, was told to stockholders by John H. Scott, director and general counsel, at a get-together meeting in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association Annex last night. Among those attending were W. P. Ortale, president; H. B. Scott, executive vice president; A. J. Bradford, vice president and Ralph E. Hukill, secretary-treasurer.

The bank will have a capital of $350,000 and a surplus of $105,000. It has about 950 stockholders, and was organized primarily for Italians, although it will not be confined to any group.

Detour Watchman, Hit by Auto, Dies

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—R. E. Weist, 40, of Mill Hall, Clinton County, was killed last night when struck by an automobile. Weist, a watchman on a Susquehanna Trail detour, north of this city, suffered a fractured skull.

PROFIT DISPUTE SETTLED

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—A court ruling of interest in Greene County oil and gas circles has been made by Judge D. W. Henderson, visiting judge, who heard testimony in an equity case between Oscar Orndoff and J. B. Orndoff, both of Graysville, partners in an oil and gas well drilling company.

As a result of Judge Henderson's ruling all profits gained by J. B. Orndoff in three separate production units in oil and gas fields in Greene and Washington counties are excluded from the partnership in which the two men were involved.

Suit had been brought to recover a share of the profits for the partnership.

Small Loan Bank For Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 4.—The Brownsville Thrift Corporation, a small loan bank, will be opened here within the next few weeks, E. L. Study, field director of the Thrift and Loan Finance Corporation, announced yesterday. It will be patterned after similar enterprises in Pittsburgh, Monessen, Uniontown and Williamsport.

C. R. Anderson, president of the Pittsburgh Thrift Corporation, declared while visiting here yesterday that he believed Brownsville one of the best communities in Pennsylvania in which to successfully operate a small loan institution.

Butler Begins $40,000 Canvass

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 4.—The campaign to raise $40,000 to pay a debt of the Community Building and make needed alterations was begun today by the Board of Commerce. Alexander Karr, of Chicago, has been in Butler for several days enlisting interest in the canvass.

10 Violins Worth $75,000 Held In Debt Suit

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Ten rare violins, valued at between $75,000 and $100,000, were the object of an attachment action to be heard by Justice of the Peace William J. Zoul today.

The violins were seized by authorities here at the request of four Scranton (Pa.) banks who are seeking an attachment until notes alleged to have been given by C. L. Chapman, who received the instruments from Prof. Flavian Van Der Vecken, concert pianist of Ithica, N. Y., and Brussels, Belgium, are paid.

Van Der Vecken discounted $10,000 of payment in notes at the Scranton bank. Chapman claims he never signed the notes and was upheld by a jury in a previous trial at Scranton.

Fear Power May Fail During Executions

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Lack of confidence in the electric power supply of the new county jail has led the county board to approve the expenditure of $2,500 to make sure there is sufficient current available October 11 for the execution of three Negro murderers. Failure of the jail's light supply recently caused officials to fear that the present arrangements would be inadequate. The three to be executed, Leonard Brown, Leon Shadlow and T. F. Fisher, killed a bank guard during a bank robbery last January.

Army Band to Play At Blind Benefit

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—United States Army Band, of Washington, D. C., will appear here Tuesday, October 8, sponsored by the Lions' Club, of Beaver Falls, as a benefit for the blind of Beaver County.

DESPERADO ON HUNGER STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—Roy Gardner, one of the most notorious bandits of the age, was under mental observation today at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, the federal government's big institution for the insane, located on the outskirts of the capital.

Gardner was brought to St. Elizabeth's from the Atlanta penitentiary, where his pertinacity in maintaining a hunger strike led prison officials to question his mentality.

Despite his weakened condition, Gardner arrived at St. Elizabeth's shackled to two guards, and carefully watched by two others—a striking testimonial to the respect which the authorities have for his prowess. He has escaped from a dozen jails, once from McNeil's Island, Washington.

Gardner has served eight years of a sentence of 75 years imposed on him for robbing mail trains and for other exploits in the Far West. After his escape from McNeil's Island eight years ago he was recaptured while attempting to loot a mail car near Phoenix, Ariz.

Court Reverses Ice War Decision

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 4.—Midland's ice war of the past summer had an airing in court when Judge W. A. McConnell reversed the decision of Justice of the Peace Charles P. Kennedy, Midland, and ordered the release of Mike and Buddy Gingerella and James Powell, employes of Guy Gingerella, Midland ice dealer. The three men had been arrested on information of B. Silverman, ice dealer, on a charge of peddling without a license.

Justice Kennedy had fined each $50 and costs. They had appealed. The court's opinion directed Silverman to pay all the costs of the appeal.

People who take excellence for granted naturally turn to the new all-electric screen grid

Eveready Radio

THE PRECISION INSTRUMENT

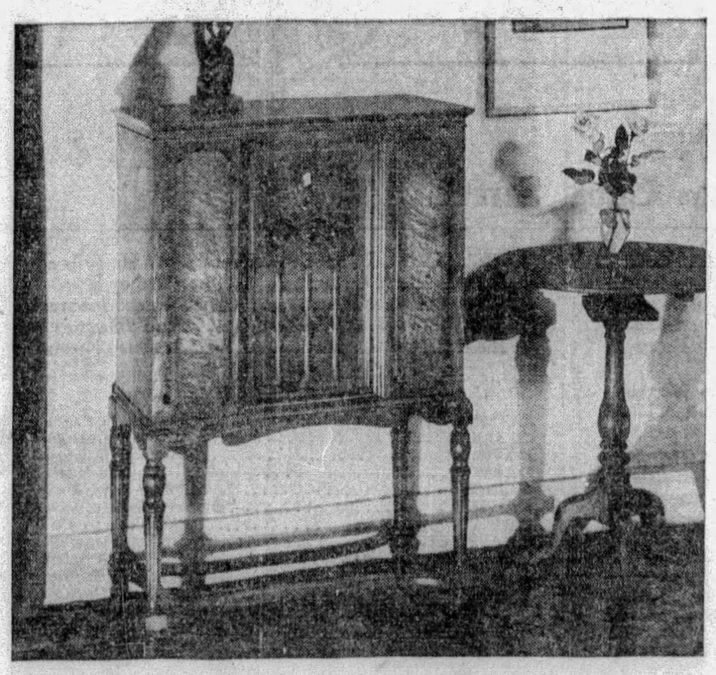
THERE ARE many fortunate people in this world to whom good taste is second nature. They live pleasantly, yet not ostentatiously. They dress well, yet without extremes of style. Every possession of theirs bespeaks an admirable and tempered attitude toward living.

And quite naturally these are the people who are buying the new Eveready Radio. For there, too, just as in their houses, their clothes, yes, even their friends, they take excellence for granted . . . a radio which brings the smartest dance-orchestra into their living-room . . . which takes them to the sidelines of the big games . . . which places them ten feet from the speaker's table . . . this is the sort of reception they expect, and get—from this remarkable radio receiver.

But such people—those who are buying the new Eveready Radio—look for something more in their material possessions. They want permanence. This radio receiver is built to last. It is precision-built. Each part is put together with as much care as if an aviator's life depended on the winding of a coil. The assumption is that Eveready Radio users want a fine instrument, as fine in its way as all their other material possessions.

Mystifying technical names, new accoutrements, devices and mechanisms bore the buyers of this radio. They know they have the best. They know that improvements will be added from time to time as the large scientific organization which makes this receiver tests and uncovers their merits. But they leave the details to the experts. That is their attitude towards radio . . . houses . . . motor-cars . . . life in general.

And so, if you are interested in effects and take the causes for granted, if you order your life according to this principle and to the point, you will want the new Eveready Radio. See it. Hear it. Note how beautiful the cabinetwork is. Ask for the explanation, if you like, of its "weather-proof" principle; but remember that the effect is this—even on muggy nights the reception is remarkably clear.



EVEREADY SCREEN GRID CONSOLE MODEL 52, $157.50 (LESS TUBES)
Model 53, a larger console, $195 (less tubes)—Model 54, the de luxe console, $225 (less tubes), using the same perfected screen grid chassis. Pacific Coast prices slightly higher.

NATIONAL CARBON CO., INC.
General Offices: New York, N. Y.

★ Features of the New Eveready

THE NEW EVEREADY contains eight tubes, including rectifier. Uses three of the new screen grid tubes. Last audio stage is push-pull, using two 245-type tubes. Power-detection and resistance-coupling preserve original tonal purity and fidelity.

Special built-in electro-dynamic speaker of Eveready design.

Insulation is used only for insulating—not to bear the weight of parts. Original fine adjustments made in laboratory are not affected by weather-changes. Unyielding metal used to preserve accurate alignment of parts.

ROADS BLOCKED BY SLIDES

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—Heavy rains experienced throughout Greene County during the past two days were responsible for numerous landslides along highways in all sections, some of which were blocked to traffic for several hours.

The worst slide reported was one along the Waynesburg-Rogersville pike, where a 100-foot section of the highway slid several feet into a field nearby. Maintenance crews of the State Highway Department were rushed to the slip and today had the road open to traffic.

Several small country roads, which are maintained by township road forces, were reported blocked by tons of earth which slipped from steep hillsides during the heavy rains.

Washington Holds Cornerstone Laying

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—The cornerstone of the new Roman Catholic Church of the Immaculate Conception in West Chestnut street, will be laid with formal ceremonies here next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A number of clergymen will take part in the ceremonies, which will be in charge of the Rev. Father M. J. Hughes. The new church is being erected at a cost of $250,000.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, beging drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for year to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

HOSPITAL DRIVE RALLY MONDAY

James F. Keenan, president of the board and chairman of the executive committee of the Pittsburgh Hospital, and Miss Margaret Ihrlbacher, president of the Nurses' Alumnae Association of the hospital, will be among the speakers at the dinner in the Rittenhouse Hotel, Monday night at 8 o'clock, which will mark the active start of the nurses' share in the proposed new nurses' home.

The campaign will open formally in about two weeks, according to Keenan. Headquarters have been established at 6126 Penn avenue. The hospital staff, board of directors and other friends of the institution are actively engaged in completing the preliminary work for the $300,000 appeal.

An executive committee of five of the nurses' alumnae group has been appointed by Miss Ihrlbacher to represent that body during the campaign. An attendance of more than 100 is expected at the dinner. Keenan, as chairman of the campaign executive committee, will preside at the dinner, which is being tendered the nurses by the hospital board.

A tea for the hospital auxiliary has been scheduled for Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Rittenhouse. Miss Mary Hackett is president and Mrs. Francis A. Keating vice president of the organization. The auxiliary is planning to enlist many of its members in the campaign.

Following a meeting of the entire board of the hospital at which steps were taken to seek advance gifts, many as memorials in the new nurses' home, a meeting of the executive committee was held at campaign headquarters at 4 o'clock yesterday. The committee includes Mr. Keenan, David I. McCahill, chairman of organization; Wilson S. McClintock, Thomas E. Doyle and G. G. O'Brien, Jr.

ARGUE APPEALS FROM COUNTY

Appeals arising in Allegheny County Courts were argued before the Supreme Court yesterday. The appeal of the Manor Real Estate Company of Pittsburgh, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, from a decree of Common Pleas Court granting an injunction to the Aldine Realty Company, of Pittsburgh, involving the right of the Aldine Company to the use of two ways, Ogle way and Eighth street, from William Penn way to Grant street, through the property of the Manor Company extending from Liberty avenue to Seventh street. The property was embraced in the Woods plan, obtained by John Woods in 1794 from John Penn, Sr. and Jr., comprising the Golden Triangle, and these portions of Eighth street and Ogle way were vacated by the city in 1852.

In the appeal of the School District of Wilkinsburg from an order in Common Pleas Court upholding a judgment in favor of the Borough of Wilkinsburg, the question involved was whether the property of the school district is liable to be assessed for its portion of the expense of the construction of a sewer by the borough.

Other appeals from Allegheny County argued were: W. L. Swartz, appellant, vs. August Conradis; Penn-O-Tex Oil and Leasehold Company, appellant, vs. The Big Four Oil and Gas Company; appeal of A. I. Boyle, Jr., in re Estate of Albert J. Walker, deceased; Blanche Shaw vs. City of McKeesport, appellant; Ola Giles, appellant, vs. Joseph Bennett and William F. Ryan.

Track Follower Held in Killing

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Frank V. Brady, Philadelphia race track follower and himself a former Pinkerton detective, last night was held for action of the November session of the Harford County grand jury as the slayer of Ambrose A. Morrison, New York Pinkerton detective, by a coroner's jury.

Brady, who through hours of grilling after his arrest steadfastly denied firing the five bullets into Morrison's body which took his life Monday night on a street here, and denied that he had ever owned a pistol.

Vanderbilt Plans Halloween Parade

VANDERBILT, Pa., Oct. 4.—The celebration of Halloween will be observed here on the night of October 29. Plans are under way for a parade and distribution to the kiddies of lollypopes, apples and doughnuts.

Highway Builders Dig Up Bones Of Indians

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Three Indian skeletons, one in almost perfect condition, were revealed by state highway excavations at Milesburg. A highway tractor plowed up the bones of two of the skeletons, but the third was recovered intact.

Robert R. Jones, representing the eastern unit of the Pennsylvania Archeological Survey, made a study of the third skeleton and reported it was that of a man about 24 years old, who had suffered from rheumatism and from an attempted scalping in battle. Pitted marks on the hip bones indicated the natural ailment while a severe bump on the back of the head was taken to indicate the results of warfare.

Further exploration of the vicinity is expected to reveal that a tribe of the Iroquois had a village at the spot, at the intersection of Spring and Bald Eagle Creeks. Previously a bushel of bones had been found in the locality.

"AGAIN I CAN WORK SINCE I TOOK KONJOLA"

Etna Steelworker Has Enthusiastic Praise For New and Different Medicine.

Konjola's victories over ailments common to humanity—troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness—have saved a tremendous loss in wages for American workers.

MR. JAMES E. MISSENDA

Many have been enabled to return to their work after long absence due to one or more of these ailments, and many others who forced themselves to work in spite of suffering and misery now do more and better work with ease due to the new health that is theirs. Mr. James E. Missenda, 243 Davis Avenue, Etna, Pa., recently called upon a Konjola Man in Pittsburgh and told how he had been unable to work and how this new and different medicine had enabled him to resume his work and support his family. There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh. Call upon the one nearest; get the facts about this modern compound that has built up so remarkable a record of results. Read what Mr. Missenda said about his experience with this medicine:

"I have gained 14 pounds in six weeks since taking Konjola, and that is only an indication of the great improvement this medicine has made in my health. Several months ago I had an operation performed on me for rupture. The operation was successful, but it left my system in a weakened condition. Indigestion, constipation, and kidney trouble set in, and my health was such that I could not do any kind of work. I could not get a good night's sleep, because I would have to get up several times on account of my kidneys. My appetite was poor and I suffered severe pains from indigestion whenever I would force myself to eat. I am a hammerman in a steel shop, so it will be understood that I could not work when I could get no sleep nor nourishment.

"I tried several medicines without getting relief, and then a friend suggested that I try Konjola. I gave this medicine a two-weeks' trial and to my surprise found that I was feeling better. I continued with the medicine, and by the time I had taken six bottles of it I returned to my work. My appetite has returned and I can now eat without suffering any pains. I surely enjoy my meals. My kidneys are working as they should and I do not have to get up at nights. My nerves are much steadier. I am grateful for the fact that again I can work and support my family, and life seems much brighter to me since I took Konjola. I recommend it to all who suffer as I did."

If Konjola could do so much for Mr. Missenda, and for large numbers of citizens of Pittsburgh and vicinity, is it not logical to believe that it can do as much for you—for everyone?

There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh, where daily they are meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. There also is a Konjola Man at Dow's Drug Store, 5939 Penn Avenue, East Liberty.

Gardner Barred by Vote Probers

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

THERE are a few bars in town that are closed to all but warm friends of the owners. They are, in fact, bars in some of the best homes. They are rigged out in traditional style, rail on the floor, a mirror and back bar, and are complete even to a display of "free lunch." In one of the places an old-time bartender, the kind that whipped his hair back with a large comb, is employed when the owner of the private bar tosses a party.

Havey J. Boyle

Some of the best entertainers in town are the boys who sing at the counters where the sheet music is on sale. By some super-human effort they have overcome the morning grouch and as early as 10 o'clock in the morning they can be heard at their counters singing all about the pretty flowers that grow in the equally pretty rain. They use the song-sheet as a megaphone. In one place the songs always seems to be directed at the young lady who sells soap in the next aisle. Possibly the old-fashioned romance in the bud: "Soap-Counter Girl Elopes With Local Song-Bird."

SO WELL have the masters of ceremonies caught on in Pittsburgh, the promoters of the small-time vaudeville houses are going in for the m.c.'s. In spite of valiant efforts to comb the field for the best talent, Pittsburgh continues at the feet of the Joyce young man who still packs them in, matinee and evening, and this in spite of the persistent rumor that his heart has been captured by a movie actress. The other boys do good work, in thin parts, but none has the army of autograph seekers, stage-door audiences and other marks of esteem that rain upon Mr. Joyce.

The downtown Eagles in Third avenue plan an affair to revive the old jollity that marked the rendezvous when such local notables as the late Billy Brennen, the late Senator John P. Harris, Johnny Morin and many another, made the Eagles one of the pleasant places in town to visit. There were theatrical nights, there were choice bits of gossip about town, and confabs over early morning lunches in the Third avenue clubhouse. It was to this nest that Eagles from all over the western part of the state flew for merriment.

POLITICAL wounds go deep, and yet most of the men in public life are saved from extreme bitterness by a sense of humor. There is, for instance, Henry Oliver Evans, who lost to Danny Winters for the Republican nomination for city controller. Asked how he felt some days after his defeat, Mr. Evans smiled and said: "Just like Lazarus." "You mean 'raised from the dead?'" "No," replied Mr. Evans, "I mean licked by the dogs." A little harsh, but nevertheless a nifty.

It is to be hoped that greater success is attained in getting Premier Ramsay MacDonald here than was met in getting Queen Marie here. The Rumanian queen promised to come here, but other plans interfered, meanwhile the gents around City Hall laid in superb stovepipe hats to receive the Queen in proper style. Since then the hats have been put away in moth balls, but if the famous Scotchman consents to visit, the two-gallon skimmers may come in for a little wear and tear.

STRIKE ENDS, STUDENTS LOSE

Sharpsburg School Officials 'Penalize' Grid Backers, Call Off Football Games

The football season is ended at Sharpsburg High School today. And so is the students' strike.

The young men who struck for bigger and better football teams trooped back to their classes, willing to score algebraic touchdowns.

They struck yesterday; the last 18 surrendered today. In the interim, Sharpsburg's school board got together and made up the boys' minds.

STRIKERS "PENALIZED"

Here is what the board decided:

The football schedule is canceled.

The striking young men will stay in after school for several weeks.

All football equipment is to be turned in at once.

Prof. J. J. Donovan, principal, announced the results today.

Many of the 30 students who struck were members of the reduced football squad. The strike was their protest against suspension of the embryo Tommy Davies' and Gibby Welsh's.

Principal Donovan said the boys were to low in their studies to be high in football.

The strikers replied that Principal Donovan expected too much from football players, that he wanted them to average 90 in their studies.

Yesterday morning 30 boys remained away from classes. In the afternoon about half of the number surrendered.

The Sharpsburg team was to have played Sacred Heart High School today.

Highly pleased with the school board's support of his stand, Principal Donovan announced that the student body had settled into its regular routine of acquiring knowledge today.

Light Engineers End Convention

The engineering section of the National Electric Light Association closed a four-day convention here yesterday with inspection tours of the industrial sections of Pittsburgh and a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel, at which R. A. Hentz, of Philadelphia, was toastmaster. During the week 460 delegated from many states were registered at the headquarters in the William Penn.

FRANTIC WORK IN FIFTH AVENUE AS "PRIZE ENGINE" CAUGHT FIRE!

Acting like clowns they were—the "crew" of this engine. It was going down Fifth avenue that the contraption caught fire and stopped the parade. Many firemen put it out.

"Good Will," now owned by Greensburg, as it, rattled once more over Pittsburgh's streets. It wasn't very long ago that it was a proud bit of horse-drawn equipment.

POST TO HOLD FINAL MEET

The final meeting of the year will be held by Homewood Post No. 351, American Legion, next Thursday night. The guest of the evening will be John J. Deller, recently elected vice commander of the Western District, and Edward Crump, Jr., newly elected commander of the county committee of the American Legion. C. G. Welfer, historian of the post, will recite the activities of the organizations for the last 10 years.

The officers of the post hope to make this last meeting the most interesting of the year and trust that all members will attend. A number of nearby posts are expected to send delegations to the meeting.

De Molay Alumni Arranges Dance

De Molay Alumni, Pittsburgh Chapter No. 1, opens its fall social season next Friday with an informal ball at Hotel Schenley. J. A. Wieland is chairman assisted by the following members: Robert I. Peters, Arthur McGrew, F. S. Williams, J. E. Gaul, H. W. Spieker, Jr., Joshua Morris, Jr., Robert Stevenson and W. Malcomson.

JEWS OBSERVE NEW YEAR

The world is concluding its 5,689th year today, according to ancient Hebrew belief. Tomorrow will be the 5,690th anniversary of the creation.

Pittsburgh's Jews, in common with their their co-religionists the world over, will begin the celebration of the New Year festival, called in Hebrew "Rosh Hashanah," at 6 o'clock this evening. The Reform branch of Judaism observes "Rosh Hashanah" for one day and Orthodox Jews for two days.

IS SACRED DAY

Second only to the Day of Atonement in sacredness and solemnity, the New Year festival has a religious significance not to be found in the Christian celebration of January 1.

In Pittsburgh's synagogues tomorrow the Shofar, or ram's horn, will be sounded, as a reminder to man of the meaning of the day, of man's obligations to his fellow men, and of his duties to God.

At nearly all the services the rabbis intend to refer to the recent massacres of Jews by Arabs in Palestine. Congregations will be asked to contribute to the emergency fund that is being raised for relief of the surviving sufferers.

MEANING EXPLAINED

The following explanation of the significance of "Rosh Hashanah" comes from the Central Conference of American Rabbis:

"With the coming of the modern era in Jewish life, the idea of the festival of New Year as a Day of Judgment has been greatly developed. The New Year came to stand as a day of self-examination, self-criticism, and self-judgment—an idea which permeates the prayer-book of Reform Judaism today. On this day, every human being is to search the inner recesses of his past life, criticize his actions and deeds of the past year, and make sincere resolution before God to turn from all misdeeds in the years to come."

Dr. Slosser to Fill Pulpit at Bellevue

The Rev. Dr. Gaius Slosser, of the Western Theological Seminary, will occupy the pulpit of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. John B. Magee who is attending the annual Pittsburgh M. E. conference at Connellsville, Pa.

Bellevue Guild Plans Corn Roast

Members of the Westminster Guild, Bellevue Presbyterian Church, will hold a corn roast at 6 p. m. tomorrow at the Parish house, North County Park. Miss Estelle Smith, Miss Irma Schaffnit and Miss Aida Jackson are in charge.

Mark, 260 Feet in Length, Aids Air Pilots

By MAX HENRICI.

Monongahela has just won an honorable place on the air map by erecting a huge marker for the guidance of aviators. It stands on the roof of the new Coshocton Iron Works Building opposite the city and consists of the name MONONGAHELA in letters 21 feet high, an arrow pointing to the north, and another showing the direction to the Monongahela airport at New Eagle.

The sign occupies a space 260 feet long and 32 feet wide and is said to be the largest municipal air-mark in the Monongahela valley.

PLAN SECOND MARKER

Claude E. Towner, secretary of the Monongahela Chamber of Commerce, writes that arrangements are being made to have another marker in the very heart of the city, diagonally across the street from the postoffice.

"We shall be glad," Mr. Towner says, "to have the world know that we are doing all we can in this city to assist and advance aviation."

W. W. Weise, postmaster at Donora, reports that town will soon be air marked.

Boys at the Dormont High School plan to put another sign there to guide pilots.

G. Gerlach, manager of the Builders' Mart, Cheswick, is arranging to erect a marker in that borough.

Frank J. Schramm, manager of the S. & S. Electric Company, 423 Locust street, McKees Rocks, is going to put the place on the air map with an identifying sign.

MT. OLIVER ACTIVE

H. J. C. Heckman, secretary of the Mt. Oliver Borough Council, has started a movement to have several air marks erected.

The purpose is to promote safety in flying by letting the lost pilots know where they are, and where they may land without hazard.

Department of Commerce recommendations for such signs may be obtained by applying to the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, Oliver Building, Pittsburgh.

Auxiliary Arranges Mixed Card Party

Abbie Morrell, secretary of the auxiliary unit of Homewood Post No. 351, and chairlady of the committee making plans for the card party to be held Saturday afternoon, announces she is making arrangements for the affair, which promises to surpass anything of a similar nature ever held by the unit. This is to be a mixed party and invitations have been extended to every member of the post.

Traffic Problem Up At Castle Shannon

Traffic conditions at Castle Shannon have reached the stage where the business men have seen fit to take a hand and a committee, consisting of Frank Offerman and Joseph Gardner, has been appointed to study the parking situation. A committee also was named to arrange for a danger sign or signal at the street grade crossing at Shannon boulevard.

Tech Students Represent 39 States

Students from 39 states, the District of Columbia, the Canal Zone and 13 foreign countries, are represented in the present enrollment at Carnegie Institute of Technology, it was announced today.

Approximately half of the students are drawn from Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, while 68 per cent of the whole registration comes from Pennsylvania. Thirty per cent are from Pittsburgh proper. Ohio is second and New York is third.

Among the students are those from Alaska, India, France, Germany, Russia, Serbia, South America, Turkey, Palestine, Norway, Sweden and Mexico. Alan Bright, registrar at Tech, compiled the data. According to his figures, the largest class is enrolled in the College of Engineering, with 644 students. Six hundred and four are in the College of Fine Arts, and 500 are enrolled in Margaret Morrison School for Women.

BELLEVUE BANS SUNDAY WORK

Burgess W. J. Longmore, of Bellevue, has notified Booth & Flinn, contractors for the Ohio River boulevard, that no Sunday work will be permitted in that borough "except in extreme emergency."

The notice was prompted by workmen being employed on the boulevard project on Sunday several weeks ago, the burgess said. "I believe there is no disposition on the part of the company to violate the law of Sabbath observance," said he.

Staff for School Paper Announced

The staff of the Junior Perryscope, the paper of the Perry Junior High School, has been announced as follows: Editor, Arthur Gies; secretary, Mary Greibach; literary editors, Wilma Schriener, Robert Hughes; activities, Ethel Reukauf, Carol Hansen; boys' athletics, Adolph Starke, John Brunner; jokes, John McCallum; art, Dwight Thompson; business manager, Edward Helm; typists, Dorothy McGlaseon and Veronica Cahill.

DRY AGENTS HIT CLUBS, STORES

Three North Side clubs, three stores in McKeesport, a dwelling in the East End and a store in Bloomfield were raided yesterday by prohibition agents who reported seizing large quantities of whisky and a 200-gallon still.

Caught in a raid on a second floor club at 4 East Stockton avenue, J. F. Lane, 69, and William Smith, 52, F. Lane, 69, and William Smith, 52, were taken to Central Police Station in default of bond, according to the raiders.

CLUBS, STORES RAIDED

Another club at East Diamond and South Diamond streets, yielded the agents 42 pints of ale and small quantities of wine and gin, they said. Fred Raub, 55, and Andrew Knorr, 45, were arrested, the agents declared.

In a basement club at 805 James street the seizure of 13 quarts of home brew and the arrest of Albert Varga, 36, and Josephine Vargo, 32, were reported.

The stores of Morris Haberman, at 2617 Walnut street; George Gergiley, at 2505 Walnut street, and Andy Schaffer, at 2005 Walnut street, all in McKeesport, were raided and liquor law violations discovered in each, according to the report of the agents. The storekeepers were released on their own recognizance.

BIG STILL SEIZED

William Lawri, 23, was arrested, agents said, in connection with the operation of a 200-gallon still in a house at 1213 Montezuma street. Besides the still 230 gallons of moonshine were reported found.

The confiscation of whisky in a store at 4514 Liberty avenue resulted in the arrests of Frank Kruszewski, 47, and Stanley Seletyke, 36, agents reported.

Automobile Skids, Driver Near Death

John Cooney, 35, of 209 Gist street, was believed dying in Allegheny General Hospital today as a result of injuries suffered early today when his automobile skidded on the wet pavement on the Manchester Bridge and crashed into an iron girder. He was taken to the hospital by Arthur Jones, of 626 Hillsboro street, driver of a bakery wagon, where it was said the victim suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

ROAD NEARING COMPLETION

The linking of Knoxville, Carrick, Overbrook and Castle Shannon with the city of Pittsburgh will be an accomplished fact in another month, according to the contractors in charge of the work on the Saw Mill Run boulevard. The greater part of the construction work already has been completed, according to these contractors, who are keeping a large force of workmen busy cleaning up the final concreting work. With the completion of two bridges practically all the heavy details will have been completed.

The McKinley Park branch already has been completed and there remains but a small strip of boulevard to be concreted between the entrance to the park and the Liberty tubes.

GRAND JURY COMPLETES FINDINGS

Panel to Make Presentment In 'Phantom' List Inquiry Before Quitting Tomorrow

The Grand Jury investigating phantom voters will make a presentment to court tomorrow, District Attorney S. H. Gardner announced late today.

Change in the method of making assessments will be included among the jury's recommendations, according to indications. No inkling was given out as to whether there would be indictments.

JURY TO BE DISCHARGED

An unprecedented procedure, the grand jurors today declared their independence of the county prosecutor's office in deliberating on the evidence. They barred District Attorney Gardner, his first assistant, Andrew T. Park, and Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren from the jury room while they examined the testimony.

Park said the present grand jury would be discharged tomorrow. The prosecutor's office apparently was undecided whether the vote investigation would be continued under another grand jury.

The county is paying $1,000 a day for a checkup by auditors of Frank Wilbur Main, it was learned today. The clerks are checking assessment and registration lists in the Third Ward at the rate of one district every one and a half days.

ENGELSBURG TESTIFIES

At that rate, from two and a half to three years would be required to cover all the districts in the city, it is estimated, and an outlay of hundreds of thousands of dollars would be involved.

Joseph Engelsberg, Hill district political leader for Mayor Charles H. Kline, was one of the final witnesses before the grand jury this morning. His rival, Alderman John J. Verona, is in Atlantic City and could not be subpenaed, the grand jury was informed.

FAVORS NEW TAX

"They ought to get a new law providing for a uniform poll tax of say 50 cents and require each voter to pay it in person," volunteered Engelsburg as he left the grand jury room.

Police Accuse Man In Theft of Auto

Arrested after he is alleged to have attempted to steal the automobile of Frank Dowling, of 301 Spokane avenue, Carrick, James Wright, 21, of 3 Ormsby street, was held in the Carrick Police Station on a suspicion-person charge.

Wright was caught, police said, after he started off with the machine, which was parked in front of Dowling's home. He intended to strip the car of its tires, Wright told police, they said.

Layton Citizens Planning Borough

LAYTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—With a survey completed, a mass meeting of citizens for the purpose of taking steps to have this village incorporated into a borough will be held during the month. The brick business, chief industry of the community, will be expanded next year.

Will Rogers' Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 4.

Say, here is something that will be of interest to you all. I just happened to find it out in an indirect way. You know we always figured that the Lord and the elements and Congress was all on the side of the rich against the farmer.

So it was certainly gratifying to learn that there is a bug that is eating up the greens on the golf courses. It's called an Army bug for it comes in droves.

That just shows you that the worm is turning, and the leisure class is going to have their boweevil, chinch bug and grasshopper, too. Won't that be great to hear the golf player hollering for relief?

Yours, WILL.

PUNXSUTAWNEY STAGES FETE TO DEDICATE AIRPORT

NOTED PILOTS LISTED ON PROGRAM

Site Advantages Found By Pittsburgh Flier on Barn-Storming Tour

Punxsutawney — practically the entire community — civic leaders and business men — have fallen into line for the dedication celebration today attendant upon the opening of Punxsutawney's new airport, made possible through the inadvertant discovery of a Pittsburgh pilot.

To Al Litzenberger, pilot of the Pennsylvania Air Lines, Inc., tri-motored Ford, on a barn-storming trip through Western Pennsylvania, goes credit for the discovery. Litzenberger, flying from Bettis airport, McKeesport, was searching for newer fields to conquer, so to speak.

FOUND BY ACCIDENT

He had his "weather eye" peeled for a landing field adjacent to some fair-sized town which might prove profitable for aerial sight-seeing tours. The present airport site—a large level tract of farm land—came into view and Pilot Litzenberger settled the big transport ship in for a "soft" landing.

He was delighted with the natural facilities afforded for flyers and expressed a desire that public spirited citizens of the town might get behind a movement to establish a municipal airport. Members of the John Jacob Fisher Post, American Legion of Punxsutawney, have urged adoption of the plan and it is because of their efforts in this direction that the field has been laid out for an emergency port.

The field has been dragged for loose stones, tree branches or any other debris that might interfere with a safe landing. It has been marked with a circle and its boundaries clearly defined, but no effort has been made as yet toward further improvement of the field or the erection of hangers. Neither has the field been inspected for a Department of Commerce rating, but it is believed that all of this will come with the development of a municipal airport.

MANY PILOTS ATTEND

Pilots from practically all parts of Western Pennsylvania have signified their intention of participating in today's program in conjunction with combat pilots from the Army, Navy and Pennsylvania National Guard.

Among the prominent flyers expected to attend are Capt. Hal Bazley, chief pilot for the Curtiss Flying Service, who promises to bring with him a squadron of three or four ships; Camille Vinet, daring young Johnstown stunt pilot; Louis Strickley, youngest licensed pilot in Pennsylvania; Helen Cox, flying schoolma'm from Greensburg, Litzenberger and others.

REV. DR. SLEPPY DIES AT 86

The Rev. Dr. Milton J. Sleppy, 86, oldest minister in the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, died at Connellsville last night. He was stricken a few minutes after he had taken communion and answered the roll call of his sixty-first successive conference on Wednesday. Dr. Sleppy, since his retirement 14 years ago, had resided with his son, Dr. Roy E. Sleppy, a physician, of Brightwood.

Dr. Sleppy was born at Butler, April 5, 1843, and served in the Civil War in the Thirteenth Pennsylvania Infantry and the Sixth Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery. At the close of the war he attended Mt. Union College and was graduated in 1867. He was ordained to the ministry in 1868 and the same year married Miss Sarah A. Horner, of Alliance, O. His first charge was at Marion Center, Pa.

In his 61 years in the Pittsburgh Conference, Dr. Sleppy served as pastor of churches in Indiana, Kittanning, Asbury, Sewickley, Monongahela, Beaver Falls, Union Methodist Episcopal Church, Pittsburgh; Connellsville, New Kensington, Buena Vista, North Side, Pittsburgh; Freedom, Wilkinsburg and Vandergrift, from which last named church he retired in 1915.

He leaves three sons, the Rev. David D. Sleppy, of New Castle, and Dr. Roy E. and Dr. E. E. P. Sleppy, of Brightwood, and two daughters, Miss Katheryn Sleppy and Mrs. Bess McC. Parkin, of Brightwood.

'ARMY' CANVASS NEARS $40,000

Approximately $38,711 was obtained by Salvation Army workers during the first two days of the annual Home Service Appeal, according to Lieut. Col. Charles B. Campbell, divisional commander. The drive opened Tuesday and will continue until October 12. During the first 12 days of the month it is hoped that $110,000 will be raised in Allegheny County.

Reports have reached the army headquarters that fake solicitors have been asking for contributions. Wishing to warn the public, Col. Campbell today said:

"The army workers all carry receipt books containing the signature of Attorney George E. Alter, chairman of the army's finance committee. From this book they will give each contributor a receipt. The army workers also wear a white ribbon, bearing the red Salvation Army shield. The words, 'Official Worker and Services Donated,' appear on the ribbon."

Noted Civil, Spanish War Veteran Dies

MT. KISCO, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Col. Robert Woodward Leonard, Civil and Spanish-American War veteran, whose father, an Illinois lawyer, "rode circuit" with Abraham Lincoln, died at his home here yesterday. He was 85 years old. Col. Leonard was one of the organizers of the United Spanish War Veterans. He saw service in a number of major campaigns of the Civil War and was breveted a lieutenant-colonel at the age of 22 for "gallant and meritorious conduct at Port Hutchinson, Louisiana."

STONE LAYING PLANNED AT MT. LEBANON

Impressive Program to Feature Official Start On Municipal Building

The cornerstone laying for Mt. Lebanon Township's new $175,000 municipal building will be held with appropriate ceremony tomorrow afternoon. The structure, now under construction, made possible through a bond issue by the voters, is located on Washington road and Municipal way and will house the police and fire departments, general offices and the commissioners' chambers.

Township Commissioner C. W. Clatty will be the master of ceremonies.

THE PROGRAM

The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Robert W. Gibson, pastor of the Beverly Heights United Presbyterian Church; addresses by Attorney A. G. Smith, who will speak on the "Early History of the Township;" Township Solicitor Samuel A. Schreiner will tell of the progress made since the organization of the township in 1912. C. W. Scheck, chairman of the board of commissioners, will represent the township solons; the Rev. E. C. McCown, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church, will represent the churches of that community, and Attorney E. B. Goldsmith will speak for the civic associations of Mt. Lebanon. Commissioner Scheck will wield the trowel. The benediction will be said by the Rev. Warren C. Herrick, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Invitations have been sent to all former commissioners and officers of the township.

The building, according to the contractors, will be completed by February 1, 1930.

THE HONOR GUESTS

The men of the township who were instrumental in forming that section in 1912 will be the honor guests. They are: T. R. Knowlson, J. S. Chambers, H. M. Johnson, R. L. Kelley, Justus Mulert, James Fortune, Willis H. Siegfried, A. L. Overcashier, E. G. Hays, John A. Long, H. W. Milligan, B. H. Canon, C. W. Martin, A. F. Meneilly, E. W. Smith, W. E. McCormick, T. W. Tweed, A. V. Mason, David R. Hill, E. G. Alexander, Mathew Wilkinson, Dr. N. F. Phillips, Dr. C. L. Palmer, Jacob Goodboy, J. S. Gilfillan, William Parker, Robert Beadling, Commissioner Scheck, Commissioner Clatty, Attorney Smith, Township Clerk Frank W. Cooke, Solicitor Schreiner and Ronald L. Thompson, commander of the South Hills Post No. 156, American Legion.

The statistics compiled by Secretary Cooke are as follows: The assessed valuation of the township in 1912 was $3,241,000. Now it is assessed at $21,173,000. In 1912 there were no paved streets. Now the township has 40 miles of paved streets. The area of the township is five and two-tenth square miles. The present population is 15,000 as against 1,700 in 1912.

Daughter Inherits Father's Estate

His daughter, Letitia, receives the $15,000 estate of her father, Patrick Quinlan, 5213 Duncan street, after small bequests to relatives, by his will filed for probate today. She is named executor.

Begin New Drive For Clock as Memorial

The Avalon Chapter, Service Star Legion, has begun a new drive for funds to install an electric chimes clock on the borough hall in memory of mothers and soldiers of the World War. All contributions are requested made by October 15 that the dedication may take place Armistice day. Harry Feick, of the Avalon bank, is acting as treasurer of the fund.

LUTHERANS TO CELEBRATE

The four-hundredth anniversary of the Lutheran catechism will be observed by members of the Lutheran Women's Missionary at a conference in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Fortieth and Howley streets next Wednesday. The Rev. Otto Ebert, pastor of the church and the Rev. Herman Mees Meyer, of Carrick, will speak.

A committee of women will be in charge of the program. The committee is composed of Mrs. W. F. Fischer, president; Mrs. William Pappon, secretary, and Miss Flora Reiser, treasurer. Delegates will attend from all Lutheran churches in Western Pennsylvania.

STATE SUPREME COURT TAKES UP CHARTER

Prompt Decision Rests Upon Counsel, Chief Justice Says; Seek Vote in November

The prospect of placing the Metropolitan Charter question upon the ballot at the general election in November, in the event of a favorable decision by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, appeared considerably brighter today.

The appeals of Allegheny County and the Metropolitan Plan Commission from the adverse decision in Common Pleas Court were submitted to the Supreme Court yesterday after opposing arguments.

DEPENDS UPON COUNSEL

Chief Justice Robert von Moschzisker, upon subsequent inquiry, with regard to the possibility of an early decision, said:

"It depends upon counsel. If they submit the briefs promptly we will do our part. We will do the best we can to give a decision promptly. We always give precedence to important questions of public interest."

One vital point not briefed, as indicated by Chief Justice von Moschzisker, was the question of jurisdiction. County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich stated yesterday he was engaged in the preparation of the brief. This and other briefs are expected to be filed this week.

TIME FOR DECISION

This sitting of the Supreme Court here is expected to consume about one more week. This will provide a sufficient, although limited, time for the justices to consider the question of re-submission, if jurisdiction is entertained.

If decision is not handed down before adjournment late next week it will not be handed down before the January session in Philadelphia.

CONFECTIONERS HOLD CLINICS

Confectioners in Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania are holding a series of sales clinics and conferences in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium today. Officials of the National Confectioners' Association here for the conferences with local manufacturers, jobbers, retailers and salesmen include A. M. Kelly, president, Brooklyn; Walter C. Hughes, Chicago, secretary; C. S. Clark, Chicago, director of the educational work; Arno E. Sander, York, Pa., member of the executive committee and president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association; Ben J. Tobin, Detroit, field representative, and F. J. Nichols, Dayton, O., merchandising expert. Harry Dangerfield, of Reymer's, is chairman of the local committee. D. L. Clark, of the D. L. Clark Company, will preside at a dinner to be held at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Chamber of Commerce.

Chinese, White Girl Determined to Wed

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Letty W. Huston, a New York dietitian, member of a well-to-do family of Lisbon Falls, Me., and Lucian H. Chen, son of a wealthy Chinese planter, have obtained a second license to marry. The first was returned a year ago last March because his family objected to his marrying while working for a college degree. He is a student at Columbia and since then has received an M. A. in philosophy.

TERMINAL PLAN BEFORE BAIN

City engineers have conferred with Lieut. Col. Jarvis J. Bain of the United States engineers office, relative to the rail-river terminal plans being prepared for the Manchester site. It is believed that an understanding soon will be reached between the government and city regarding the improvements.

Chief Engineer C. M. Reppert of the city, and Ross M. Riegel of the Public Works Department, are in charge of the city work. Director Edward G. Lang of the works department hopes that he soon will be able to obtain additional ground for the terminals.

ALLIED TRADE BOARDS SEEK TO BREAK BUS MONOPOLY

FARE PROTEST TO BE HEARD OCTOBER 24

Attorney Declares Railways Seeks to Bind City to High Cost Transportation

Thursday, October 24, has been set as the date for the hearing before the Public Service Commission on the complaint of George Young and the Allied Boards of Trade against the 25-cent bus fare being charged by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company.

The hearing will be at 9:30 a. m., on the seventh floor of the City-County Building, according to notice received yesterday by W. G. Negley and George Kountz, attorneys for the complainants.

COMPETITION STIFLED

That the Pittsburgh Railways Company and its subsidiary, the Motor Coach Company, are making a deliberate attempt to tie up all the desirable bus routes at a high fare and to keep out all bus competition, was charged yesterday by Mr. Negley.

"They are taking a long look into the future," he said. "In addition to shutting out competition, they are trying to get all the good lines and charge a high price for transportation.

"I have just returned from a visit to New York and other Eastern cities. I found that in many places street cars have entirely disappeared and that almost everywhere they are on the decline. The traction company is planning to have the city well within its grasp when this change is forced on Pittsburgh.

TROLLEYS DISAPPEAR

"In other places it has been found that the proportion of the streets required by street cars is too great for the service given. Buses have been able to supply equivalent service with only two-thirds the obstruction to other forms of traffic. Cities have found that they cannot afford to give over so much of their streets to an obsolete form of transportation, and they have replaced the cars with low-cost bus transportation. In New York City only 5 per cent of the mass transportation is carried by the street cars.

"Instead of facing this changing condition, the railways company has been penalizing Pittsburgh by monopolizing the bus field at an exorbitant fare while it is keeping out independents who are willing to give the service at a reasonable figure."

NEW LIGHTS FOR MT. OLIVER

Mt. Oliver Council at their regular monthly meeting held in the borough municipal building, authorized a few traffic regulations regarding one-way streets, and parking on one side of certain streets. There will be no parking on the west side of Stamm avenue, no parking on the north side of Ormsby avenue, and Anthony street will be a one-way street.

A stop-and-go light was authorized installed at the intersection of Hays and Ormsby avenues. The Mt. Oliver public school is located at that point.

The interior of the municipal building will be painted and redecorated, the solons agreed.

Reductions Offered Pupils for 'Rigoletto

Students will be given a 25 to 50 per cent reduction on tickets to the first performance of "Rigoletto" in Syria Mosque on October 14 by the Pittsburgh Grand Opera Company. Antonio Rossitto, managing director of the opera, made this announcement today. Public, parochial and private schools will cooperate in urging students to attend. The reduction available will be governed according to the location of the seats desired.

Harris to Speak For Vote Machines

Senator Frank J. Harris was to be the principal speaker at a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel at noon today, when a citizens' committee was to be organized to aid in the movement to have voting machines adopted at the election November 5. The voting machine referendum will be one of the features at the coming election.

HILL STATUE REMOVED

Fifty-eight years ago, acclaimed by hundreds of men, women, children, and soldier and sailor veterans of the Civil War, the huge statue "Fame," mounted on a pedestal enchanced by representations of the men taking part in the strife, was dedicated on Monument Hill.

Today, grimy and black with the smoke of a half century, and swathed in canvass and a net work of rope, the same statue was lowered from its imposing heighth to the click of a camera and the growning of winches as the retaining cables were loosened.

Workmen directed by W. J. Cowan of Mills Cowan, Inc., lowered "Fame" to its temporary resting place on the ground near the heroic figures of the sailors and soldiers who had guarded her during the years.

After the mighty pedestal, which held the statue is taken apart, the memorial will be removed to North Park where "Fame" restored to her natural appearance by sand blast, and will again stand forth in honor of Civil War vets.

Westinghouse Radio Department to Move

To improve production facilities of the Radio Corporation of America, the radio engineering department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company will be moved from East Pittsburgh to Camden, N. J., soon, it was reported today. The radio laboratory in which many of radio's greatest inventions have been given birth still will be maintained at East Pittsburgh with Dr. Frank Conrad in charge.

'Outspoken J. P.' Dies Suddenly In Glassmere

Justice of the Peace John McKenna, 38, known as the "outspoken squire" of East Deer Township, died last night at his home in Glassmere, 12 hours after he was stricken ill.

Along with his duties as superintendent of the Glassmere mine of the Crucible Steel Company, he had been justice of the peace six years. He was noted for his vigorous speech in expressing opinions, according to his friends. He was a member of the New Kensington lodge of Elks and of the Patriotic Sons of America.

SERVICE STAR WOMEN ELECT

Mrs. W. H. Irving, of Boston, was re-elected president of the Service Star Legion, at the annual election of the twelfth national convention in Webster Hall last night. Other officers elected were:

Vice presidents, Mrs. J. G. Moore, of North Dakota, and Mrs. Philip Orth, of Wisconsin; recording secretary, Mrs. Albert Oskin, of Pennsylvania; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Nessler; historian, Mrs. F. W. Withoft; chaplain, Mrs. B. C. Ingals, and gold star chairman, Mrs. Emma Coffey.

The election followed a tour of the Pittsburgh district and a reception at the United States Veterans' Hospital in Aspinwall.

TECH EXPANDS AIR COURSE

Expansion of facilities for student instruction in aeronautics at Carnegie Institute of Technology was announced today by Prof. A. H. Blaisdell, of the aeronautics school, who said that an airplane testing tunnel soon will be installed at the school. It will be the second of its kind in the United States, the other being at Langley Field, Va.

Another addition will be a ribtesting machine and special equipment for the calibration of aeronautical instruments.

Fifty-five sophomores and 25 juniors are taking the aeronautics course this year, school officials said.

The aerodynamic wind tunnel, the purpose of which is to test small models of planes under construction, similar to those encountered in actual flying, is of the Gottingen type, the original of which is at Gottingen, Germany.

EGAN NOW DEAN OF LAW SCHOOL

John P. Egan, M. A., LL. B., has been appointed dean of the Duquesne University School of Law to succeed Joseph M. Swearingen, judge of the Court of Common Pleas, who has been made dean emeritus. The growth of the law school during the past few years has made necessary a full-time dean, according to the Very Rev. M. A. Hehir, president of the university. Judge Swearingen has been prevented from taking an active part in the administration of the school due to ill health. He has been dean since the organization of the law school in 1911.

John P. Egan

Dean Egan was born in Frostburg, Md., but has lived in Allegheny County since he was five years old. He was educated in St. Peter's parochial school, McKeesport, the preparatory department of Holy Ghost College, new Duquesne University, and in receiving his bachelor of arts degree in June, 1911, he was awarded the Bishop Phelan gold medal for general excellence.

Following his graduation he taught in the preparatory school and studied in the law school from 1912 to 1915 when he graduated with a bachelor of laws degree and was admitted in the courts of Allegheny County, the United States District Court and the Superior and Supreme courts of Pennsylvania.

Since 1915 he has been associated with Attorneys F. C. McGirr and John E. Laughlin, at the same time serving as secretary of the Duquesne University Law School. Dean Egan served with the American Expeditionary Forces in France during the World War.

CROSSING PLAN AT CRAFTON OPPOSED

Proposals Now Before Public Service Commission; Agreement Being Sought

Four plans providing for the elimination of two grade crossings at Crafton are now before the Public Service Commission, with the County of Allegheny voicing its disapproval of the fourth, presented yesterday by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

E. J. Kaltenbaugh, an engineer for the county, told Commissioner Samuel A. Walker who sat to hear testimony offered in a reopening of the case that he regarded the latest plan as impracticable and inefficient. The Pennsylvania Railroad plans as offered calls for an overhead bridge at Bradford avenue and a subway for pedestrians as well as traffic.

SUBWAY DESERVED

The borough council, President T. J. Fitzpatrick testified, is on record as approving of an underground crossing at White avenue by a 7 to 1 vote, in order to eliminate the present crossings. This plan, if put through, it is estimated would cost $425,000. The one offered by the railroad company yesterday as a compromise would cost approximately $290,000, including $80,000, the value put on property in the vicinity it would be necessary to condemn to carry out the plans. The main hitch is to get a plan that will prove acceptable to both the railroad company and the borough.

The railroad company officials said that an effort is being made to come to an understanding agreeable to all.

L. J. Rigler, who was the first witness to testify and is an engineer for the railroad company, presented the railroads latest plan. The south approach was shown as on Noble avenue, with construction of a subway at Bradford avenue and Vulcan way. The route connects with Linwood and Dinsmore avenues. Mr. Rigler admitted that the plans make no provision for vehicles at Emily street as such traffic would be diverted to Coulter street.

New Castle Field Lighted for Night Game

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 4.—Flood lights at Franklin football field were increased from 42,000 watts to 62,000 watts for the game this evening between the New Castle and Aliquippa High School teams. The illumination is now expected to make the field of play as bright as day and every play visible.

JOYCE, POWELL, JOHNS TO AID BENEFIT

Three Masters of Ceremonies To Take Part in Show To Boost Palestine Fund

A mammoth midnight performance will be staged at the Stanley Theater, Wednesday night, for the benefit of the Palestine Emergency Fund, being raised to aid the sufferers in the recent outbreak in Palestine. Three masters of ceremonies, Teddy Joyce, Brooke Johns and Dick Powell will collaborate in directing the performance.

The complete stage attractions of several motion picture theaters will be presented as well as individual acts from other houses. The Stanley orchestra under the direction of David Broudy will play. More than $5,000,000 will be needed for reconstruction work. Of this sum, $2,000,000 has already been subscribed.

A large sum also is needed to reconstruct the Rabbinical College at Hebron, where more than two score students were killed, several buildings destroyed and the library ruined.

Dog Ignores Sign, Then Spoils Case by Dying

Although the dog is dead, Claud Schuck, of Fair Oaks, faced a jury in Criminal Court charged with larceny of the animal, and the jury found him not guilty.

It was a rabbit dog, valued at $150, which chased a bunny across a posted farm in Little Sewickley Creek Valley last October. Its owner, Samuel Carcara, 116 Charles street, stopped at the "No Trespassing" sign which the dog had disregarded, and lost sight of the animal, but testified before visiting Judge M. Ward Fleming that later he had seen the dog in an automobile owned by Schuck. Schuck said a constable had given him the dog, saying he had found it running in the woods without a license tag on its collar. The dog died while the suit was pending.

VET SEES CUBS FOURTH IN AMERICAN

HARRY DAVIS, veteran major league manager and coach, who became a figure in Pittsburgh baseball history way back in 1896, when Connie Mack, then Pirate manager, traded Jake Beckley to the New York Nationals for him between games of a double-header played by the Bucs and Giants at old Exposition Park on July 25, is another wise head in the diamond sport who believes George Earnshaw, not Bob Grove nor Rube Walberg, will be the Athletics' best pitching bet in the world series.

George Earnshaw

"Earnshaw is my choice," he told Gordon MacKay. "After George got a start he improved so greatly that he was close to the best pitcher in the American League when he hit top form. Every American League manager I have met says that no pitcher in the circuit has been as tough as Earnshaw. He has everything—wonderful speed, a fine curve and good control. Any pitcher who has these, with Earnshaw's courage and strength, is almost unbeatable. He looks like Jack Coombs did for us, one of those big, strong huskies, who can work every day and do it well. If he pitches in three games in the series, I shall not be surprised to see him win them all."

DAVIS, who was at first base for the A's when they first met the Cubs in world series competition in 1910, can see nothing but a victory for the Mackmen in the coming struggle. He is such an ardent American League supporter that he thinks the Cubs could not have finished as high as third in the Barnard belt.

"I think the club that is finishing third in the American League would have been good enough to beat out the Cubs for the National League pennant if it had been playing in the senior league," he said. "That's how I rate them. Look at the Cleveland club, in third place. There is a team that has been going at a fine clip, and I think it is a better ball club than the Cubs, or just as good. I am sure, at least, that Peckinpaugh has better pitchers than McCarthy."

PITT is not the only local school in major football competition having in its lineup this fall legitimate candidates for all-America consideration.

It is generally admitted that in Ray Montgomery, Joe Donchess and Tom Parkinson, the Panthers have three players who will have to be taken into the annual reckoning by the builders of the mythical all-star team, and a glance at the Carnegie Tech camp reveals that the Plaid also has three prospects that cannot be overlooked. They are John Karcis, John Dreshar and Ted Rosenzweig.

John Karcis

AN ODD feature in this connection is the fact that the gridders being boomed for all-America honors by Panther and Tartan adherents play the same relative positions on the rival teams. Parkinson and Karcis are fullbacks, Montgomery and Dreshar are guards, and Donchess and Rosenzweig are ends. It is doubtful if any two elevens in any other city in the country can offer a parallel to that situation. The three Pitt stars are playing their third year of varsity football, while the three Skibos are wearing varsity uniforms for only their second year.

PARKINSON hails from California, Pa., Donchess from Youngstown, O., and Montgomery from Wheeling, W. Va. Both Dreshar and Rosenzweig entered Carnegie Tech from Bellefonte Academy and Karcis from Monaca High School.

Karcis is 23 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches in height and weighs 223 pounds; Dreshar is 23 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches in height, and scales 185 pounds, and Rosenzweig is 24 years old, 5 feet 11 inches in height and tips the beam at the same figure as Dreshar.

RUTGERS boasts a football iron man who has played through every minute of 34 consecutive gridiron battles. He is Bernie Crowl, of Ridgefield Park, N. J., captain and center. He will be shooting for his thirty-fifth straight full game when Rutgers meets Delaware in New Brunswick tomorrow.

Playing center steadily, Crowl went through two years of high school football, and then one year each of freshman and varsity competition at Rutgers without being relieved in any game. He stands 5 feet, 10 inches, and weighs 178 pounds.

Anjeanette Hunter

THOUGH Miss Anjeanette Hunter, of this city, was eliminated from the National women's golf championship at Birmingham, Mich., by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, herself a former Pittsburgher, the local girl displayed class in her sensational previous victory over Alexa Stirling Fraser, another three-time title winner, that convinced critics she is entitled to be ranged among the best women players in the country. All are predicting a bright future and possibly National championship honors for her.

IN DESCRIBING Miss Hunter's play in the New York "Times," William D. Richardson writes: "If her playing against Mrs. Fraser was a sample of her true golfing wares, Miss Hunter is destined to go a long way as soon as she gains a little more tournament experience. She has youth, height, strength and poise, four of the main essentials of a good golfer."

In the Detroit "News" Harry Salsinger writes: "This newcomer (Miss Hunter) should, within a year or so, be one of the best golfers of her sex. She is tall and powerful. She gets plenty of distance. She appears to have ideal golfing temperament. Her game needs a bit more polish. Her grip and stance can both be improved upon. Time will help."

ONE thing that isn't going to help the Athletics in the world series is their continued idleness during the closing stages of the regular season. While care must be taken to keep a club from going stale through too much work just before the big derby, it is true also

TOMORROW—AN ANNUAL RENTAL—THE AROMA OF BAKED BEANS.

LAST WORKOUT SLATED FOR TODAY

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 4. — This particular portion of the hospitable South received with open arms the University of Pittsburgh's varsity football squad as it detrained here this morning. The Panthers, with the best wishes of President Hoover tucked away in their hearts, will battle Jimmy De Hart's Duke University Blue Devils here tomorrow in the piece de resistance of the dedicatory services of Duke's fine new stadium.

GREETED BY HOOVER

Pitt came here from Washington, D. C., where yesterday the squad was presented to President Hoover, photographed with the nation's chief executive and given the President's very best wishes for success tomorrow. The squad was royally entertained in Washington, being quartered at the Racquet Club and tendered the use of Georgetown University's athletic field for a snappy workout in the afternoon.

A fine demonstration was put on for the invading Panthers here this morning, although notice was served that all hospitality would end with the kickoff tomorrow. Despite a well-planned smokeup from a local angle for tomorrow's game, which by the way, promises to make football history in the South with a record-breaking crowd of better than 35,000 being jammed in the new stands, Pitt rules a strong favorite to make the Blue Devils like it. The power of the Pitt attack as it is expected to function against De Hart's valiant, but for the most part, inexperienced Devils, is the factor that is influencing the majority of the boys to pick Pitt to win in fairly decisive fashion.

It is Duke's boast that there will be at least six sophomores, maybe seven, in the lineup against Pitt. Five of these are to be found on the line. This quintet of inexperienced linemen of necessity will have to be of first rank to withstand the terrific power to the Pitt system attack.

TO DRILL IN STADIUM

After breakfast here this morning, the squad is to be taken to Chapel Hill, a short distance away, where it will go into hiding in the quaint Carolina Inn. This afternoon the team will utilize the stadium of the

Ray Kiser, Oklahoma lightweight, fighting out of Chicago as a stablemate of Tony Herrera, the Mexican favorite, who meets California Joe Gans, Negro, of McKeesport, in the 10-round main bout in the Moose Temple, downtown, tonight, comes to Pittsburgh direct from Memphis, Tenn., where, last week, he fought Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion of the world, and gave him a good battle over the eight-round route, which is the limit there. Kiser showed at the Meyers Bowl in North Braddock, a month ago against Ray Newton, the Mansfield (O.) socker, and won the decision. He is strict-

Scout Gridiron Club to See Tech Game

The Boy Scouts' Gridiron Club is to be well represented at the Carnegie Tech-Thiel game at the Stadium tomorrow afternoon. The club, made up not only of Boy Scouts but of all boys and girls interested in football, has evinced great interest in this week's football engagement, and indications are that the club representation will be about double what it was at the inaugural last week.

Through the courtesy of Pitt, Tech and the Pittsburgh Railways Company, members of the club get tickets to the game and transportation to and from the contest for a nominal sum.

News agencies for the distribution of tickets were opened this week at the Forbes-Shady Pharmacy, Forbes street and Shady avenue, and at the Carnegie News Company, 153 East Main street, Carnegie.

SURPRISE PLAYS BEST WEAPONS ON GRID, HARPSTER SAYS

By Howard Harpster

(All-America Quarterback at Carnegie Tech in 1928; Captain of All-East Team; Praised by Critics as Player With the Mind of a Coach; Coach at Shady Side Academy, Pittsburgh, This Fall.)

THE position of quarterback undoubtedly is as important a post as there is on a football team. Corresponding to general in an army, the quarterback must decide upon the method of attack, direct the play and lead his teammates with a sureness and confidence that will leave no doubt in their minds as to the correctness of his judgment and will bring out the best efforts of each man on the team. Never should a quarterback show any doubt when he calls for a play. In the eyes of his teammates, he always should be right and when he calls the signals his voice should have a crispness and a decisiveness that will arouse the team and give it confidence.

Howard Harpster.

It is highly important that the quarterback should be a leader. Oftentimes it is advisable for him to consult the linemen in regard to the position of certain opposing linemen and to ask their advice concerning which line plays will work to the best advantage. However, the linemen never should offer suggestions unless they are asked for them because of the confusion which necessarily would result from having more than one man attempting to run the team.

The duties of the modern quarterback differ somewhat from those of the oldtime players. Coaches in the last decade have got away from the former idea that the quarterback not only should direct the team but also should carry the ball on every other play.

In the modern style of play, you will find that most of the coaches are developing their quarterbacks to be quick thinkers and to act more with their brains than with their brawn. The tendency is to save the field general physically, so he can be at his best mentally. The result is that we find the quarterback's job generally is limited to directing the team and to blocking. Frequently, the quarterback does some of the passing and kicking, but that depends entirely upon individual ability and in any case neither duty is very tiring.

Just think back a few years to some of the great modern quarterbacks and I believe you will find that their style of play agreed exactly with what I have outlined.

For example, there was Harry Stuhldreher, who played quarter in Notre Dame's famous "Four Horsemen" backfield, part of a team which, if it was not the greatest the game has known, at least received more publicity than any other squad. There was no need for Stuhldreher to carry the ball because he had at his call three of the best ball-carriers of recent years, Elmer Layden, Don Miller and Jim Crowley.

Stuhldreher Strategic Genius

STUHLDREHER was the directing genius behind this great team, and only on rare occasions did he himself carry the ball. Perhaps he could have done just as well as any of the other three in this respect, but why should he take the chance of a possible injury or wear himself out carrying the ball when his chief duty was to direct the attack?

Stuhldreher was a great interferer and blocker, and, as a forward-passer, he probably never had a superior, but his greatest value to his team was in his selection of plays. Quick as a flash, he could pick out a weakness in the opponent's defense and he would hammer it unmercifully until the opponent, trying to stop the assault at this point, would weaken itself in another place, to which spot Stuhldreher then immediately would shift his attack.

Then there was Benny Friedman, of Michigan, who followed Stuhldreher as the outstanding quarterback. A great passer and interferer, and smart as a whip in directing his team, but a player who very rarely carried the ball. Like Stuhldreher, Friedman did not have to carry the ball. He had three other men in his backfield for that purpose. His duty was to think for the team, to select the plays, and that his judgment was unerring has been told many times before.

You probably wonder what the correct method of directing a football team is, or how one quarterback can call for better plays than another. I don't know that there is any standard way of directing a team and I doubt if there are any two teams which use the same method of attack.

I always have been taught to do the "unexpected" and almost always when I called for a play I tried to select one which I thought the opponents were least expecting. Wally Steffen, the great Carnegie coach, would say to me, time and again:

"Surprise them; do something that they aren't looking for."

Unexpected Outwits Foe

FOR example, if Carnegie had made a gain of eight or nine yards on the first down, and it was second down, one yard to go for first down, I would call for a quick, flat pass. Why? Because most teams would be expecting us to buck the line in an attempt to make a first down.

What if we did buck the line and make a first down? The most we could gain would be a yard or two, because all of the opponents would be concentrating on a line buck. But, with the pass, we usually caught the defense drawn in ready to stop a line play, and, if the pass was completed, it generally resulted in a good gain.

There is very little danger of interception of such a pass, because, if the receiver should be "covered," it is an easy matter to ground the ball at his feet, in which case there still are two downs in which to make a yard for first down.

Then there is just the reverse of this situation, and a good example is a play in the fourth quarter of the Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame game at South Bend last fall, when Carnegie Tech had the ball in midfield, third down and 12 yards to go.

It is almost an unwritten law in football that when a team is in such a predicament as to have third down with 10 or 12 yards to go, it will throw a forward pass in the hope of making the necessary yardage.

Notre Dame suspected a pass and set her defense accordingly. We resorted to the unexpected when we worked the old "goose play," or quarterback sneak. The play went for 25 yards and a near-touchdown. Under ordinary circumstances, the sneak play is good for only a yard or two, but, because it came as a surprise in this instance, it caught the Notre Dame defense napping.

These are just two instances of what I mean by the "unexpected." On the first play, with second down, one yard to go, a sneak play might not have gained anything. In the second instance, with third down and 12 to go, a pass probably would have been batted down, but, by reversing the plays and using them as surprises, both worked out very well.

Perhaps, the oldtimers would call such an attack unorthodox football, but this is an age of unorthodox football and it has been proved time and again.

Pass From Behind Goal

ANOTHER play which Carnegie Tech worked to advantage was a forward pass from behind its own goal line. Why not?

It is an easy matter to complete a pass when the opponents are not in position to cover the receiver. For example, in the first quarter of the Washington and Jefferson game last fall, Tech had the ball on its own five-yard line for first down. Quite naturally, the W. & J. team expected us to kick out of danger right away. Its line and

GLENNA COLLETT IN FINALS

CHAMP DEFEATS MRS. HILL BY 3 AND 2

OAKLAND HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, Birmingham, Mich., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Miss Glenna Collett, defending champion, defeated Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, 3 up and 2 to play today, to enter the finals of the national women's golf championship tournament.

Miss Collett went 1 up on the short thirteenth with a par three. Mrs. Hill drove into a trap, dubbed her out and took a four. A perfect stymie forced Mrs. Hill to halve the fourteenth with a six, one over par. Glenna lost a stroke when her drive landed in a trap but her first putt stymied Mrs. Hill and forced her to take three putts. Miss Collett took the fifteenth with a four and was 2 up.

Miss Collett ended the battle on the sixteenth green by snatching a birdie four to Mrs. Hill's par five.

Two down at the turn because of a remarkable 37 by her rival, Miss Collett came back with a rush, squared the match on the twenfth with a birdie four, going one up on the short thirteenth with a par 3 and breezing out to a victory by two straight birdies on the fifteenth and sixteenth greens.

For the 16 holes the champion was 4 under par while Mrs. Hill was two better than perfect figures. Glenna had two birdies going out and four coming home.

Their cards:

Par, out	553	554	554—41
Hill, out	553	454	452—37
Collette, out	554	454	454—40
Par, in	546	355	5
Collette, in	445	364	4
Hill, in	546	465	5

Mrs. Harry Pressler earned the right to meet Miss Collette in the finals tomorrow by defeating Miss Bernice Wall in the other semi-final match today, 3 and 2.

ROCHESTER EVENS SERIES

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 4.—Three Kansas City pitchers were pounded for 15 hits and 22 bases by Rochester here yesterday and the Red Wings, International League champions, evened the little world series with an 11-to-2 victory. The one-sided triumph more than avenged the Blues' 4-to-3 success in the 10-inning opening.

Kansas City got eight hits off Tex Carleton, who also gave 10 bases on balls, a new little world series record, but at the times when a solid blow would have meant Kansas City runs, the lanky right hander had his control and his assortment of puzzlers working perfectly. Carleton also hit a man in addition to walking his 10.

In each inning the Blues had men on base, and on three occasions each sack was occupied, but only two runs could they garner. Kuhel scored both of them. Fourteen Blue base runners were left stranded. The score:

KARCIS BACK WITH SKIBOS

The backbone of the Carnegie Tech attack, John Karcis, the Monaca line crusher, rejoined the squad yesterday after a layoff. It is not believed that he will play against Thiel College tomorrow afternoon in the Stadium, the Plaid's home opener.

The Lutherans, it is said, will resort to the aerial game to overcome the weight advantage which the Tartans have over them. Tink Rowley, Thiel coach, is said to be ready for the Tartan assault and set to open with his famous overhead game.

If Karcis is not available for service, Murray Armentrout, Schenley High star, will be at fullback.

GREASY NEALE

Former Cincinnati outfield star, who is one of the leading candidates for the job of manager of the Cincinnati Reds, to succeed Jack Hendricks, who resigned. PITT ARRIVES AT DURHAM

University of North Carolina for the final practice prior to the game.

The thing that is feared by Pitt tomorrow is not the possible power of the Duke eleven, but the undoubted power of the rays of Old Sol. Given a torrid day, Pitt is bound to be handicapped, for the Northerners are not used to playing football in mid-summer weather. This is a hazard which Duke fondly hopes will be placed in Pitt's path. And Duke is laying great store in the accurate passing arm and hand of Sammy Bule, rated as one of the best collegiate heavers in the country any distance up to 50 yards. Coach DeHart, himself a former Pitt all-America quarterback, intends to pass Pitt to death.

Bule will be bolstered in the backfield by a hard hitting fullback, a former Kiski school star, Johnny Janoski. The Southland rates Johnny a great line crasher. John is going to have an excellent medium upon which to test his powers.

Pitt's starting lineup is not certain, and will not be definitely known until after this afternoon's workout. Two posts are still open for some argument: center and quarterback being the places over which the war is still raging.

MAY CHANGE LINE

As matters stand at present, and developed in the drill in Washington yesterday, Dougherty appears to be the first choice for the starting job as snapper back, and Eddie Baker, junior back, for the quarterback position. Any changes today will have to do with Marclay Barnes being used in the center of the line and the veteran Charley Edwards at quarter.

The remainder of the lineup will be as it has been so far this fall. The veteran Joe Donchess and Bill Loehr will be at the terminals; Tully and Jimmy McMurdo at the tackles; Ray Montgomery and Capt. Al Dimeolo at the guards and Uansa, Williams and Plug Parkinson in the backfield.

Under the capable direction of C. B. Barton, Pittsburgh district passenger agent of the Seaboard Railway, and Jimmy Hagen, assistant athletic director, the trip so far has been a wow. Not a hitch has developed, all connections have been made and so far not a single ace has been trumped by a single partner in any of the bridge struggles that have been engaged in.

WISHES PITT SUCCESS

The camp followers of the Pitt forces, including the Panther Band, are due to arrive here tomorrow morning. The special train bearing the students and musicians and alumni followers left Pittsburgh last night, will spend today in Washington and descend in true Pitt fashion on this beautiful Southern town in the morning.

Maybe you would like to know what went on when the President and Pittites met yesterday. President Hoover talked directly with Coach Sutherland. He asked Jock where he and his club were going to play. Jock told him all about it.

"Well, I hope you have all the success in the world," the President replied, and then added a word regarding the length of the trip.

"We traveled a bit further than this two years ago," Jock said. "You know, Pitt played Stanford in the Tournament of Roses in game in Pasadena in 1927."

"Oh, yes, I recall that game," President Hoover said, and then, laughingly—"that was a long way to go to take a beating, wasn't it?"

The President, you know, is a Stanford man.

SIGNED AS COACH

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 4.—Murl Thrush, 165-pound wrestler of the University of Michigan, has been employed as mat coach by the New York Athletic club and goes to take up his work at once. Thrush was kept from making a regular post by injuries last year. He comes from Frederick, Okla., and would be a senior this year.

W. & J. FROSH MEET KISKI

Kiski will take on the W. and J. Freshmen for what will be the first real game of its schedule tomorrow on the Kiski gridiron. Coach Bob Mitinger, of Kiski, admitted yesterday that the W. and J. game would be a tough one. Last year, the best Kiski could do against W. and J.'s combination was a 7-7 tie.

Wilbur Henry, freshman coach at W. and J., will send the following line-up against Kiski: Rees, left end; Thompson, left tackle; Baxter, left guard; Burkhardt, center; Shelley, right guard; Schnebly, right tackle; Earkell, right end; Osborn, quarter; Lytle, left half; Rometto, right half and Shaffer, fullback. Two of last year's Kiski team are on the freshmen squad of W. and J. and may get into the game against their old teammates tomorrow. They are Bill Sayenga and Art Bartell.

Mitinger and Jim Marks, advisory coach at Kiski, have not yet decided on their line-up against W. and J.

Six Southern Conference Tilts Tomorrow

ATLANTA, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Six Southern conference football struggles are on tomorrow's program. As a preliminary to the big show, North Carolina State and Washington and Lee inaugurate the festivities at Raleigh this afternoon.

The Alabama-Mississippi clash at Tuscaloosa stands out as the high spot on tomorrow's menu. Virginia Military Institute will meet Florida at Tampa; North Carolina will show its stable of brilliant backs against Maryland at College Park; South Carolina will entertain Virginia at Columbia and Auburn visits Clemson.

Georgia Tech, making its 1929 debut, plays the Mississippi Aggies at Atlanta.

MACK STOPS RIVERS

DENVER, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Eddie Mack, Denver junior lightweight, knocked out Joe Rivers, El Paso, in the sixth round of a scheduled 10 round bout here last night.

PIRATES TRIM LOGAN, 17-5

LOGAN, O., Oct. 4.—The Pittsburgh Pirates closed their exhibition trip yesterday afternoon with a game here which was won by the big leaguers, 17 to 5, before about 1,500 spectators. Southpaw Ralph Erickson allowed 12 hits, but the visitors made 20 off four local moundsmen. The home boys apparently had a case of stage freight and did not perform as they usually do. The score by innings:

										R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	4	3	5	1	2	1	1	0	0	17	20	3
Logan	0	1	1	0	0	0	2	1	0	5	12	2

Denny Shute Cops Ohio Open Crown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 4.—Denny Shute, young Columbus professional, yesterday won the Ohio open golf championship in his first year of competition as a professional. Shute's score was 291 strokes, or five strokes over par for the championship distance.

26 Cubs to Get Full Shares of Series Coin

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4.—Twenty-six members of the Chicago Cubs, including Manager McCarthy and Coaches Burke and Land, will receive equal shares of the Chicago players' end of the world series gate, according to plans for the division of the coin announced today.

Those who will receive full shares are Taylor, Hartnett, Gonzales, Schulte, Malone, Root, Bush, Cvengros, Carlson, Nehf, Blake, Grampp, Grimm, Hornsby, English, McMillan, Blair, Beck, Stephenson, Wilson, Cuyler, Heathcote, Moore, McCarthy, Burke and Land.

The club trainer, secretary, clubhouse boy, Pitcher Berlyn Horne, Charley Tolson, Ken Penner, Bob Osborne, the groundkeeper and his assistants and the stenographer in the Cubs' offices also are to receive liberal amounts.

DUKES DEPART FOR MOUNTAINEER FIGHT

STUDENT BODY STAGES PEP MEETING

The entire Duquesne University gridiron squad, with Coaches Elmer Layden and Joe Bach and Graduate manager John D. Holahan, entrained for Morgantown shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. A huge throng of Duquesne rooters were on hand to give the team a rousing sendoff. If the team absorbs any of the confidence which oozed from the exuberant Duke followers they will win over West Virginia in a walk. Layden, however, was on hand to exert a sobering influence and he has impressed his team with the seriousness of the task before them.

At 10 o'clock this morning practically the entire student body, together with several hundred members of the alumni staged a Pep meeting in the Campus Theater. The speakers included Mrs. Louise McPhetridge Thaden, noted Pittsburgh woman aviator; the Rev. John Bodwell, faculty manager of athletics; the Rev. Michael A. Kelly, dean of the school of English; Dr. J. A. Moran, dean of the school of accounts; Charles J. Doyle, sports writer of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Booke Johns, master of ceremonies at a local theater. All three succeeded in putting over to the assemblage the fact that while they have a good team going on the field tomorrow afternoon at Morgantown, they must not expect too much from the gridders, who are in only their third year under a difficult system.

The meeting left the huge throng of Dukes in the best of spirits and they will depart for the scene of the battle at Mountaineer Field early tomorrow morning ready to encourage their team to win.

Layden will start his triple threat backfield of Kaus Kovalcheck, in the fullback position, Capt. Donnelli and Ganzy Benedict at the halves and Joe McCarthy, at quarter. Joe Tavelli and Sammy Pratt will hold down the ends, and Maesh Silverstein will be at the pivot position. He is a bit doubtful about the tackle and guards, however, since those points of the line have been giving him most trouble.

Line Coach Joe Bach has been concentrating most of his efforts to clear up defects there. Moon Clark and Mike Ferrare doubtless will be the guards, and Louis Skender likely will start at left tackle.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—Bill Amos, former Wash-Jeff fullback, now coach at his Alma Mater, has turned radio announcer. It was made known here yesterday that Amos would give a talk each Friday night at 8 o'clock over Station WNBO, of Washington. Should he be compelled to be out of town on any Friday because of traveling with the Wash-Jeff team, his football broadcast will be made on Thursday night at the same hour. Amos will discuss football plays and games and review of the contests of each preceding week.

INJURIES HURT W. VA.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 3.—With Nelson Lang, veteran right end, Ike Lewis, sophomore guard, and Eddie Stumpp and Bus Larue, halfbacks and field generals, all nursing injuries sustained in the Davis-Elkins game last Saturday or scrimmage during the first of the week, West Virginia's starting lineup against Duquesne University here tomorrow afternoon was still an unknown quantity on the eve of the clash.

Improvement has been noted in the condition of these four regulars, but they are not in good enough physical condition at the present time to hazard a chance in the game unless considerable change takes place between this and game-time.

As a consequence, Coach Ira Rodgers drilled for some time with Ed Howard at Lang's post, Ferrara at Lewis' guard and Johnny Doyle at halfback.

Industrial Baseball Finale Tomorrow

The industrial baseball championship of Pittsburgh will be settled tomorrow afternoon when Byllesby, Public Utilities leader and Reick-McJunkin, Commercial League winner, meet on Motion Field, East End, in the grand finals of their series.

Byllesby went ahead in the playoffs by annexing the second game, 5-0 after both teams played to a 4-4 deadlock in the initial game. Jimmy Lonergon allowed two hits in shutting the Milkmen out and will be Manager Abe Smith's choice with John Cheuawith behind the plate to face Reick's in the crucial game.

Big Ed Laboon, who twirled the opener, will pitch for the Milkmen. The game will start at 4 o'clock with Reggs Snyder and Dan Dougherty officiating.

LITTLE WIND

The new Duke stadium is built down in the ground and surrounding it are hills of pine and oak. It is figured the velocity of the wind will be at a minimum.

WHIPPETS MAY HALT BURNS ELEVEN

By TOM BIRKS.

There is quite a sentiment going around independent grid circles that the Charleroi Whippets are going to stop the onward rush of Dick Goldberg's Burns Club. A number of well-posted gridiron fans watched the Charleroi outfit in action and the opinion seems to be that Burns is going to have an hectic afternoon.

Manager Smith announces some surprises are due for the followers of the Burns club. Jimmy has some real stars hiding their light under the well-known bushels, and these stars probably will be announced in due course. Goldberg is fighting upon this game to prime the Burns club for the Port Vue Quaker battle, scehduled for Kinlock a week from Sunday, and Mokan feels that Port Vue still will hold the edge over the Allegheny river outfit.

East Pittsburgh's battle with the McKeesport Olympics will get the big crowd of Pittsburgh fans Sunday afternoon. Both the coaches, Sullivan of the Olympics, and McMunn, of the Firemen, have been driving their charges hard in extra sessions this week.

WELL-BALANCED CARD

A number of well-balanced games will be played tomorrow afternoon. The Arnold Independents, led by Jimmy Hess, will meet the Glassport Odds, at Glassport. Arnold has the best club it has had in many years, and Hess feels his will cop. On Sunday, Arnold meets the newly-formed Natrona Firemen eleven.

The Homewood Tylers will travel to East Liverpool to meet Daly's club. Homewood has one of the best drilled outfits in the district, and East Liverpool is eager to break into the independent game around the Pittsburgh district. Ohio fans should see a worth-while game.

At Ambridge, Ohio Valley fans will watch the undefeated Ambridge Mystics clash with the Pleasant Valley Smilers. Coach Richardson said the other evening that the Smilers are in great shape. After fine showings at McKeesport and Burns, the Smilers feel they are ready to take the Mystics into camp. Pat Comore, however, says that the Mystics again will be in the eliminations.

BULLDOGS OPEN

The Armstrong Bulldogs, of the South Side, probably will play at home tomorrow afternoon, failing to get a game abroad for Sunday. The Bulldogs are booking games. Call Manager McDonald, at Hemlock 0495-R.

Rumor has it that a famous all-America gridiron star will appear in one of the local lineups, possibly next Sunday. The name of the club and the player is being kept quiet, however.

The Hope-Harvey Majestics will meet Blawnox tomorrow afternoon at Phipps playgrounds at 3 o'clock. From the announced list of players, it is evident Art Rooney is serious in his threat to lift the gridiron crown from West View. Many well-known stars will start in the lineup against Blawnox and Rooney has the making of a wonderful club.

GUNNERS TIE FOR LEAD

A large field of gunners competed in the class eliminations, held in conjunction with the post-season shoot of the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters" League at the traps of the Wilkinsburg Gun Club yesterday.

Frank Neaville and V. L. Foster, with 96 out of a possible 100, tied for the high honors in the Class A event. The summary follows:

SCHOOL GAMES ON TAP TODAY

Quite an attractive schedule of games is offered the followers of city high school football teams today. Contests are scheduled in both the junior and senior groups.

In Section I of the senior group South plays at Langley, Fifth at South Hills, and Westinghouse at Allegheny. In Section II, St. Mary's plays at Carrick.

In Section I, of the junior division, Liberty plays at Westinghouse, Allderdice at Schenley and Baxter at Gladstone. In Section II, South plays Allegheny Vocational, Fifth at Ralston and Arsenal at Herron Hill.

One of the feature contests outside of the city affairs is the battle between Perry and Shady Side at Shady Side. Coach Howard Harpster, former All-American star at Carnegie Tech, has his team on edge for the invasion of the city leaguers. In the other games, Claysville plays at Avella, Midway goes to Ellsworth and Peabody is at North Braddock, engaging Scott High.

Just Another Set Of Good Games, Mack Says

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—To Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, the world series is "just a set of games between two good ball clubs."

The 67-year-old pilot said today he had not "even given the coming series with the Chicago Cubs much thought yet."

"I'm not in a position to say anything about the series," Mack said. "I don't know the Cubs.

"To me it's just a set of games between two good ball clubs. In fact, I haven't given it much thought yet; I've been so busy with other things. But I'm going to begin thinking about it soon now."

MERCHANTS PLAY SUNDAY

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 4.—Sharpsville Merchants, Shenango Valley's crack semi-pro football team, will play the Friedman A. C., of Aliquippa, Pa., Sunday at the Five Points athletic field. The locals lost to Akron Awnings and defeated Girard Merchants.

TUNNELITES WIN, 12-0

South Hills High School plowed through the stubborn defense of Fifth Avenue High to blank the Downtowners, 12 to 0, in their intersectional grid game at Langley High field yesterday. Riske and Critchlow, reinstated, played. The lineup:

A glance at the weather we experienced last October in Pittsburgh should convince any man that it's high time to be thinking of a new topcoat for this October. Weather, like history, repeats itself. Fair one day—rainy the next—colder the next. Such are the days when a comfortable topcoat will prove a man's warmest friend. There is enveloping comfort in these closely woven B & B Topcoats—protection from breeze and showers. Smartness, too, in their trim new lines. And, withal, at prices that will send you out "Singing in the Rain."

$30 A notable group, including the famous Knit-tex coats. Light in weight yet heavy and comfortable. Distinguished looking patterns and models.

$37.50 Still finer woolens and as handsome a selection of patterns as you'll find. Correct box coat models in the new longer lengths. Expertly tailored.

Camel's Pile Topcoats $57.50
Other Topcoaats $95.00
Men's Suits ..... $28.50 to $95.00

Hurlingham, England, is like Meadowbrook in this country. It is the center of Polo activity—the place to go if you are interested in Polo—and the place to See and Be Seen, if you want to be "discovered" in the most fashionable set in England.

It is the spot where our Style Scout discovered this new English Brogue, which we are showing today in every Regal Store.

We paid £6.1s. ($29.40) for this Original Hand Made Wing-tip Brogue in Bartley's shop on Oxford Street, and we asked him to make up 39 more pairs so that we could actually show you today one of Bartley's $29.40 Originals with the $6.60 Regal Reproduction, side by side in 80 Regal Stores in the U. S. A.

The Lasts are identical in measurements and appearance and the Design is exactly the same. Every hole in the perforations and decorations of the Original Bartley Brogue was punched by hand with an awl. We made a die for this design and with one click of a machine reproduced the pattern exactly.

The Upper Leather in Bartley's Original is an imported Brown Willow Calfskin tanned in Oisterwyk, Holland, and in the Regal Reproduction we are using the same identical Tannage.

Leather, Last, Pattern, Design and every Style detail is exactly the same—from the perforations on the toe to the Rubber insert wedged in the heel.

But there is a difference. Bartley & Sons' shoe is made and sewn by hand. Our shoes are sewn by the same machine as practically all high-priced American shoes. In Bartley's shop only 4 men handle the shoe from the time it is cut until it is finished. In our factory, about 150 different persons perform some operation on a Regal shoe.

Our VOLUME makes this VALUE possible. WE MAKE ONE THOUSAND PAIR TO BARTLEY'S ONE PAIR, and every pair looks just like Bartley's original.

E. P. Beiser, President, Regal Shoe Co.

PIRATES BACK TO WIND UP SEASON

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

The Pirates are back in town, and although they gave out no formal interviews on the subject it is hinted that they are not unanimous as regards the "stagger plan" for winding up the big-league schedule. The Buccos have indulged in a cute little travelogue since they staged their double-header with the Cardinals last Sunday.

The Redbirds also reached town today. The teams plan to stage a double-header tomorrow afternoon, the bargain bill to wind up the season in Pittsburgh. The first contest will begin at 1:30.

SQUAD CURTAILED

Manager Ens returned with a curtailed squad. Adam Comorosky came home ahead of the Pirates on account of his sore hand. The Polish Flyer has been ailing for some time, he having been struck while hitting in batting practice.

Jimmy Mosolf has made a fine impression with Commy out of action. The star hitter from the Western League is not the fielder Comorosky is, but he seems to be just about as effect at the plate, although it will require a lot of major league games for Jimmy to win his spurs.

Mosolf, however, appears to be destined for one of the 1930 utility berths. The manner in which the southpaw slugger slams the ball has made a big hit with Pilot Ens. Mosolf also seems to be fast, too.

The outfield situation for the next campaign would seem to be comforting with the Waners, Comorosky, Brickell, Flagstead and Mosolf available; in fact, that array of talent stands out as one of the best in the circuit.

TO KEEP FLAGSTEAD

Flagstead played such brilliant ball in pinches that he is practically sure of being retained. Brickell's future seems to be a bit doubtful so far as the Pirates are concerned, yet Fred is a whale of a ball player and one who would be eagerly sought by many other clubs.

Brick is one of the swiftiest fellows on the Pirate squad and he can hit the ball just about as hard as any of them. It was his fortune to be in the same galaxy that held Paul and Lloyd and the Polish Flyer. It's pretty hard to tie that threesome, let alone surpass it.

Ens also is tickled over the performances given recently by Leon Chagnon and Ralph Erickson, the Columbia graduates. There are two boys who made the most of their opportunity this summer. They were very raw in the springtime, but today they look like different pitchers. And they are fine lads.

KISER AND GANS FIGHT TONIGHT

ly an action fighter and his style ought to blend well with that of Gans, who is a counter puncher.

A promising preliminary card backs up the main event tonight, and the show will be staged in a new and larger ring. Frankie Porto, of Glassport, and Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, featherweights, will box the semi-final; Andy Andrucci, of the East End, and Eddie Brannon, of the Hill, lightweights, are in the second bout, and Tom Malco, of Soho, meets Cowboy De Luca, of Lawrenceville, in the opening bout.

PHILLIPS TO BOX TRIPPE

Promoter Jim McGirr has landed a topnotch bout for his windup in the McKeesport arena next Thursday night. It brings together Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., and Tug Phillips, of Erie. Trippe last week knocked out Tiger Joe Randall in the same ring, while Phillips recently subbed on short notice for Phil McGraw against Tommy Crawley in the main bout of the final show in the Meyers Bowl and won hands down. The articles call for the men to meet at 140 pounds.

Philadelphia is going to outdo itself in the way of fistic and wrestling entertainment for visiting fans on the night of the first game of the world series there, Friday night of next week, Benny Bass meets Armando Santiago in a return bout, heading an all-star card at the Phillies' park and a show also is scheduled at the Cambria A. C., in the northeastern section of the city, while Dick Shikat, recognized by the State Athletic Commission as the new heavyweight wrestling champion, will grapple Rudy Dusek at the Arena.

The real name of George Panka, the young Bohemian heavyweight, of Homestead, who has just signed a three-year contract to go under the management of Bunny Buntach and boxes K. O. Blackburn, of Louisville, in the semi-final at Motor Square Garden Monday night, is Posipanka, but he had to shorten it for ring usage. He was 21 years old last March and has mastered the bricklaying profession after having dropped out of Homestead High School in his sophomore year. He began boxing as an amateur in 1927 and had four bouts, one of them in Madison Square Garden, New York. At that time he appeared under the name of George Posey. Last spring, after finishing his trade apprenticeship, he went out West and hooked on with Babe Hunt, the Tulsa, (Okla.) heavyweight, as a sparring partner. He had three bouts out there and won all of them with knockouts and has scored two quick knockouts since his return. He has trained down from 200 pounds to 195 and plans to get down to 190 within a few weeks. He stands 6 feet ½ inch in his socks and is trimly built. George is the eldest of five children. He has a brother, 19, and three younger sisters, and his father and mother also are living. The Perlick twins, Herman and Henry, of Kalamazoo, Mich., box the double windup at the Garden Monday, Herman meeting Marty Silvers, of Brooklyn, and Henry opposing Joey Goodman, of Cleveland.

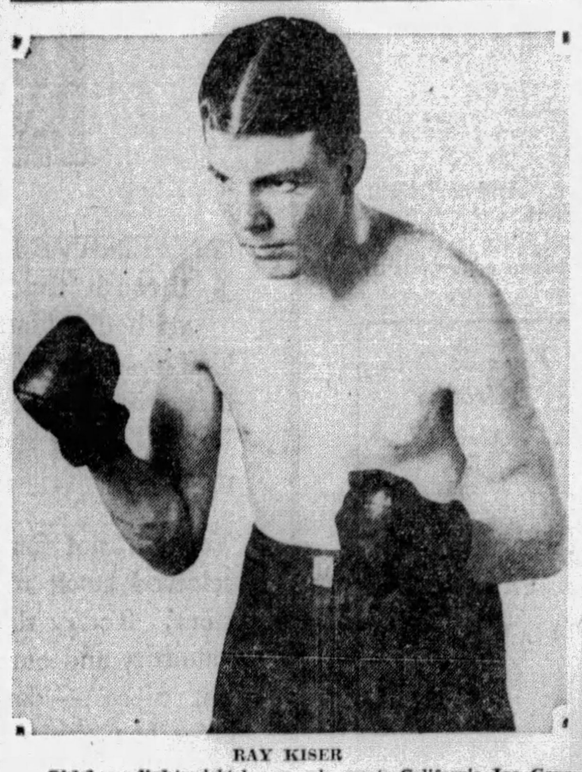
BARRY BOOKS SHOWS

Jack Barry, former local welterweight boxer, was a visitor in Pittsburgh yesterday, coming in from Erie, where he now is the manager of the Public Auditorium and matchmaker of one of the two clubs that stages shows in the building. He has Maxie Strub, of Erie, boxing Sammy Lupica, of Toledo, in the main bout of a show tonight, Jimmy Reed against Eddie Reed in a return battle Friday night of next week, Phil Goldstein and Maxie Strub in his windup a week later and then Tommy Freeman and Bucky Lawless in a return battle, completing a solid month of advance booking.

Angus Snyder meets Arthur DeKuh at Kansas City tonight. In another heavyweight bout, Charley Belanger boxes Nick Newman at Davenport, Ia.

Heine Blaustein, of Baltimore, and his bride of two weeks are stopping off in Pittsburgh for a few days. Heine is the trainer of Joe and Vince Dundee, star boxers, and is on his way back home from Chicago, where he seconded Vince against Champion Jackie Fields a few nights ago. Vince's manager, Max Waxman, went straight through to Baltimore.

MEETS GANS AT MOOSE



RAY KISER

Oklahoma lightweight boxer, who meets California Joe Gans in the 10-round windup at the Moose Temple tonight. He fought Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, at Memphis, last week.

HOME JUDGES PROTESTED

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 4. — Home judges in amateur boxing matches no longer will be tolerated by the fans of Fayette and adjoining counties. A petition to the boxing commission of Pennsylvania is being prepared, asking for action by that body toward fair and impartial judges, especially in the amateur bouts.

Following the decision in the Don Asto, Uniontown, and Butch Parker, Scottdale, bout in Scottdale this week a near riot was averted by the cooler heads.

Even then it was said by Uniontown boys that several blows were struck as they left the Scottdale armory, the scene of the bout.

NIGHT FOOTBALL AT UNIONTOWN

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 4.—Uniontown is preparing to stage the first night football games in this section of Western Pennsylvania. Flood lights are being installed on all sides of the football field in the new $15,000 stadium.

It is planned to dedicate the new stadium, Friday night October 18, with Scottdale High School as the visiting attraction, instead of on Saturday October 19, as originally arranged. Flood lights already have been set up on the west side of the field for American Legion drum corps drills, but engineers are at work on plans to have the lights entirely surround the football field. In addition a white ball will be used in the contest.

Hornsby Drops Two Points in Big Six Race

Once more the combination of the weather and the schedules left Rogers Hornsby the only Big Six member to play yesterday. He got but one double in five times at bat and dropped two points in the batting averages to a .379 mark. The standing:

Gizzy Is Winner; Hans Roberts Cops

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4. — Battling Gizzy, of Washington, defeated Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, in the 10-round main bout at the armory here last night. It was a close, hard-fought battle, with Gizzy's whirlwind style giving him the edge.

Walter Ketchel defeated Steve Pollock in the eight-round semifinal, Lee Sala, subbing for John P. Dougherty, knocked out John DeMinno, in four rounds, and Hans Roberts, the German amateur welterweight champion, making his professional debut, won over Tommy Ward in six rounds.

Horan Scores Ace At Castle Shannon

M. F. Horan, vice-president of the Baton Coal Corporation, scored a hole in one at the 132-yard No. 7 hole at the Castle Shannon Golf Club yesterday afternoon. Horan used a mashie niblick, and used it so well that he saved himself the trouble of putting.

Salem, Broaddus In Battle Today

SALEM, W. Va., Oct. 4.—Well turned up by three weeks of intensive practice, the Salem College gridders will pry the lid from their campaign here this afternoon with the Broaddus College eleven providing the opposition. The rivalry between the two schools is very keen, and a close hard game is expected.

Unexpected Wins Grid Games--Harpster

fullback charged in to block the kick, while the halfbacks dropped back to "take" our ends and protect their safety man.

Instead of kicking, we faked a kick and passed flat to our halfback, Eythe, who was entirely free and caught the ball and made a 35-yard gain, nearly getting away for a touchdown.

Many critics would censure such a play as taking a big chance, but we, at Carnegie Tech, thought it was quite safe. First, because of the surprise element. There is little chance of the halfback being covered, and, if he should be, the passer again can ground the ball, leaving three downs in which to kick out of danger.

A most excellent chance to have worked this pass play from behind the goal line was in the Georgia Tech-California game, played at Pasadena, last New Year's Day. You will recall Ray Reigels' now famous "backward run," which left California in possession of the ball on its own one-yard line. On the following play, which resulted in a safety for Georgia Tech, for what later proved to be the winning points of the game, Georgia Tech had nine men on the line of scrimmage in an attempt to rush in and block the California kick. The other two Georgia men were in mid-field ready to run the kick back if California should get it off.

Would Have Saved Riegels Situation

HOW easy it would have been for California to have worked a pass, with Georgia lined up in such a position. Certainly it could have made a long gain, and, perhaps, have scored on the play. As it was, the nine Georgia Tech men broke through, blocked the kick and scored the safety which won the game.

Here was a situation where unorthodox football would have been the only logical play.

Long's Sport Comment

that the players must get a certain amount of diamond exercise to assure their being on the right edge.

The Athletics have not been getting this needed work. The weather man has been playing havoc with their program. Since Sunday, September 22, the Mackmen have played only four games, one an exhibition affair in Montreal, while the three others were played in five days at Boston.

THE A's returned from Boston last Monday, an open date, but rain prevented a workout, and continued showers blocked a double-header with Washington on Tuesday and again on Wednesday. Yesterday was an open date, so that the American League champions have played only four games in the last 11 days, and another open date today will lengthen the period to 12 days. They will have been idle five straight days when they go to New York to play their final league games there tomorrow and Sunday.

ON TOP of that, the A's will be riding the rattlers from Sunday night until 6 p. m. on Monday, so that they will not have a chance to limber up until Tuesday, the day of the first title clash. It will not be surprising if their work is not affected in the first game or two, as a result of their many loafing spells. On the other hand, the Cubs are going along steadily, getting just the right amount of work to keep them in form, and, besides, there were indications yesterday, when they made 16 hits in Cincinnati, that they are coming out of their batting slump.

Art Nehf

Manager McCarthy is working his pitchers with good generalship. He gave both Art Nehf and Pat Malone a chance to loosen up yesterday after lifting Hal Carlson. The appearance of Nehf on the mound indicates that he is planning to use the left-hander at some stage of the series. The one surprising feature yesterday was that Kiki Cuyler was permitted to steal two bases in a game that meant nothing. There is always a risk of injury in base-stealing and Cuyler was clearly taking rash chances.

U. S. ACTOR HELD IN MURDER

READING, England, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—An American actor who plays the role of a detective in "The Monster," now touring the provincial theaters, was identified as a man seen inside a tobacconist's shop "wiping blood off his face" on the night of a murder therer.

Five months ago Alfred Oliver, 60, was killed in his shop by an assailant who took $12 from the till.

For a time it seemed as if the case would be listed among Scotland Yard's few unsolved murders and forgotten, then with dramatic suddenness Scotland Yard reopened the investigations.

The man about whom attention centered at the renewed inquest was Philip Yale Drew, who said he comes from Massachusetts and is a descendant in the ninth generation of Peregrin White, the first white man born in America. He has lived in London since 1910.

At the coroner's inquest, Drew, who is a burly man with a mass of brown hair above Cromwellian features, appeared represented by a lawyer. He also produced witnesses who testified that he was in the dressing room of the theater at the time of the crime.

Mrs. Alice James was the first witness at the hearing. She was a caretaker across the street from the tobacconist's shop. She testified that she saw a man on the night of the murder just inside the shop door wiping blood off his face. He was muttering and she thought he had been fighting.

"Do you see him in the court?" asked the coroner.

"That's the man," she replied, pointing at Drew.

MOODY WARNED IN CLEANUP

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Gov. Dan Moody was threatened with death unless he "keeps his nose out of business at Borger," in an anonymous letter postmarked in New York, which was received by the Austin Police Department.

"We've done it before and we'll do it again if he doesn't stay clear of there," the letter stated in directing threats against the Governor.

Gov. Moody was away from the capital today, but his confidential secretary, Pat Daugherty, did not take the threat seriously, saying the Chief Executive often received such letters from cranks.

Meanwhile, the work of cleaning up Borger, the crime-infested oil town in Hutchinson County, which was placed under martial law last week by Gov. Moody, went forward with thoroughness, Maj. Gen. Jacob Wolters, in command of National Guardsmen there, reported.

Wholesale arrests continued as National Guardsmen and state rangers pushed their campaign to drive out unimportant undesirables and arrest those wanted on charges or as witnesses.

The total arrests are well above the 100 mark and about 50 places have been raided, some of them twice in 24 hours.

Many of those arrested were warned to leave town at once and others were held as vagabonds, or for further questioning. The fine for vagrancy was $100, and other penalties were equally severe.

MUSIC

CARNEGIE MUSIC HALL

Lucio Coccia, a new Roman tenor, attempted a concert in Carnegie Music Hall last night. The audience was small and disinterested. Perhaps it had not got into the concert swing; perhaps it did not like Signor Coccia.

Perhaps Signor Coccia sings that way and again, he might have been nervous, for his breath never sufficed to complete any phrase with comfort, let alone artistry. The voice is without individuality and lacking in that warmth so characteristic of Italian voices. His interpretations are strictly in folk spirit, and lacking in any distinction we may associate with an experienced musician.

There was the "Pagliacci" arioso, a pitfall for any tenor as opening number. Several modern Italian songs of Scamolin, Vianni and Cimadori had a good swing. Another romance of Salvator Rosa and some English songs of little consequence completed the singer's offerings. Harriet Werle played accompaniments and a Poldini etude as solo.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Plan Dinner For 3 Buds On Dec. 14

BEFORE snow flakes begin their dance earthward, life for the debutantes will have become just one luncheon, tea dance, dinner and ball after another, with appearances at various benefits as added social duties. Of course it's a bit early to talk about snow with Indian summer yet to come, but when I talk of social events, it's impossible to keep away from the glamorous future.

Every day rumors reach me of some new plans for the debutantes of 1929. And dinners, followed by dancing, are always popular with the newest group in the social world.

Just before the holiday season opens many entertainments will be given for the buds. On Saturday, December 14, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Faber Brooks, of Sewickley, will give a dinner in the Pittsburgh Golf Club in honor of three debutantes, Caroline Crittenden, daughter of the William Jackson Crittendens; Peggy Milligan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan, and Mary Franklin Robinson, daughter of the William Christopher Robinsons.

AND now word comes from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., that the J. Barlow Cullums have postponed the debut of their daughter, Mollie, from October 15 to November 7. On that November day they'll give a luncheon in the Allegheny Country Club for her. Just now Mrs. Cullum and the debutante are spending several weeks in the West Virginia resort.

SEVERAL days ago I mentioned that Mrs. W. Harry Brown would be among those returning home this month. She has just arrived in the city and has opened her home at Fifth and Murrayhill avenues. During the fall and winter season she will visit Pittsburgh, but will spend the greater part of the year at her Park avenue residence in New York.

And stopping at Atlantic City for a brief sojourn are Mrs. Frank E. Richardson, of Academy avenue; her sister, Mrs. Frank R. Rutan, and niece, Martha Rutan, of Bryn Mawr and Sewickley. They have been at their Blue Hill (Me.) home during the summer and early fall.

TODAY I can tell you of still another fall wedding. Sarah Eleanor Flower, daughter of Mrs. William S. Flower, of the Schenley Apartments, has named Wednesday, October 16, as the date for her marriage to Herbert L. Sander, Jr., son of the H. L. Sanders, of South Linden avenue.

The ceremony will take place, I hear, in the home of Mrs. John D. Ritchey, of Oak Hill Farms, Gibsonia, sister of the bride-to-be. Mrs. Ritchey will be matron of honor, and Martha Brahm maid of honor, with William G. Sander as his brother's best man, and John D. Ritchey, Sarah's brother-in-law, and Charles F. Niemann, Jr., as ushers. The hour of the marriage, by the way, will be 7 o'clock in the evening.

MR. AND MRS. E. H. DANIELS announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Leah Daniels, to Robert Dittrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dittrich, of Biddle avenue, Wilkinsburg. The wedding will take place October 19 in the Wilkinsburg Christian Church.

CHARLES A. YOUNG, of Bellevue, announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Hope Young, to J. Lewis Srodes, Jr., of Beaver, son of Mrs. Mary Glenn Srodes, which was solemnized Saturday, September 28. Mr. and Mrs. Srodes will reside at State College, Pa.

MISS MARGARET MARIE COTTRELL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Cottrell, of Brentwood, was married to Kenneth Causler Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sites, of Crafton, on Friday, September 27, at 5:45 o'clock in the evening, in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. E. L. Krumring, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, officiated. The bride wore orchid satin, fashioned in Quaker style, with an uneven hemline, and carried yellow roses. Harry Ball, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Miss Dorothy L. Brecht played the music. A dinner and reception followed the ceremony, with covers laid for 50. Mr. and Mrs. Ball will reside in West Bellecrest avenue, Brentwood, after their return from a honeymoon in Washington.

MISS JEAN E. DITTRICH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dittrich, of Biddle avenue, was married to Kenneth E. Hummell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hummell, of Montier street, on Tuesday, in the Wilkinsburg Christian Church, the Rev. D. Park Chapman officiating. The bride wore a brown velvet ensemble, with hat to match, and a corsage of pink rosebuds. After the wedding a dinner was served in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel, with covers laid for 22. After an eastern motor trip Mr. and Mrs. Hummell will be at home in Montier street, Wilkinsburg.

A SERIES of parties, including a breakfast and a half dozen luncheons will be given in Woodland Hall, Pennsylvania College for Women, this month, at which alumnae will be guests. The parties are part of the campaign which alumnae are conducting to obtain $250,000 pledged by them to the building fund in honor of Dr. Cora Helen Coolidge, president of the school.

The breakfast Saturday at 11:30 o'clock will have Mrs. Hobart L. Means as hostess. Tuesday Mrs. W. P. Barker will act as hostess at luncheon. Wednesday at a luncheon Mrs. Harry F. Baumann will be hostess. October 15, Mrs. George E. Crawford will be hostess; October 19, Mrs. James G. Stephenson; October 23, Mrs. Robert O. Fulton; October 26, Mrs. Hugh K. McJunkin.

ON Tuesday evening, October 1, at 6:30 o'clock, in the ballroom of the Hotel Schenley, Miss Jean Elinor York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob T. York, of Carnegie, became the bride of Ralph E. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weber, of Zanesville, O., the Rev. Samuel H. Goldenson officiating. The decorations were of tall bamboo, cibotium ferns, and crotons, with standards of autumn colored flowers and lighted candles.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, cut in princess effect, with full train, and her veil was of duchess lace and tulle, embroidered with pearls. She carried calla lilies. Mrs. Simon Miller, of Cleveland, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor, and Miss Leora Osgood, of Pittsburgh, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, wore gowns of yellow satin, and carried delphinium and dahlias in golden shades. Mrs. York, the bride's mother, wore a gown of flame cloth in the blue and orchid tones, and wore a corsage of orchids. The mother of the bridegroom, gowned in blue satin, also wore orchids. B. Paul Broida, of Parkersburg, W. Va., served as best man, and the ushers included Nathan Freilich, of Zanesville, O., Edward Bamberger, Simon Miller and Joseph Heiner, of Cleveland, Edwin H. Morris, of New York, and Edgar York, brother of the bride. Following the ceremony, dinner was served with covers laid for 125. At the horseshoe-shaped bridal table, covers were laid for 15. The center pieces were fall flowers, and candles. After a trip to Colorado Springs and other western points, Mr. and Mrs. Weber will reside in Zanesville, O.

THE wedding of Miss Mary Peluso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Peluso, of Carnegie, and Guy Alexander, of Paterson, N. J., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Alexander, of Monaca, Pa., was solemnized on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, in the Holy Souls' Church of Carnegie, by the Rev. Ercole Domicis. The bride wore a sleeveless gown of orchid chiffon velvet, with uneven hemline, and a close-fitting hat of matching velvet. She carried yellow tea roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Angeline Peluso, as her sister's bridesmaid, wore a gown of Nile green chiffon velvet, with hat to match, and carried roses. Anthony Alexander, of Monaco, was his brother's best man. The wedding music was played by Mrs. John Aldisert, and "Ave Maria" sung by Anthony Peluso, brother of the bride. After a dinner for the families, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander left by motor for an eastern trip, and will be at home after October 15 in Paterson, N. J.

DESIGNERS DECREE WHITE FOR EVENING WEAR THIS WINTER

Afternoon Frocks Offer Many Features

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 3. — Dark nights should be light next winter, judging by the extraordinary amount of white evening dresses and wraps, both shown and sold by the leading houses this season. Each establishment has striven to give its own interpretation of the ideal evening outfit, and in most cases the result has been a lovely white creation, displaying at once, both beauty and an individual regard for the most important characteristics of the mode. A slender graceful woman with a clear complexion, and an eye for the minor as well as the essential points of careful grooming, looks her best in white. Many women have discovered that white is a generous ally that, however, admits of no compromise. Unless everything else is in keeping, white can make one look very indifferent, even dowdy, but given proper consideration and attention, it can make of any one of us a queen for a night.

AFTERNOON frocks continue to offer many delightful features, and they loom in increasing importance on the horizon of fashion. Presented today is a charming afternoon dress that bears the unmistakable stamp of Patou. It is of printed crepe. The close lines of the long bodice are relieved by a grouping of many soft folds in the material at the natural waistline, a note quite reminiscent of the basque of the early nineties. Fulness is obtained in the skirt by laying in a cluster of godets at the center of the front. Pipings in zig-zag pattern and many tiny buttons are details that contribute their quota of interesting embellishment. Like all the frocks from this house shown at the recent "opening," the skirt is well below the knee, at least five or six inches.

AN evening dress of white, with a high waistline, and your choice coincides with the established mode of the moment. Both of these essentials are to be found in the lovely frock from Madeline here depicted. The softly bloused bodice is of sheer white tulle of a rather heavy net-like texture, with appliques of white chiffon and beaded motifs in strass and crystal. The youthfully draped skirt is of white panne velvet with bead and strass embroidery on the yoke and a knot of velvet at the side. The hemline is slightly longer in front and at the left side.

WOMAN CHECK PASSER SOUGHT

Eastern hotels were being watched today for a woman who passed one worthless check for $50 here and disappeared after failing in two other hotels.

Registering Wednesday at the William Penn, Pittsburgher and Roosevelt Hotels under the name of Dora Metcalfe, of Chicago, the woman disappeared yesterday afternoon when word reachd here from Detroit that she was wanted there on a bad-check charge.

She presented a certified check at the Roosevelt Hotel late Wednesday. The cashier hesitated in giving the money, but due to the hour and impossibility of checking on the Chicago bank, he cashed the check. The woman attempted the same trick at other hotels yesterday, but each delayed cashing the checks until calling Chicago. The woman, described as modestly dressed and aged about 35 years, disappeared. Three empty suitcases were found at the hotels.

CAPONE PAROLE PLEA DENIED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—"Scarface Al" Capone's attempt to secure his freedom was frustrated again today when his application for a parole was refused. The petition was rejected by Judge John E. Walsh of municipal court for "lack of jurisdiction."

The petition of the Chicago racketeer's bodyguard, Frank Cline, also was dismissed. Both men are serving sentences of one year each in the eastern penitentiary for carrying concealed deadly weapons.

The parole petitions were filed on the grounds both had been punished sufficiently.

Attorneys for the convicts announced they would carry the cases to the state board of pardons at the next meeting.

Several weeks ago director of Public Safety L. B. Schofield revealed Capone had offered $50,000 to any attorney who obtained his freedom before his jail term expires.

Woman Wants New Name to Fool Kin

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. Agnes Hiller, of Minneapolis, has so many hungry relatives with large families who take advantage of her well stocked larder that she has gone to court in an effort to get away from them.

The means she seeks is to change her name to Agnes Sullivan and then to move to a new home. She petitioned the District Court here to grant the change. With the new name, she hoped to throw all the uncles, aunts and cousins off the scent of the pantry, and thus enable her better to provide for her three children. She is a widow.

The hearing was continued until next week.

BOY'S KIDNAPER ELUDES SEARCH

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Searchers for five-year-old Jackie Thompson, missing since late Monday, were up against a blank wall today. No trace of the child or the men who are believed to have kidnaped him has been discovered after more than three days police investigation.

Three shots fired in the neighborhood of the Thompson home sent detectives stationed there on a search of the vicinity last night. No explanation for the shots could be offered.

Henry S. Thompson, father of the missing child, assured police yesterday that he had received no word from his son's captors.

Stewart Leaves $50,000 Estate

Alexander Stewart, burgess of Emsworth, asphyxiated by carbon monoxide in his garage last week, left an estate estimated at $50,000 by his will filed for probate today. The bulk of it goes to a nephew, James M. Stewart, and his wife, Agnes Stewart, of 206 Allegheny avenue, Emsworth, after numerous small bequests to nieces and nephews. James M. Stewart is named executor.

CHINA'S REVOLT CAUSES FEAR

LONDON, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—A dispatch from Shanghai sent to the Daily Mail by Sir Percival Phillips, says that the revolt against the Nationalist government at Nanking, which began with the defection of Gen. Chang Fak-Wei's "Ironsides," has become a formidable military movement which fills the government with deep anxiety.

The Ironsides, who were 30,000 strong when they left Ichang, have been doubled by the accretion of recruits on their march to Paokin, 80 miles from the northern frontier of the Province of Kwangsi. They are reported as marching southward with unusual speed, intending to capture Canton and proclaim it as the capital of an independent Left Wing government.

Kwangsi troops, who sympathize with the Left Wing movement, but seek a predominant share of the military prestige, are reported in the dispatch as pushing toward Canton independently.

In response to frantic appeals from Nationalist leaders in the threatened city, Nanking has sent reinforcements which were officially stated to number 30,000, but which actually do not exceed 16,000.

Charlotte Webster Granted Divorce

SEATTLE, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. Charlotte Webster, the former Charlotte "Polly" Baldwin, social favorite of Honolulu, has been granted a divorce from Frank G. Webster II, New York, nephew of E. S. Webster, of the Stone & Webster Co., eastern utilities operators. Neither principal was in court when the decree was granted yesterday. Mrs. Webster based her suit for divorce on "temperamental incompatibility."

Train Hits Trolley; Operator Unhurt

SHARON, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—A trolley car was struck by a Pittsburgh and Lake Erie train at a crossing here today and the car operator, Leo Knott, the only occupant of the trolley, escaped with a severe shaking up. The impact sent the trolley across the street, knocking down a light standard and crossing sign, and demolishing a display window in a clothing store.

High Wind Halts Venango Traffic

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 4.—Heaviest rainfall reported in a period of 16 hours this year deluged this section, amounting to 2.75 inches Observer R. A. Fergus reported. Local streams are rising slowly. Motor traffic was practically at a standstill late yesterday when a 40-mile wind drove the rain in great sweeps.

Berlin Broadcast Heard at Radio Show Here

Pittsburgh and Berlin held a long distance radio conversation last night for the benefit of visitors at the Pittsburgh Radio Show.

KDKA broadcast a portion of the evening's entertainment especially for listeners in Germany and later the powerful government station in Berlin came back with a special greeting for the Pittsburgh Radio Show.

Spoken in broken English the message was "Greetings to the Pittsburgh Radio Show. Good luck."

This was followed by half an hour of operatic excerpts.

The program was received at East Pittsburgh on 31.3 meters and rebroadcast by KDKA on the regular wavelength of 305.9 meters.

Mrs. Gann Hurries East for State Functions

TOPEKA, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Cutting short her visit to relatives and friends here, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice President Charles Curtis and his official hostess, departed last night for Washington, presumably to attend social functions to be held there honoring Premier Ramsay MacDonald.

Mrs. Gann left at 6:20 p. m. on the Santa Fe Railroad's California Limited train for Chicago. She is scheduled to arrive in Washington Saturday morning.

The early departure of the Vice President's sister forced her to cancel a number of social engagements at affairs planned in her honor by hostesses in Topeka and in Kansas City, Kan.

BISHOP MURRAY DIES AT ALTAR

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Bishop John Gardner Murray, of Baltimore, head of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, died here yesterday while presiding over a meeting of the House of Bishops. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy and died before his wife, who was at a hoeel only a few blocks away, could be summoned. He was 72 years old.

Mrs Murray was the only member of the family in Atlantic City. She hurried to the church, but reached there only after Dr. M. K. Elmer, a passerby, and Robert McDare, a city hospital interne, had pronounced her husband dead.

The body, clad in the robe of the bishop's office, lay directly before the altar, head nearest the cross. Mrs. Murray protested her husband was not dead and pleaded with those about her to "get a doctor."

The ambulance was returned from the hospital and the interne made a new examination which brought a repetition of his previous pronouncement.

Within two hours of the Bishop's death the house met in special session in the same church on call of Bishop William Andrew Leonard, of Ohio, senior member, and set November 13, in Washington, as the date for the election of a new head to serve until the next general convention. This takes place in two years.

Bishop Murray came here Friday. He was said to be a sufferer from diabetes, but he had complained of no serious discomfort during the week.

Bishop William T. Manning, of the diocese of New York, said:

"The death of Bishop Murray is an inexpressible shock and grief to the whole church. He was beloved and honored by all, the whole church will feel his loss."

Titled Woman Joins Count Wed by Proxy

KITZBUEHEL, Austria, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Married by proxy, Countess Hanna Thun-Hohenstein, 21, daughter of Count Leo Thun-Hohenstein, is on her way to join her husband, Rufolf Von Dueckelmann, in Sumatra. They met a year ago during his holiday in Austria. He has been employed since the war, on tobacco plantations. He could not obtain leave to return home for the wedding, and his place as bridegroom was taken by the brother of the bride, Count Leo Thun-Hohenstein, Jr.

Airship Christenend By Mrs. Hoover

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover yesterday afternoon christened the commodore ship "Buenos Aires," of the air transport to be maintained by the Transcontinental Air Transport Corporation, in the New York-Rio De Janeiro-Buenos Aires service. The christening took place at the U. S. Naval Air Station at Anacostia.

Candidate Out On 'Kill Wets' Platform

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—James H. Kirby, of Petersburg, has announced his candidacy for Democratic nomination for United States senator on a platform which calls for outlawing high-heeled shoes for women and for a "shoot-to-kill" enforcement of the prohibition law.

Kirby, a member of the fiftieth Illinois general assembly and a Democratic candidate for United States senator in 1926 against Col. Frank L. Smith, has been active for years in an effort to limit the height of heels on women's shoes.

In connection with prohibition law enforcement, Kirby said he would seek authorization for officers to "shoot to kill to enforce this law." "It will be necessary," he added, "to kill somebody—and plenty of them."

Washington Has Record Rainfall

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—With more than 3.32 inches of rain falling during a 24-hour period, a record that has stood in Washington since 1916 was bettered. The average rainfall during October over a period of years is 3.05 inches.

TRAIN DERAILED, 21 INJURED

STANFORD, Ky., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Twenty-one persons were injured, one seriously, in an unusual train wreck on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Cedar Creek Hill, eight miles from here, early today.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail, which was shattered by the train. Five cars left the track and were dragged 255 yards. One of them struck a bridge abutment and all broke away from the engine and turned over. The abutment saved the cars from a plunge into Cedar Creek.

Russell Thompson, Louisville, conductor, was the only person seriously injured. Among the other injured were W. M. Brem, Horton, Kan.; Mrs. Myrtle Lasorce, Waterloo, Ia., and C. T. Thelpas, La Salle, Ill.

Ann Marie Learns Why Neal Wanted Secret Engagement

CHAPTER XLIII.

POOR little Jeanie, thought Ann Marie. . . .Of course she wanted a decent kind of a wedding when she was marrying into the rich Walters family!. . . .Of course she wanted a white satin altar and chicken sandwiches tied up with white satin ribbon and a wedding cake!

"And she's going to have them, too!" Ann Marie promised herself. "That town is never going to high-hat her because she's poor! Not while I have a dollar in the bank."

She sat down at the table and wrote a check for Jeanie for $165—almost every dollar that she had.

She was blotting it when she heard someone knocking on Neal's door on the other side of the wall. The sound came clearly through the thin walls.

Then, after a moment, the knock came on her own door. Someone rattled the door-handle.

"Anybody at home?" It was Leota Ingram's hard voice. "You in there, Ann Marie?"

Ann Marie opened the door.

"Isn't Neal back yet?" Leota asked, coming into the room and flopping down upon the day-bed. "I saw him the day before he left town and he said he'd be gone about two weeks . . . He's been gone three."

"He told me he'd be gone only a week," Ann Marie answered her. "But he was going to get a lot of painting done while he was away—and I don't suppose he'll start back until he's finished it."

Leota snickered. "Him and his painting!" she said scornfully. "You oughtta hear what the Terrill boys and some of the rest of the guys that draws for the magazines has to say about his pictures!—They say he couldn't paint signboards for a living! Well, he may be a wet-smack as an artist—but, say, ain't he a big shot for looks? Best looking guy this side of Sap's Crossroads, I always tell him."

She opened a pink enamel cigaret case, took out a fag and began to smoke.

"I hear he's chasing Alice now," she went on, blowing smoke through her nostrils. "I had a letter from one of my girl friends back home and that's what she told me . . . And, sa-a-ay, he better be careful not to start anything with her, down there, or he's going to get into plenty of trouble with me!"

She tapped herself on the chest to show that she was talking about herself.

"He may think he's having himself a swell time down there," her brassy voice ran on like a stream of molten metal, "but I'm going down, myself, tomorrow, and have a little talk with him—and with Alice. She's gotta understan' that he belongs to me!"

"To you?" asked Ann Marie.

Leota nodded, her gray eyes shining wickedly under her gray straw hat.

"To me—and I got letters of his to prove it!" she said and got up to go. "I ain't a-going to talk about it now to nobody. But just remember this—your brother, Howdy, may have made a fool of me, but no other man is ever going to!"

Her eyes fell on Jeanie's check, where it lay on the table.

Leota picked up the check, studied it, and then threw it down on the table.

"While you're passin' out checks," she said, giving Ann Marie a tight-lipped sarcastic smile, "you might pay me the rest of that two hundred you promised me for leavin' Howdy alone."

"I will pay it to you—but not right now," Ann Marie answered. "Right now I haven't very much, and my sister's going to be married to Mr. Walters in June—"

"Oh, don't call him 'Mr. Walters' to me!" And Leota gave a hard scornful laugh. "I know him better'n you'll ever know him! I've been going' around, off and on, with Brooke Walters for years, just like I went around with Howdy and a lot of other boys back home."

She took a powder puff out of her handbag and ran it over her face.

"Oh, you knew it probably," she added. "So wipe that mamma-what-is-beer expression off your face! You ain't shocked—You know I'm just as good as any of the rest of the girls back home! They all drink and smoke and mug with the boys, just like I do. Well, goo' by!"

And she was gone without even waiting to hear Ann Marie's low "Goodby."

The air in the room reeked with the strong cheap perfume she used. It was blue with the smoke of her cigarets, and the sound of her voice seemed to hang in it long after she had gone, like poisonous vapor.

"He belongs to me—and I got letters to prove it," she had said.

And: "He's chasing Alice around down there—"

Ann Marie sat, staring out of the windows with unseeing eyes for a long time after she was gone . . . After all, Leota hadn't told her anything that she didn't know about Neal.

And yet it came as a shock to know that Leota had letters of his that bound him to her.

"But he's bound to me, too. He's engaged to me—only nobody knows it," she said to herself.

It was at that moment that she knew, all at once, the reason why Neal hadn't wanted to have the news of his engagement printed in the paper back home!—Because he was afraid Leota would see it and make trouble for him. Leota had letters of his—Love letters, no doubt.

"I seem to have fallen for one of these 'great lovers,'" said Ann Marie to herself. "One of these men that all women fall in love with—and who fall in love with all women."

He came home the next night at 9 o'clock.

She had gone into his flat to open the windows for a few minutes to air it. And when she turned around from them he was standing in the doorway watching her.

"Well, you surprise me by being here all alone!" was what he said to her. "I thought sure you'd be two-timing me and running out with Jim Goodwin the minute my back was turned."

Ann Marie shook her head slowly, her eyes dancing like pools of blue-black water under the electric light.

"No—I'm not like you," she said quietly and clearly. "When I'm in love, I'm faithful to the person I love."

He flushed and looked embarrassed.

"That doggoned Leota's been here and seen you, hasn't she?" he asked. "She's been making all kinds of trouble with Alice. She went to see her this morning, and told her the wildest bunch of stories about me!—I got out of town before she could find me!"

So that was why he was here . . . Because Leota Ingram had made things too hot for him back home.

"Neal," Ann Marie said, "you were very much in love with Leota this winter before I came here, weren't you?"

To her surprise he nodded. She had expected him to tell her a lie about Leota.

"Oh, sure, in a way," he confessed in a shame-faced manner. "She's awfully pretty and she shows a lot of pep all the time. Besides, she played me off the board—wrote to me, telephoned me, came up here to see me—"

He laughed. "I feel like a fool, talking this way," he said.

He set down his two suitcases and took off his coat.

"Gosh it's hot—got anything cold to drink?" he asked. "Get me a pillow from my bed, will you? I'm going to lie down right here where there's a breeze."

He pushed the davenport over to the window and stretched himself out on it. Ann Marie brought him a glass of water and put a pillow under his head.

He put his hand up and caught her by the wrist.

"I love you for this sort of thing," he said, pressing her cool little palm against his forehead. "A man loves different women for different things, Baby! And you're the kind that a man would always want to come home to. You know what I mean?—Supper waiting, armchair and evening paper waiting, everything peaceful and quiet and cozy!—And the sweetest little wife in the world waiting too! That's you, Ann Marie!"

Ann Marie found herself staring at the green-glass cocktail shaker, clean and shining in its place on the mantel-shelf just above her head . . . What about the cocktail shaker, she wondered. Would that have to be waiting, too, filled to the brim with gin and orange juice?

"I wish I had a cocktail," Neal startled her by saying.

She pretended that she did not hear him.

"And when you wanted some excitement, Neal," she asked thoughtfully, "what would you do with the sweet little home-loving wife? Would you take her with you on your thrill-hunt or would you leave her at home? Would you hunt up someone like Leota when you needed excitement?"

He laughed.

"I don't know what a married man does do when he gets flapper-fever," he said carelessly. "We'll have to settle all that when we're married, eh, Baby?—But you'd always know I loved you, no matter what I did.

That night Ann Marie lay wide-awake, gazing into the darkness of her bedroom for a long time.

She wondered how a wife would feel, sitting alone at home, waiting for a husband who was having an attack of "flapper fever."

"I guess I'd just die of jealousy," she decided at last.

Mary Reconsiders Her Threat to Break Engagement

MARY was terribly in earnest in her refusal to go on with her betrothal to Prince Georges or to see the young heir to the throne of Trees before he should have recovered sufficiently to hear her decision. But I was equally determined not to permit a course of action on her part which would completely upset the elaborate plans which we had made for the painless and successful disillusionment of our royal visitors with their roseate romances, and their safe return to their own countries. There was Noel's future to be considered also. I was sure that she did not realize the almost fanatical attitude of Philip Veritzen toward the "international romances."

I was surprised—and pleased—at one part of the impetuous tirade which she had just launched at me. This was her statement that Georges wouldn't be so keen about marrying her if he should suddenly become King of Trees, that he would realize Princess Olina was much better fitted for the job than she. It gave me the cue to answer her ultimatum also, and put off for a minute or two my use of the only weapon of argument which I knew would intimidate her.

"Yes, Mary," I said, smiling, "my imagination gives me a very vivid picture of the upset decorum of the court of Trees, if you chose to give them a glimpse of the temperamental modern young American beneath the mask of queenly dignity. But I have no intention of permitting things to go that far."

"They'll go no further than they are this second," Mary retorted wilfully—"not so far—for they're going backward from now on."

I took my hand from hers, and rose to my feet, my face wearing a stern mask which I hoped was not slipping.

"Very well, Mary," I said. "I cannot compel you to do anything. But I think you should think very seriously before you commit yourself to a course which may ruin Noel's future."

I turned my back and walked toward the door. But I had taken only a step or two before Mary's terrified cry reached my ears.

"Oh! come back quickly, Auntie Modge. Tell me what you mean. I don't know. I can't understand."

"No, you don't, and you can't," I told her unsmilingly. "But, will you listen quietly, and not decide your course until you hear all that I have to say?"

"Oh! yes, yes," she said earnestly. "Tell me, tell me!"

I sat down again and spoke measuredly, with my eyes holding hers.

"You know, no one better," I began, "how set Philip Veritzen is on this marriage of Noel's to Princess Olina. He has a reason for his obsession—it is nothing else—which I cannot tell you now, but which you no doubt will sometime learn from Noel. And, of course, you and I have not forgotten the terms he made with you for overlooking the episode of the masked dancer and taking you back as his dramatic protege."

A crimson flush traveled from Mary's throat to her forehead and then receded, while her eyes betrayed her acknowledgment of my thrust.

"We need not dwell upon Philip Veritzen's implacable determination to disinherit Noel if the engagement to Olina did not materialize, but it is not something to be taken lightly. To circumvent it, as Noel's friends are determined to do, will take adroit planning which must not be spoiled by impulsive and ill-advised acts."

Mary's eyes opened wide at my reference to Noel's friends, but she made no comment, and I went on hurriedly.

"I honored you for your heroic attempt to save money so that you and Noel might be independent of his father, but I did not tell you—for there was no need then—that your plan would not help, for Noel's self-respect must have his financial freedom worked out by himself instead of by anyone else. He has such a plan which I am going to outline to you."

Briefly, while Mary listened with shining eyes, I told her of Noel's identity as the gifted young composer, Boris Raminoff, and of the musical drama of which I was to write the lyrics, and Harry Underwood to find a producer.

"Until that time," I said sternly, "or until Georges and Olina tire of these romances themselves, these betrothals must stand, so that Philip Veritzen will have no possible complaint against either Noel or yourself. Do you see this?"

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN.

Marital Blessings

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When congratulating a bride and bridegroom at a wedding reception, what should one say to each?

2. Is it improper for a young man to wear street clothes when the girl dresses formal? He intends wearing a dark suit.

3. Will you please comment on my writing and my stationery?

A. B. C. D.

THE fundamental thing to remember is that "Best wishes for your happiness," or "Every good wish for your happiness" is always correct to say to the bride and "Congratulations" is always correct for the groom. What we add to these phrases depends on the degree of friendship that we have with each.

2. Yes. Each should be dressed in the same degree of formality.

3. Your handwriting is excellent and most interesting. It is full of character, showing an unusual person. And, although I think that your letter-paper is a bit dark in shade, I like it. It is a good size for your writing.

Wedding Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Please tell me about sending a wedding gift to a bride-to-be. How should it be addressed and how long before the wedding date should it be sent?

R. J.

THE gift should be sent to the bride, addressed to her at her home, and should be sent about two weeks or so before the date set for the wedding. This gives her time to write her thank-you note before the busy days just before the wedding.

Wedding Guest's Attire

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. At an afternoon wedding—2 to 6 o'clock—what kind of dress is appropriate for a woman guest when the bride wears a veil? Should it have long sleeves or none at all?

2. Is a hat necessary?

3. What kind of suit should a man guest wear? If a plain business suit is all right, should it be dark, or a grayish mixture in place? Or should a tuxedo be worn? The wedding will take place at a community house with just a "sweets" table after the ceremony.

G. V.

A LONG-SLEEVED afternoon dress, or an ensemble is correct.

2. Yes.

3. Either formal day attire—cutaway coat and dark striped trousers—or a short dark coat and striped trousers, or dark blue business suit. The tuxedo suit is not correct in the daytime, and is only correct in the evening when the occasion is informal.

Eat a Salad

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A young man took my girl friend and me to a restaurant after the theatre. We both ordered fruit salad. She ate her salad directly from the bowl in which it was served. I served myself several small portions from the bowl onto my plate, which was placed under the bowl. Please tell me which of us did the correct thing.

MRS. R. A.

YOU did.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Game of Life.

THE great problem that we moderns seem to be vainly trying to solve is how to eat our cake, and have it, too.

HELEN ROWLAND

How to live to a ripe old age, and still be young. How to spend all our money and still be rich. How to be married, and still be free and independent. How to "beat the game!" But, who ever DID "beat the game?"

It can't be done—so why worry?

If you marry, you miss your precious independence—and all the loneliness that goes with it. And if you don't marry, you miss companionship and home and children—and all the trials and heartaches that come with them.

If you live in the city, you're always longing for the oxygen or the flowers or the friendliness of real neighbors and the chance to keep pets. And if you live in the country, you're always missing the last train and yearning for the lights and the jazz and the excitement of the city.

* * *

If you have lots of friends, you're going to be bored or interrupted or annoyed most of the time—and if you don't keep up with the crowd, you're going to be alone and sorry for yourself most of the time.

* * *

If you divorce your husband, you're going to have to play a lone hand or else accommodate yourself to the faults and failings of another one. And, if you don't divorce him, you've got to learn to be happy with him, by being happy WITHOUT him most of the time, anyway.

* * *

If you marry for money, you're going to miss the dalliance of young love in a cottage—and if you marry for love, you may miss the cottage and have to find your dalliance in a job downtown and a kitchenette uptown.

If you squeeze all the juice out of the orange of life while you're young, you'll be rheumatic and cynical and sorry when you're old; and if you pass up all the temptations and good times when you're 20, you're likely to regret it and blossom into a gay old fool at 50.

If you live in the East, you miss the expansive charms of the plains and the mountains—and if you live in the West, you miss the expensive charms of Broadway and Fifth avenue.

If you kiss the woman you WANT to kiss, you may find yourself tangled up in marriage before you know it. And, if you refrain from kissing her, you probably get yourself tangled up in marriage with somebody you DON'T enjoy kissing.

If you marry in haste, you may repent at leisure, you will probably repent, anyhow.

* * *

Fate is bound to GET you in the end! So, what's the use dodging a taxicab—only to fall under a truck?

You can't beat the GAME! You can't get more out of life than there is IN it! So why worry!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, October 5.

THE lunar aspects for this day are not of a very powerful nature, according to general interpretations. They point to a fairly routine order of events, with business and employment holding their own. The personal interests are smooth. But with the predominance of the orb of intrigue and mystery, Neptune, in mutual aspect with Mars, Venus and Mercury, it is quite likely that this equanimity may be disturbed, and in a subtle and baffling manner. It is probable that some secret enmity may be "smoked out," or that a sinister and long-smouldering situation may come to a violent eruption. Precaution from all manner of danger or attack is advised.

Those whose birthday it is may find things generally running along in accustomed grooves, until a gesture of menace or peril suddenly seems to issue from nowhere. There is hint of singular or mysterious activity, which it may be well to be prepared for. It may be an assault on the reputation or even the person, a subtle, sly attack.

A child born on this day may be well equipped for success or business or employment, but may invite sinister attacks by its own ungoverned passions.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Balanced Diet Best for Average Person

RECENTLY I read an interesting survey of what has been learned from the experiment made by Stefansson and Anderson, the Arctic explorers. In 1918 they consented to go on an exclusive meat diet for one year in order that a study might be made of the effect of such a diet upon health.

DR. COPELAND

It was no hardship for these men to undertake such a test. Stefansson, for seven years in the Arctic had lived exclusively on meat, fish and fat. Anderson, too, was a willing subject.

The end of the year found these men in excellent health. Their weight remained practically normal. Their teeth showed no deterioration. All the other functions were performed normally.

You will ask why it was that these men were on an exclusive meat diet and showed no bad effects.

In the first place, they were physically fit when the experiment began. They led a sedentary life during the entire period. Groups of doctors watched them constantly to note, and control any unfavorable change in their condition. They were exceptional subjects for such a test.

There are many persons, men especially, who eat large quantities of meat. In fact often they eat meat three times a day. For the average individual this is a bad practice. The system of the average person cannot take care of such a diet and have the functions remain normal. There is almost certain to be a disturbance of the kidneys, liver or intestines—or all three.

Every man, woman and child should have a balanced diet, a varied diet. Meat, vegetables, fruits, liquids, some sweets—all have their value. But taken to excess, any one of these may cause some upset difficult to correct.

It is well for us all that occasionally such men as Stefansson and Anderson undergo these experiments. Take any two men at random and attempt such an experiment—the result might be entirely different. It might be shown that their systems could not stand such a diet.

The test has this value—it shows that the popular clamor against meat eating is not well founded. With a healthy body to begin with, meat alone will not produce disease. It is after disease has arrived that excessive meat eating will do its harm.

Answers to Health Queries

EDW. C. Q.—Is it wise for a man forty-five to have an operation for hernia?

A.—He must be governed by the advice of the surgeon who has personally examined him.

M. E. K. Q.—I am twenty-two years old, five feet three inches tall, weight 125 pounds. Am I over weight?

A.—You should weigh about 123 pounds for your age and height.

E. L. R. Q.—What do you advise for bunions? 2. How much should a girl aged 19, 5 feet 4 inches tall weigh? 3. What tonic do you advise for gaining weight?

A.—Wearing a broad-toed shoe will relieve the trouble in some instances, while in others placing a pad of cotton between the great toe and the second toe to keep the great toe straight will bring about results. Sometimes an operation is necessary to cure. 2. She should weigh about 124 pounds. 3. Take cod liver oil after meals.

MISS G. H. P. Q.—What would cause excessive sneezing in the morning, noon and night this time of the year?

A.—It may be that some sort of obstruction in the nasal passage is responsible for this condition. It would be wise to see a nose specialist.

THANK YOU. Q.—Occasionally during the warm weather I find water blisters on the soles of my feet which itch until they are broken—my feet are very tender and I walk quite a bit but am not on my feet all day—is this anything serious?

A.—Probably eczema—there is nothing to worry about. Simple food and regular elimination should help to clear up the trouble.

D. P. R. Q.—How can I reduce my weight?

A.—Eat very sparingly of starches, sugars and fats. Get regular systematic exercise. A gradual reduction in the amount of food consumed, with the regular exercise will work wonders in most cases.

* * *

L. M. Q.—What causes shortness of breath, especially after eating? What causes food to sour in the stomach and cause belching?

A.—This may be due to indigestion. 2. This is probably due to hyperacidity, caused by faulty diet and poor elimination.

When BABIES are upset

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

HIGHLAND, SHANNOPIN WOMEN IN TITLE PLAY

W. G. A. NAMES MRS. SLOAN AS NEXT PREXY

BY JERN SWARTSFAGER.

Woman of the Highland and Shannopin Country clubs, neighborly rivals, have decided to follow the example set by their male fellow clubmates, and today will play the first 18-hole match of a 36-hole affair to decide the supremacy between the clubs. The four best players from each club are battling over the Highland Country Club links this morning in the first round; next week they will play at Shannopin.

The splendid fraternal spirit that has sprung up between the clubs following the Grogan Cup matches will be recalled. In that event each clubs turns out en masse for a divided 36-hole team match. It is anticipated that the competition for the women's championship of the clubs which are located not more than a stone's throw apart, will further that spirit.

Thomas Thomas has donated four beautiful prizes for the women's title play which started this morning at 10:30.

MRS. SLOAN NOMINATED

Mrs. F. M. Sloan, of the Edgewood Country Club, has been nominated to succeed Mrs. George S. Jenks, of the Oakmont Country Club, as president of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania, which is closing a splendid year. Her formal election will follow the nomination at the annual meeting of the body to be held in the Pittsburgh Field Club at 10 o'clock in the morning one week from today. Mrs. C. J. Wendt, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, Mrs. Hugh C. Anderson, of the Longue Vue Club, and Mrs. L. H. Burnett, of the Country Club of Pittsburgh, have been nominated as vice-presidents. Miss Anna Wood, of the Stanton Heights Golf Club, will be the treasurer, and Mrs. George L. Hayes, of Oakmont, will remain as secretary.

The executive committee of the new regime will include Mrs. William H. Duff, II, of Oakmont; Mrs. Chester H. Lehman, of Westmoreland; Mrs. W. L. Langfitt, of Highland, Mrs. D. A. Garber, of Montour Heights and Stanton Heights, and Mrs. Cecil Anderson, of the Pittsburgh Field Club.

MRS. IRWIN SELECTED

Mrs. J. M. Irwin of Edgewood, has been selected as chairman of the new nominating committee, and associated with her will be Mrs. J. M. Schoonmaker, of Allegheny, Mrs. Carl Van der Voort, of Shannopin; Mrs. James C. Croxton, of Stanton Heights, and Mrs. William C. Fownes, Jr., of Oakmont. Mrs. J. Raymond Price, of Oakmont, is chairman of the present nominating committee.

The chairman of the golf committee of all affiliated clubs is expected to attend the annual meeting, bringing with her two delegates, to be appointed by her. Players with handicaps of 30 and under are eligible to participate in the tourney to be held in conjunction with the meeting. Tea will be served after the tourney.

PLAY CORRY

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 4.—With an even break in its grid schedule so far, Franklin High's team plans to stage a comeback at Corry tomorrow. Several stars are on the injured list.

Ticket Scalpers Must Give U. S. 'Cut'

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—A corps of 30 special detectives from the internal revenue departmen will patrol the "Loop" district here to see that the government gets its legal due on all world series tickets sold, it was announced today.

Scalpers who neglect to keep a proper record of their sales are subject to a fine of $100 and costs, it was announced by Mrs. Myrtle Blacklidge, collector.

The investigators will take up their duties now and continue until the series is completed.

Dayton-Detroit U. To Battle Tonight

DAYTON, O., Oct. 4.—The University of Dayton Red Devil band will go 50 strong, bedecked in the new red and blue uniforms, to Detroit U. for the game tonight.

In connection with the band will be a trainload of students and rooters numbering around 500 besides numerous others making the trip in autos, carriages, bicycles or what have you.

A'S ADVERTISE REGRETS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—(INS.)—Regret that all the fans who clamored for tickets to the world series games here between the Athletics and Cubs could not be accommodated in Shibe Park was expressed today in paid advertisements addressed to "Philadelphia baseball patrons," published in local newspapers over the signatures of Thomas S. Shibe, president; John D. Shibe, vice president, and Connie Mack, treasurer and manager of the Athletics baseball club.

"The tickets for the games have been distributed as fairly as we could arrange," the statement said. "We recognize there will be a number of disappointed fans. Try as we might, however, we could not avoid it. A grandstand built to accommodate 35,000 spectators cannot be made to seat the 200,000 from whom requests for tickets were received."

SCALPERS ACTIVE

Warning also was made asking fans not to deal with ticket scalpers.

Despite the warning, however, "mushroom" ticket offices sprang up over-night. All boasted gaudy signs proclaiming "world series tickets bought and sold." Prospective buyers were told that the supply of tickets had not yet been obtained, but orders would be taken at prices ranging from $25 to $100. Prices of from $5 to $100 were offered holders of slips entitling them to buy tickets at the box office sales starting at Shibe Park today.

Meanwhile from business houses, politicians, office holders and other disappointed fans, came angry wails of denunciation of Shibe Park managements and charges of discrimination in the sale of the prized pasteboards. The fans were especially bitter against the Shibe brothers.

HOUSEHOLDERS IN COURT

A test case seeking to restrain the police department and other city bureaus from interfering with householders on North Twentieth street from selling seats on their housetops to view the world series games began in common pleas court this afternoon. Two residents of 2745 North Twentieth street asked a preliminary injunction to restrain the police from molesting them or their guests on their housetops.

Catholic High Off For Cumberland

Coach Dick Schrading and 22 members of the Central Catholic High School football team will leave this afternoon for Cumberland, Maryland, where they will play the LaSalle High School Saturday.

The Maryland school, champion of the state, will be the biggest test of the season for the Catholics.

WILKINSBURG FACES TEST

Elmer Carroll's Wilkinsburg High School football team has been drilling hard throughout the week in preparation for its tilt tomorrow with Tarentum High at Wilkinsburg. Defeating Avalon in the opener, Wilkinsburg showed power, but lacked the smooth offensive that will be needed against Younkin's charges.

Carroll may make several changes in his starting lineup and will put a fast, though inexperienced, team on the field against the 1928 runners-up for the league title. Tarentum will bring a well-rounded outfit to the Holy City for the game, with a good overhead attack and plenty of beef in the backfield to push the ball along. Facing their first test of the year, Carroll's charges are in good physical shape for the game.

The ticket sale indicates a capacity crowd, and interest both in Wilkinsburg and Tarentum is at fever heat.

Sons of Profs On State's Grid Team

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 4.—Sons of four Penn State professors hold down berths on the State College High School eleven while President Hetzel's son is center on the second team.

Professors thus represented are C. F. Noll, T. W. Mason, G. R. Green and E. J. Kaulfuss, whose sons play right halfback, quarterback, fullback and left halfback, respectively.

This team tied its Alumni, 6-6, in a fast game played September 28.

St. Vincent's Ready For Edinboro Game

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 4.—Coach Crowe has his St. Vincent's football squad primed for the first home game of the season against Edenboro on the College Field tomorrow. It will start the game against the Teachers, Evancho, flashy little halfback, who was on the sick list a week ago, is back in uniform and will see service. Westfall's bad knee is still bothering him, and the chances are that the coach will make him lay out for another week.

Kirchner, first-string fullback, will also be out of the game due to an injury to his chest received in the game against the St. Bonas.

"They Shall be Smart!"

ADOLPH FINSTERWALD
President of the Fintex Corporation

The words printed above were Mr. Finsterwald's address to the board of directors of the Fintex Corporation! They represent the keynote of Fintex policy and the basis for Fintex success.

He was face to face with these men of business! Men who knew the magic of volume and large-scale production! Men who were masters of industrial power! Men who did things in a big way! And Adolph Finsterwald spoke thus:

"Gentlemen, you are wrong! You are missing the human side of it all!

"Yes, I know mass production, economic savings, modern methods are important; but, the clothes you make will be like so many stampings of metal if you ignore the man who wears them!

Cream of Tomato Soup.
Stewed Duck. Mashed Potatoes.
Green Peas. Roasted Apples.
Lettuce and Tomato Salad.
Raspberry Shortcake.

NOW is the time for all good housewives to think of Sunday dinner. How do you like the menu I've planned? I think it's especially nice because every housewife knows just how to go about preparing it.

The duck and the shortcake, however, are just a little unique, and so I'll tell you about them.

Prepare the duck in the same way you would cut up a chicken for fricaseeing.

Lay two or three very thin slices of bacon on the bottom of the stewpan and put the pieces of duck on top, and stew slowly for one hour, covered closely. Then season with a teaspoon of salt, half a teaspoon each of black pepper, paprika, powdered sage and a chopped onion. Stew another half hour, or until the duck is tender. Stir up a large tablespoon of brown flour in a little water and add to the stew, draining off any excess fat. Let it boil up, and serve all together in one dish, accompanied with the green peas and roasted apples.

Raspberry jam shortcake is a perfect dessert for a cool day. Just try it, but be sure to have an abundance of it.

Three tablespoons raspberry jam, one cup cream, sweetened and stiffly beaten, and several layers of sponge cake. Fold the jam into cream and spread between layers and on top of cake. And after that the family will know exactly what to do.

Of course, if you prefer jam of another flavor, use it. All good cooks are mothers of invention, you know.

A SALMON LOAF makes an excellent luncheon dish; and, since Friday is proverbially Fish Day, you couldn't do better than to serve it this very day.

We don't, any of us, eat enough fish, and if Friday came three times a week instead of just the once, we'd all be infinitely better off, as far as our diet is concerned!

Our systems need the nutriment, the phosphorus, the mineral salts that are contained in fish; and many a case of incipient goitre owes its cure to the iodine content of fish.

The Salmon Loaf may be served either hot or cold. Remove the bones from the contents of a can of salmon. Mince with a silver fork. Add one cup of stale bread crumbs, two beaten eggs, and a half cup of milk. Season with one teaspoon of salt and one teaspoon lemon juice.

Put into well-greased molds and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. The loaf may be baked either in one loaf or in individual forms. Serve it with a cream sauce and buttered green peas, and garnish the fish with slices of lemon and sprigs of parsley.

COLD meats, all by themselves, are not very tempting, no matter how tender the meat, or how crisply brown its edges!

But lend the cold meat the piquancy of a good, well-seasoned relish, and you have a dish that would commend itself to anyone.

Now's the time to be about the business of putting up relishes. With the cooler weather making its appearance, Sunday roasts will be much more popular with the housewife, and Sunday roasts argue cold cuts sometime during the early part of the week.

THE uncooked ripe vegetable relishes are finding greater favor than they ever have before. Ripe Tomato Relish is a particularly good one, and here's an economy hint for you. When you prepare this relish save all the tomato juice for an appetizer, to be served ice-cold, before a meal, or save it for soup, if you prefer.

Here is the recipe for Ripe Tomato Relish:

One peck of ripe tomatoes, chopped and drained; three cupsful of chopped celery, six large chopped onions, six large sweet red peppers, also chopped. Two pounds of light brown sugar, one-half cupful of salt, two tablespoons of mustard seed, and two quarts of cider vinegar. To keep from two to three weeks, mix thoroughly and pack in

Builds Strong Bones and Solid Teeth

IT is a great joy to know that your children are developing firm, robust bodies, strong bones and solid teeth.

But it is an even greater joy to be sure that you are doing the things for your youngsters now that will help them to keep on being strong and sturdy.

See that they get plenty of sunshine, exercise and rest. And when they are hungry, give them wholesome, body-building food.

Give them Ralston . . . the cereal that supplies much of the vital nourishment children need to develop properly.

Ralston is whole wheat . . . Nature's perfect food . . . in its most wholesome and delicious form. Children love it because it has the zestful flavor that urges young "tummies" to eat heartily. Buy a package today.

This New Way of Fadeless Washing

This New Way of Cleansing

Stops Wash Tub Fading Regardless of Repeated Washings—And Cuts Washing Time in Half

MODERN day science has taken the fade danger out of home washing. Perfected a way that ends soap fade and ruining of fine things.

Not a soap—but a discovery that makes even ordinary soap safe. That makes even harsh hard water and ordinary household soap into a virtually NO-FADE combination.

You can wash the most exquisite things, often 50 times or more without noticeable fade or "soap-eat" wear. Can keep priceless table china safe from dishpan fade . . . indefinitely. And—cut your work time one-half or more. Women everywhere are flocking to it.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene. A scientific discovery that acts in two ways:

That takes the harshness out of so-called "hard" water; the hardness that makes extra rubbing and the superfluous use of strong soap necessary to get things white and clean.

That turns that harsh "hard" water INSTANTLY into water so soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the amount of soap you now use.

Then, due to bland cleansing qualities in itself, Climalene DISSOLVES all dirt and grime. And thus again cuts the amount of soap you use. And cuts washing time—either on board or in washing machine—50% or more. Consider what that means in saving wear and spoil.

10¢ packages (12 oz.)

CLIMALENE

You just add two tablespoons to a tub of water. That is all. Use the same soap you are in the habit of using. Then see for yourself the amazing results.

Laboratory Proved

To prove those points, we wash fine things all day long. French lingerie, for instance, we wash 40, 50 times with this preparation and strong soap or washing flakes. Even the most delicate colors do not fade.

We wash fine colored table linens up to 80 times—WITHOUT fade. We take gold-encrusted china of almost priceless value; and wash with strong soap hundreds of times. And never a sign of gold worn away.

We pay $5 for fine stockings of light tint color. Then TRY to fade them with repeated washings. And only when we fail in fading them does this amazing preparation go to you.

AND—it acts actually as a BEAUTIFIER to the hands. Never before have you seen a cleanser so gentle.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

SARDINES AND SALMON HEALTH GIVING FOODS

Sardines and Salmon are well worth while from the food standpoint. Vitamin D is found in all fish, and they contain proteins fully equal in nutritive value to those of any meat.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City.
United States Senator From New York.

MOST people think of sardines as a very odorous food of the fish variety. That ends the matter. Of course, sardines are a small fish of most excellent flavor.

They are well worth while from the food standpoint. Like most fish, they have proteins fully equal in nutritive value to those of any meat.

Perhaps it is not known in general that the body of the water from which the fish comes influences its flavor to some extent. Fish from clear, cold waters are the best, and salt water fish are most important because of their iodine content. Vitamin D is found in all fish.

Sardines are a species of herring and are found along the coast of North America, especially in the northern waters, and Europe. In the markets we have them fresh, salted and smoked. They are packed in oil and mustard.

IMPORTANT INDUSTRY

Fish canning, especially that of salmon and sardines, is a very important industry. Sardines are canned in oil, as well as herring and other small fish. After being cleaned the fish are cooked, and sterilized in oil. They are then packed in oil in tin cans, sealed, and again sterilized. Peanut or some other cheap oil is used in the original cooking.

The best grades of sardines are packed in olive oil, but other oils, such as cotton seed oil, are used also. The French canned sardines are perhaps the best in flavor, packed as they are in olive oil. But the American sardine is lower in price and just as good in food value.

MAKE GOOD SANDWICHES

Nutritious sandwiches may be made from canned sardines, combined with chopped egg, lettuce and mayonnaise dressing. Luncheon is often a hurry-up meal and this combination makes a very good and wholesome luncheon.

Children often like to make their own sandwiches at the table, and if the sardines are prepared with the egg beforehand, this saves some time, besides giving the children a part to do and some pleasure at the same time. I know one family where the children of the family, instead of being urged to eat, go to work in glee to make their own sandwiches.

Sauted sardines are quite delicious made from good sized, boneless sardines. No matter how they are served, sardines make very good appetizers for the dinner.

All fish may be regarded as health foods. If I had my way their consumption would be much greater.

Why doesn't this superlative coffee cost more?

IF coffee cost were always in proportion to coffee flavor, this fine old Southern blend would doubtless be the highest priced coffee in the 48 states. Why then is the price of Maxwell House Coffee so moderate?

Because Nature does not charge for flavor—and bountifully does she endow the rare and special blend which a young Southerner first served to his privileged friends long, long ago. Now, you can buy this famous blend at your grocer's; and when judicially you sip your first cupful, your own delighted tongue will tell you why Maxwell House has become the largest selling packaged coffee in the world.

a covered crock or jar. If the relish is to be kept for a longer period, mix it thoroughly and seal it in sterilized, pint jars.

FIVE quarts of a particularly spicy, hot relish are made by the following recipe:

One peck of ripe tomatoes, peeled and chopped; two cupsful chopped celery; six sweet peppers, both red and green, chopped; two cupsful of sweet onions, chopped; one cupful of grated horseradish; one cupful of mustard seed and one cupful of brown sugar; two-thirds of a cup of salt; two tablespoons of mixed spices; six cupsful of vinegar. Drain the tomatoes and mix with all of the other ingredients. Fill 10 pint jars, which have been sterilized, and seal.

You may think that five quarts of that relish is a lot, but I assure you that it will be so much in demand that you will probably have to repeat the recipe before very long.

I HAVE some delightful pineapple recipes, which I have gathered to pass along to you. Pineapple has the happy faculty of blending well with almost any combination of foods, and of adding zest and flavor to the dish it graces.

Pineapple Betty: Take a half of a medium-sized pineapple, a cup of stale bread crumbs, two tablespoons of butter, one-quarter cup of sugar, three-quarters cup of stale cake crumbs, two pineapple in quarter-inch slices and peel. Boil the sugar and water five minutes. Add the pineapple and cook until tender. Butter a baking pan, cover with the cake crumbs and the pineapple. Have crumbs for the top layer. Pour the juice over, and bake for 40 minutes. Serve with bake for 45 minutes. Serve with PINEAPPLE PUDDING—This recipe calls for canned pineapple, whereas the preceding one specifies the fresh pineapple. Cook a cup of rice until quite tender. When cool mix with a can of shredded pineapple and a pint of whipped cream. Sugar to taste. Serve in sherbet glasses, with a little mound of sweetened whipped cream on top.

PINEAPPLE DELIGHT—Dissolve a package of cherry gelatine in a pint of boiling water and put in a cold place to set. Two or three hours before serving, beat the gelatine into fine pieces, but don't let it foam. Whip a half cup of sweet cream and two tablespoons of sugar and five drops of vanilla and stir this mixture and two sliced bananas into the gelatine until thoroughly mixed. Chill and serve in sherbert glasses with a large teaspoon of pineapple preserve or rich pineapple juice over each glass.

PINEAPPLE BAVARIAN CREAM—Two tablespoons of gelatine soaked in half a cup of water, one cup of grated pineapple, one half cup of sugar, one cup of cream to whip, two tablespoons of lemon juice. Add sugar to the pineapple and bring to a boil. Add the gelatine and lemon juice and when it begins to set add the whipped cream. Put in molds. When set, serve on lettuce leaves.

STUFFED BAKED APPLES—Select large, firm apples, wash and remove the cores. Mix together equal quantities foseeded raisins and chopped peanuts, and fill the cavities with this mixture. Sprinkle generously with sugar. Add one teaspoon water, a whole clove and a small piece stick cinnamon to each apple. Bake in a deep dish in a moderate oven. Serve garnished with chopped nut meats.

BANKERS STUDY THREATENED CHANGES

Increased Efforts Made to Overcome Limitations on Group System Plans

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Oct 4.—The basic question which has captivated the interest of the delegates to the convention of the American Bankers' Association, now in session in San Francisco, is whether American banking is on the threshold of revolutionary changes.

Statutory limitations have thus far restrained the formation of gigantic banking trusts, yet increased efforts are being made in some directions to get around the legal barriers. Group banking constitutes a new formula for joining banks across state boundaries which could not under the law be consolidated under a single charter. Branch banking is permitted in some states, and forbidden in others, and nationally the McFadden act has done little more than maintain the present status. There is, however, a conflict between the idea of group banking and branch banking, and there is also a vast sentiment, especially among the smaller banks for the continuance of a large number of independent banks.

BANKERS WARNED

A bank president from Wall street—George W. Davison, president of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company—has taken up the cudgels for the country banks, and has warned the banking fraternity against the hazards of an undue concentration of economic power. Mr. Davison believes in limited branch banking within communities, but is out of sympathy with aspirations for nationwide chains or groups. It should be pointed out that both the Central Union Trust Company and the Hanover National Bank, with which it was recently merged, are somewhat untypical, almost alone among outstanding metropolitan banks, they have resisted new tendencies to make banks unspecialized department stores of finance. For example, neither institution has been identified with the underwriting of securities.

"We American people," Mr. Davison warned, "have a deep-seated distrust of concentrated power, especially concentrated financial, money power. This distrust has often been latent for long periods; but, however dormant, it has been there. It was that which made it possible to destroy the first and second banks of the United States. It was that which less than two decades ago threw the country into the turmoil of the 'money trust' investigation.

"Let us not forget that in the statute books of the nation and of the states we have laws against excessive concentration of economic power. They have been invoked in the past and can be invoked again. They can be amplified and be equipped with more iron teeth. Our annals show that the invariable accompaniment of any protracted period of economic depression is a fresh political lurch in the direction of just such legislation and a fresh invocation of its enforcement."

CARRIES OUT IDEAL

Recognizing that business is becoming institutionalized along national lines, Mr. Davison insists that banking better carries out the American ideal of economic independence.

"It seems to me," the New York financier pointed out, "that in these days of economic concentration and consolidation our banking system, with its continuing achievement of increasing cooperation by thousands and thousands of independent banks, exemplifies more than does any other form of our economic institutions the basic American idea."

Mr. Davison sees no necessity for copying the European systems of nation-wide branch banking systems, because he thinks that "today America has the best banking system in the world." Mr. Davison does not feel that it is accurate to consider the system a collection of 27,000 unit banks.

He contends that the banks are tied together through a correspondent system.

"It is to correspondent banking," Mr. Davison contended, "if I may be allowed to use a phrase which carries its own definition to all bankers, that, in studying our banking system as it exists my thought turns for the assurances that will safeguard and preserve the individualism of American banking which I believe we all regard as indispensable to the health of the American economic future if we as bankers are to serve our people as well in the future as we and our predecessors have served them in the past."

REMARKS SIGNIFICANT

Mr. Davison raises his voice publicly only on rare occasions, and when he does he has something to say. He does not, of course, end the controversy over the future of banking, he merely gives new authority to the traditional system. His remarks are significant because they dispose of the superstition that there is a money ring in New York which acts as a unit and which is intent on impinging on the freedom of country banks. There is a diversity of opinion among big New York bankers as to the desirability of chain banking, just as there is among bankers in the interior.

My own opinion is that significant changes in banking structure and philosophy are under way, as the banks and bankers of the country are seeking to adjust themselves to the growth of big business at the expense of little business.

Stocks Crash, Soar | Moderate Declines Here

MARKET SOARS AFTER SHARP DECLINE

Rally Wipes Out or Cuts Down Losses and Sends Some Stocks for Gain

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—With trading running close to record-breaking proportions, the stock market witnessed another tremendous wave of liquidation today followed by a brisk rally.

Early declines in scores of active issues ranged from 3 to 25 points, but the subsequent recovery wiped out or cut down many of these losses and sent a number of shares up 1 to 3 points above yesterday's final quotations. The ticker was nearly an hour behind the market in the early afternoon, and total sales in the first two hours ran just below 2,775,000 shares.

Yesterday's decline, which was one of the most severe in recent stock market history, forced the liquidation of thousands of weakened speculative accounts, but when it looked as though another wide open break was imminent, strong banking support was supplied, and prices rallied briskly. The large increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, coming on top of a week of steadily declining prices, had further undermined speculative confidence.

CREDIT EASIER

Credit conditions were somewhat easier as a result of the heavy liquidation that has taken place, but credit rates generally were still well above the levels prevailing at this time last year. Call money dropped from 6½ to 6 and time money held steady at 9 per cent. There was a plentiful supply of funds available. In view of the recent sharp decline in prices, Wall street was inclined to blame the huge gain in brokers' borrowings on the large volume of new financing in recent weeks.

High priced specialties were again hard hit. J. I. Case dropped 25 points, Peoples Gas 19¾, Columbian Carbon 13, Auburn Auto 11¾, and Allied Chemical 10. Newport Company, Newton Steel, Columbia Graphophone, International Combustion, Yellow Truck, Simmons Company, Stone and Webster, Eastman Kodak, American Power and Light, and United Aircraft sold down 4 to 6½ points, the first five reaching new low ground for the year.

STEEL GAINS

United States Steel common sold down to 210¼ and then rebounded to 215, or 2 points above last night's close. American Can rallied 3 points and Westinghouse Electric, Radio, American Telephone, Gillette Safety Razor, National Biscuit and American and Foreign Power snapped back 2 to 3 points above yesterday's final quotations. Commercial Solvents, which broke 70 points yesterday, rallied 25, American Water Works rallied 14 and Standard Gas and Electric 10.

Wall street was none too sanguine that the rally would hold, because it was feared that stocks bought for supporting purposes would be thrown back into the market, and that traders, who escaped the first demands for more margin, would endeavor to lighten their holdings on the bulges. Few commission houses advised their customers to buy stocks, except for trading turns.

Except for the publication of a series of favorable sales and earnings statements, and the action of the American Bankers' Association in favoring an investigation of the brokers' loan situation, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement.

Receding prices continued during the final hour, Greene Cananea Copper losing 6 points. United States Steel broke to 206½. J. I. Case dropped altogether 35 points before it rallied 10. The closing tone was irregular. Total sales exceeded 5,600,000 shares.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

International Tel. and Tel.

International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, which has extensive interests in South America, has formed a subsidiary named International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, Sud America. Plans for the new company have not been disclosed, but it is assumed in Wall street that the concern will eventually take over some of the parent organization's activities in South America.

White Motor Head.

R. W. Woodruff, president of Coca Cola Company, was elected president of White Motor Company, succeeding W. C. White. Mr. Woodruff continues as president of Coca Cola.

World Oil Output.

World Oil Production for 1929 will aggregate close to 1,467,000,000 barrels, an indicated increase over 1928 of 145,000,000 barrels or nearly 11 per cent, according to V. R. Garfias, manager of foreign oil department of Henry L. Doherty & Co.

Income Tax Collection.

Income tax collections in September for third quarterly installment were $542,279,982, nearly $100,000 greater than last year and slightly exceeded estimates, according to the Treasury Department.

BLAW KNOX UP IN LOCAL MARKET

Stock Stages Sharp Rally Following Dull Opening. General List Is Irregular

Blaw Knox moved up sharply on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today following an irregular opening in which the general list sagged off in response to the uncertainty on the New York market.

In the last hour the stock has risen to above 54, as compared with the initial transactions at 51.

There was no noticeable pressure here and volume of dealings was on about the same scale as the previous session. Lone Star Gas was handled around 65 as compared with yesterday's close at 66. Western Public Service dropped back to around the 40-level and remained there during the greater part of the early trading.

Industrials generally showed fractional losses from their previous prices, but the list as a whole held well in the face of the disturbance on the "big board."

International Rustless Iron scored another new low for the movement when it sold under $6 a share but offerings were not heavy. The better grade industrials such as Armstrong Cork and Pittsburgh Plate Glass were firm.

These Men Find Time To Do Much

By B. C. FORBES

TWO items in yesterday's newspapers:

CLEVELAND, O.—Robert W. Woodruff, president of the Coca-Cola Company of Atlanta, was today elected president of the White Motor Company, succeeding the late Walter C. White. Mr. Woodruff, although not quite 40, will manage both these $50,000,000 corporations.

NEW YORK.—Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company, was chosen last night chairman of an organization to raise $6,000,000 to build the Gotham Hospital for patients of moderate means.

WHY is it that some men make time to undertake many responsibilities while others find it difficult to fill one job?

Is part of the explanation to be found in the late Judge Gary's guiding business axiom: "Organize, deputize, supervise?"

MANY men handicap themselves by their failure to deputize. They feel they must do everything themselves. They cannot bring themselves to leave important matters to others. Being nominally responsible, they cannot entirely trust any associates lest something go wrong.

THAT is the attitude sometimes of executives possessing unusual conceit—they imagine nobody can do anything big exactly right except themselves. Sometimes it is the attitude of men gripped by an inferiority complex. They feel more or less nervous that they will fall down on their job, a sense of responsibility presses heavily upon them, and in their anxiety to guard against mishaps, they shirk from deputizing responsibilities.

THOMAS W. LAMONT, the foremost of J. P. Morgan's partners, can keep half-a-dozen tremendously important balls in the air at one time. One hour he may be devoting himself wholeheartedly to raising $14,000,000 for Harvard; the next he may be wrestling with the problem of solving Mexico's foreign debt tangle; from that he may turn to the organizing of a billion-dollar combination; a $50,000,000 or $100,000,000 security issue may be the next item on his program. Lamont functions quickly and, he declares, with unusual little wear and tear on himself.

AT THE other side of the continent is a banker who finds time to become an active factor in scores of diversified enterprices, Herbert Fleishhacker, of San Francisco. He will settle a dozen knotty problems for different corporations in half as many hours. They tell you in California that everybody takes their troubles to him. There is hardly a field of human endeavor that he is not immersed in.

OWEN D. YOUNG won the chief executiveship of General Electric because, when its chief counsel, he found time to receive and to keep every executive and manager who was confronted with baffling difficulty. Mr. Young is today a dynamic force in several huge-scale enterprises here and abroad, yet finds time to draw up Germany's reparation plan.

MYRON C. TAYLOR, Judge Gary's successor in the Steel Corporation, has achieved a notable record in several lines of industry as well as in finance. The Morrow brothers, who have taken hold of United Cigars, Gold Dust, etc., apparently are never too busy to tackle the upbuilding of one more enterprise.

SYDNEY Z. MITCHELL has more irons in the fire than perhaps any other man in America. He has learned how to organize, deputize and supervise—and to do each thoroughgoingly. Samuel Insull, of Chicago, has also tackled one big task after another, and licked them all.

Charles Hayden, of Hayden-Stone, is among the most ubiquitous men in Wall street, an active power in a bewildering variety of organizations. George F. Baker, when younger, knew almost as much about the affairs of the score or more railways and industrial corporations of which he was a director as he did about his own bank.

The Van Sweringens have learned the art of attending to more than one thing. John D. Ryan and Cornelius F. Kelley, originally of Anaconda Copper, have branched out enormously. William R. Hearst has exhibited extraordinary versatility. So has Pierre Du Pont; also, Fred Fisher.

THE number of towering business executives who find time to devote to philanthropic and other worthy, non-mercenary movements is amazing.

TO THE axiom, "organize, deputize, supervise," should be added "avoid ruts, work enthusiastically, play enthusiastically."

BABSON FAVORS GAS STOCKS

Roger W. Babson, president of the Babson Statistical Organization, who came to Pittsburgh at the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce to conduct a conference on business and investment, spoke at noon today at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce and the Pittsburgh Bond Club. The subject of Mr. Babson's talk was "Investment Situation."

Mr. Babson declared that of the approximately 1,200 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, 700 are selling today less than a year ago. "From now on other selling waves may be expected which may ultimately cause a decline of from 60 to 80 points," he added. "The economic cycle is in progress today as in the past. The Federal Reserve System has put the banks in a strong position; but it has not changed human nature. More people are borrowing and speculating today than ever in our history. Sooner or later there will be a day of reckoning and it may be quite severe."

Declaring that the average Englishman and European believes that his money is safer in the United States than in his own country, Mr. Babson intimated that the greatest factor attracting this money to America is the profits which have been made in the New York market by their foreign friends. The three greatest factors in keeping the market up are this same foreign buying, investment trusts, and the unwillingness of the individual and the investment trust to pay profit taxes, according to Mr. Babson.

Pointing out the tremendous growth in the electrical power branch of the utility group during the past 10 years, and the profits accruing therefrom, Mr. Babson emphatically declared: "With big developments in view for the gas industry under the sponsorship of the largest financial interests in the country, investors should carefully study the field of gas companies stock."

FORD OUTPUT HIGHER

DETROIT, Oct. 4.—Production of Ford passenger and commercial cars during September totaled 161,305 units, a substantial increase over production in the same month last year. October schedule calls for an output of 175,000 units, a gain of 47,000 over the production in October, 1928.

Total Ford production for the first nine months of the current year was 1,623,498 units. Advance schedules indicate that full year's production will exceed 2,000,000 units.

October's program means that the River Rouge plant will continue on a full five day schedule. Employment in the Ford plants remains at a high level with 108,138 employees working in the three large plants in the Detroit area on October 2.

DIVIDEND NEWS

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 5 points, with active months selling about 6 to 8 points net higher during the early trading on relatively steady cables and prospects for showers in the central belt and western sections of the eastern belt. This advance carried December up to 18.88c and March to 19.17c, but the market met considerable realizing at these figures, and there was a little more selling later on talk of larger private crop figures.

By the end of the first half hour prices were back to about yesterday's closing quotations under liquidation and southern selling.

Private reports published early placed the condition of the crop at 52 per cent and the indicated yield at 14,562,000 bales, but later there was a report making the condition 54.6 and the indicated yield 14,990,000 bales.

Liverpool cables reported that London and Bombay buying had been supplied by hedging in the market there.

The decline from the early advance carried the market off to 18.76c for December and 19.07c for March, or about 4 points below yesterday's closing quotations. Offerings became lighter on the setback, however, and the market later in the morning was quiet with prices holding about steady.

At midday December was selling around 18.85c, with the general list showing net advances of 3 to 6 points.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP.)—The curb market again broke wide open today as the unexpected increase of $43,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans gave speculative confidence another shock. As call money eased from a renewal rate of 6½ to 6 per cent soon after midday, however, prices began to rally. Trading was in enormous volume, the ticker falling more than an hour behind the trading.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

TARIFF ACTION AWAITED BY INDUSTRY

Uncertainty Regarding Bill Causing Some Hesitation In Many Lines of Trade

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct 4.—"A speedy clearing of the congressional decks of the tariff bill will be one of the quickest and surest means of allowing all industry to forge ahead with renewed vigor and confidence," said John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, in discussing the business outlook for International News Service.

Mr. Edgerton stated that in his recent trips across the country he has encountered considerable uncertainty and faltering in industrial activity, occassioned by discussion of the tariff bill. His personal viewpoints and observations, he said, are paralleled in almost every instance by reports coming to him from various industrial sections west of the Mississippi.

PLANS IN ABEYANCE

"While I find indications strongly favorable to good business, that production has increased, that consumption has kept pace with it and is keeping pace with it, that the fall activities are promising to take up much of the summer seasonal recession, I have found, and am finding on all sides, a wide uncertainty and faltering in industrial activity and plans for the future, occassioned by the national disturbance centering around one economic problem, the tariff bill at Washington," Mr. Edgerton emphatically declared.

"For nearly six months this vital question has been on the political operating table, while the legislative physicians have haggled over a correct dianosis and the proper treatment," said the head of the Manufacturers' Association. "American industry, which pays nearly 60 per cent of the federal taxes, is waiting with growing anxiety for Congress to take action; and that uncertainty is reflecting all down the line from employer to employee, both of whom will be affected by the legislative decision."

INDUSTRY MARKING TIME

Industry today is marking time involuntarily and in many instances plans for industrial expansions and extensions are being held up, according to Mr. Edgerton's obersvations. Every day of this uncertainty witnesses the further slowing up of our economic pace, for there are few things with which it is more difficult to cope than the uncertainty of political action upon a basic economic issue.

The National Association of Manufacturers, Mr. Edgerton declared, is heartily in favor of the flexible provisions of the administrative sections of the pending tariff bill, believing that all of the departures from the present methods embodied in the new proposal are absolutely essential to our further industrial progress and economic welfare. It is the belief and contention of the manufacturers of the United States that these proposals contain nothing which any man of either of the major political parties cannot support consistently with platforms upon which they were elected.

U. S. LEADS WORLD

The United States today has attained the most eminent position of all nations in the world in industry and international strength, but this affulent position cannot be sustained unless the same or increasing intelligence is applied to build progressively for the immediate future and the coming generations, Mr. Edgerton declared.

"Few persons can deny that the United States leads or is abreast of the leader in every line of modern development," said Edgerton. "Its public and private planes of living are below none; its art and divertisements are of the highest level to all; its public health services are supreme in the international code; its transportation systems furnish the greatest convenience and comforts; its working people are fortunate in matter of wages, living conditions and luxuries to a degree not enjoyed by the people of other lands. To continue to enjoy these material blessings we must build wisely and securely for the future."

SHARON MILLS TAPER OFF

SHARON, Pa., Oct. 4.—Operating schedules in Shenango Valley mills continued on the down grade this week when blast furnace No. 3 of the Carnegie Steel Company plant at Farrell was closed. Officials announced that the furnace would be down for a month while repairs are being made. The furnace operated for two years without a let down.

There is only one blast furnace working at the plant now, No. 1 having been closed a month ago. The skelp mill was also down for its third week. No othe changes were reported in the plant.

In the meantime the same schedules were carried out at the other mills, the Mercer and Farrell works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate, American Steel and Wire and Sharon Steel Hoop.

Baldwin Orders Total $16,000,000

Unfilled orders of the Baldwin Locomotive Works amount to $16,000,000. It is planned to have operations maintained on an even basis for the remainder of the year, averaging between 30 and 40 per cent of capacity, which means shipments of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 per month.

BROKERS LOANS REACH NEW RECORD

Borrowing from New York Member Banks Show Gain of $43,000,000 for Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by New York Federal Reserve member banks totaled $6,804,000,000 on October 2, a new peak. This compares with $6,761,000,000 on September 25, the previous peak, the Federal Reserve Board announced.

The low for the current year was $5,284,000,000, on June 12. Member bank borrowings from the New York Reserve Bank on October 2 totaled $63,000,000, against $147,000,000 a week ago and $256,000,000 a year ago.

GOLD MOVEMENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The New York Federal Reserve Bank reports an increase of $6,500,000 in gold, earmarked for foreign account for the week ended October 2. Gold movement at the port of New York for the week showed imports of $4,190,000, of which $2,500,000 came from Argentina, $1,009,000 from England, $504,000 from Columbia and $177,000 chiefly from other Latin-American countries. Exports totaled $298,000, of which $150,000 went to the Straits settlements and $148,000 to Mexico.

BANK RATE UNCHANGED

No announcement was made by the New York Federal Reserve bank as to a change in its re-discount rate from 6 per cent, which rate has been in force since August 9, 1929.

NEW YORK RATIO SOARS

Ratio of reserves to liabilities of the New York Federal Reserve Bank in the past week stood at 81.0 per cent compared with 75.9 per cent a week previous and 63.3 per cent a year ago.

Ratio of the Federal Reserve system for the week was 72.7 per cent against 73.8 per cent a week ago and 66.8 per cent a year ago.

CHICAGO RATE SAME

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Following the meeting of directors of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, no announcement was made on the rediscount rate, which is 5 per cent.

In Memoriam 1-B

In memory of our dear daughter, Miss Grace Scherer, who died October 4, 1928.
A wonderful daughter, woman an aid,
One who was better, God never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true,
One in a million, that daughter was you.
Just in your judgment always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright and true.
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew.
Our wonderful daughter, that daughter was you.
Sadly missed by family.

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT Lenore Ulric is supposed to be the only Broadway star who never had an understudy.

That the Erin Dairy in Toronto is owned by a Mr. Levinsky, and that the police superintendent of Jerusalem is named Foley.

That the name of the fashionable Long Island home of Mrs. Sidney W. Fish is "The Duck Pond."

That in Britain, sissies are called "poofs."

That Sophie Tucker hasn't seen Florenz Ziegfeld or A. L. Erlanger since she worked for them in the 1919 "Follies."

That Benjamin Franklin was a swimming instructor for Philadelphia lads when he returned from Yurrup broke.

That George Washington was very badly pock-marked, which his likenesses do not reveal.

That Gilbert Miller, the producer, succeeded in evening matters with at least six critics, who are ailing with severe colds caught at the Empire Theater, Monday night, from the draughts there.

AS TO THIRTEEN

THAT R. C. Benchley's room number at the New Yorker is 13, although there is no 13 in J. J. Walker's campaign headquarters.

That Funk and Wagnall's Standard Dictionary omits the word "pornographic" and that you cannot find a word concerning jazz in Grove's six volumes: "Dictionary of Music and Musicians."

That A. E. Lefcourt, who builds skyscrapers, is 5 ft. high.

That Ray Long, editor of Cosmop, smokes a pipe tobacco which is flavored with chocolate which Irv Cobb discovered in Los Angeles.

That Albert D. Lasker, owner of Lord & Thomas & Logan, the big ad agency, has a private barber shop in his Chicago office, and he tips one dollar a shave.

That Daddy Browning is spending his coin swiftly, so that "Peaches" who is to get it when he dies, won't.

That an honest barber will tell you cold cream on the face in winter is harmful and he will use cocoa butter instead.

HELPED BY COHAN

THAT the American flag was Betsy Ross' idea but it took a feller named George M. Cohan to make it popular.

That sufferers from garter trouble should purchase a new pair at least every three years.

That for his numerous charitable deeds to local police benefits, Bill Robinson, the great sepia hoofer, this week was presented with a gold-plated revolver by the 32nd Precinct.

That Louis, the captain of the Casanova night club, who Gives You That Look instead of a table when you demand one on a crowded night, couldn't get a table for his wife and self at the Cotton Club Monday. Haw!

That Nate Leipsig, the greatest magician of them all, was amazed by a match trick done by Retlaw Chinwell this week.

SATURDAY ALL THE TIME

THAT the new George White "Scandals" show features a swimming tank scene and the crack on Broadway is: "Wonder how those girls like taking a bath every night for a change?"

That a flower in a coat lapel should be worn up by men and down by women.

That Norman-Bel Geddes has designed a plane for 500 passengers and a crew of 104 to make London from N. Y., in six hrs., and that the darned thing is practical and has been okayed by the gov't, and that he has never been up in a plane in his life.

That Arthur Kober knows an actor who sports stripes on his sleeve because he was wounded in four Broadway plays.

That Antoinette Perry, backer of "Strictly Dishonorable" the town's big hit, was leading femme in "The Ladder" (the world's greatest flop show) who took a gang to Europe two years ago and paid for it all including dessert.

NAMELESS NOW

That the Globe and Gaiety Theaters on Broadway have their names entirely covered since they became movie emporiums.

That in the Go-Ghetto district here the slang for squelching anyone who puts on the ritz is: "Dun't flash by me no nostreels!"

That Achmed Abdullah is scared that everybody will think his central character in "Broadway Interlude" is David Belasco, because Mr. Belasco is putting on one of his plays this season, and he mightn't it.

That the local literati panned Al E. Smith for using such a trite book title as "Up To Now" which is also the tag of an autobiography by Martin Shaw, an Englishman, just published.

That the Imogene (Mary Nolan) Wilson comeback reached its goal this week. On Monday her name went up in Broadway electrics a yard high.

And that the only reason some women are driven to hitting their husbands with chairs is that they can't lift tables.

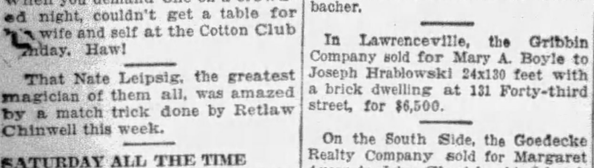
Dentist Entertained At Farewell Dinner

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 4.—Dr. C. S. Johnson, Brownsville dentist, who is leaving soon for Los Angeles, was honor guest at a banquet tendered him by members of the dental profession at the Nemacolin Country Club yesterday. Dr Johnson has practiced here for 21 years.



TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Rico Escapes Gunman's Bullets as He Leaves Restaurant

CHAPTER XXXVII.

"LOUIS," said Chiggi, "I don't know whether you're wised up or not, but we been hitting the rocks. The bulls got two of our men and a big load of alcohol, and a couple of days ago another one of our carts got hijacked at Monroe. See, so we're pretty low."

"Yeah?" said Rico.

"Well," said Chiggi, "we want a stake, don't we, Red?"

"Yeah," said Red, "and we ain't any too particular where we get it."

"Well," said Rico, getting up, "you got a lot of guys around here. Ask them."

"Listen, Red," said Chiggi, "you keep your lip out of this."

Red got to his feet suddenly and stood glaring at Chiggi.

"Why, you measly, small-time wop, I guess you don't know who you're talking to, do you?" He raised his arm and pointed at Rico. "You see that guy there, he thinks he's the best there is, got it? He thinks he's the biggest dago outside of Italy, and here you go honeying after him like we couldn't get a stake no place else. But I ain't begging no dago to stake me."

Chiggi looked helplessly at Rico.

"Yeah," said Red, "and while we're talking I'm getting sick of the way that bird there sits around and don't say nothing and acts like he was God-only-knows-who. Yeah, I'm getting good and sick of it, Chiggi."

"Well," said Chiggi, "when you get real sick of it, why beat it."

Red laughed.

"Gonna stick to your dago friend, are you? Well, he's got the jack. But what're you gonna do when you need a guy that's got nerve?"

This was too much for Rico. He said:

"What do you know about nerve? I guess you ain't so tough or they wouldn't've run you out of Chi."

"Will you listen to that!" said Red; "all right, buddy, you said your piece and you sure spoke out of turn. Why, dago, where I come from you wouldn't live five minutes. Now I'm gonna show you how they treat smart dagos in Chi."

Red made a motion toward his coat pocket, but Rico beat him to it. He pulled his gun from the holster under his armpit and covered Red.

"Red," he said, "in Chicago I wouldn't let you rob filling stations for me."

Red stood with his hands up, looking from Rico to Chiggi.

"Don't bump him off, Louis," said Chiggi.

"I wouldn't waste a bullet on him," said Rico; then glaring at Red he went on: "You've been getting away with this rough stuff too long, Red. I'm Cesare Bandello!"

Red's mouth fell open and he stood staring at Rico. Chiggi took Rico by the arm.

"Are you Rico?" he cried.

Rico nodded and put up his gun. Red dropped his hands, sank into a chair and wiped the sweat from his face.

"You sit down, Chiggi," said Rico, "and I'll do the talking."

Chiggi sat down.

"Lord," said Red, "so you're Rico? Steve Gollancz told me you was a big fellow."

"Steve never seen me," said Rico.

Chiggi leaned forward eagerly.

"You gonna put in with us, Louis?"

Rico said:

"I'll put in a third, but I got to boss the works or I won't put in nothing."

Chiggi looked at Red.

"That's O. K. with me," said Red.

Chiggi got to his feet and danced a few steps.

"Hurray for us!" he cried.

Under Rico's guidance Chiggi's gang prospered. Chicago Red, impressed by Rico's reputation, carried out his orders and never argued; Chiggi also. And Chiggi's men were influenced by the attitude of their former bosses. Rico made decisions quickly, seldom asked for advice, and was nearly always right. Chiggi and Red were used to doing things on a small scale and hated to split with the authorities, but Rico had been in the game long enough to know that to make money you've got to spend money. Through Antonio Rizzio, one of Old Chiggi's friends, now a minor politician, Rico got in touch with some of the high-ups and bought protion. Chiggi's business had doubled. But, due to this increase in business, a new difficulty had risen: hijackers. They waylaid Chiggi's men and robbed them of cargoes. There was a well-organized gang of them around Monroe, Mich., and they began to cut into Chiggi's profits. Rico tried rerouting his runners, and this was successful for a month or two, but the Monroe gang soon got on to it, and the trouble started over again. Rico took a chance. He ordered three sho-sho guns from a firm in Chicago. These small automatic rifles, as formidable as machine guns, were concealed in special cases under the seats of the trucks. Rico instructed his runners in the use of them, and after a few encounters the Monroe gang decided that it would be more lucrative and also safer to confine their hijacking to smaller bootleggers who were not equipped with artillery.

Rico was pleased with his success, but hardly satisfied. This was small stuff and, as he could take no active part in it, he had a good deal of time on his hands. Of course he was a pretty big guy for Toledo and around Chiggi's he was king, but, after all, Chiggi's boys were a mighty poor lot, worse even than Little Arnie's, and their adulation wasn't worth much.

But that wasn't the worst of it. Rico knew that he had blundered badly in revealing his identity to Chiggi and Chicago Red. Neither of them was very dependable. Chiggi talked incessantly, contradicting himself, forgetting what he had said two minutes after he had said it; and all this talk was directed at one object; self-glorification. An association with Cesare Bandello, of Chicago, was something to brag about and Rico knew it. Chicago Red as a rule was not very talkative, but when he got drunk he would boast about his former connections with Steve Gollancz. Rico feared them both. Sometimes when the three of them were alone together he would caution them. There was only one thing that reassured Rico. Chiggi's prosperity depended on him, and Rico knew that both Chicago Red and Chiggi were aware of it.

At about 7 o'clock one night Rico went out for supper. He ate at the little Italian restaurant where he and Otero used to split a bowl of soup when things were bad. He always sat facing the front door at a table in the back of the place. In this position he could see everyone who came in and also he could keep an eye on the people at the tables. On his right and a couple of feet ahead of him was a little window which looked out on an alley. While Rico was finishing his coffee he happened to glance at the window. When he did, a face which had been pressed against the window-pane was hastily withdrawn. Rico got up, put on his hat and paid his check.

"I'm going out the back way," he said to the counterman.

"O. K., boss."

"If anybody comes in here and asks for Louis De Angelo take a good look at him."

"All right, boss," said the counterman.

Rico went out through the kitchen door, which opened onto a little cement court where the refuse from the restaurant was dumped. The big garbage cans along the wall were in the shadow and, as Rico stepped out, a man jumped up from behind one of the cans and put a gun against him. Rico threw himself to the ground, the gun exploded harmlessly, and the man made a break for the alley, stumbling over the cans. Rico fired from a prone position and missed. Then he jumped to his feet and ran out into the alley. The man had disappeared.

THE RIGHT TO GRIPE

The rights of earthly men, I fear,
Are very prone to disappear;
But we can struggle on, unless
We lose freedom of speech and press—
If those, alas, they took away
We would be apt to rise and slay,
Since we must keep at any cost,
Right to complain of those we've lost.

Men of the Hour

Hereafter blind men will be given preference in all civil service examinations for steamboat inspectors, if the suggestion of Alsatia Doakes, philanthropist, is adopted.

As Mr. Doakes points out, it would be more humane to give these jobs to men who are actually blind, so they would not have to commit perjury when they testify at hearings of marine disasters.

FELT HIMSELF SLIPPING DOWN

How Mr. Sabatino Came Back to Full Measure of Virility.

"It is a terrible thing for a man who feels himself in full vigor to realize he is slowing up," said M. A. Sabatino, of Greensburg, Pa., to the World's Tonic druggist in that city recently. "I have always been a vigorous man, full of the joy of living, and both proud and fond of my associations with other people. It has always been my boast that I was every ounce a man and that it was the duty of a man to be virile and masculine just as it is the privilege of a woman to be attractive and feminine. Up till last year I felt I was all I should be. But I noticed that sometimes in the evenings I was too tired to be hungry. If I forced myself to eat I often had bad dreams, and the next morning my mouth tasted bad and I found I had a bad case of catarrh. Before long I had a sour stomach occasionally. As the weeks went on this became more frequent, and before long I had sharp indigestion. This was bad enough, but with it all the vim I had seemed to be going. I lacked pep, and I felt weak instead of strong. Before long I was willing to sit around the fire, and I had no appetite for food. One morning I woke up stiff and sore all over, and before night I thought I had a real case of rheumatism, for my muscles ached and my back hurt. This kept on until I was uncomfortable all of the time.

"I could not get rid of the idea that my blood was poor. For one thing, I got cold easily. When my eyes began to get yellow and my skin broke out I knew I needed a good blood medicine. But the dozen or so I tried did not do me any permanent good. One night while I was in your store I heard a man say that he had found World's Tonic helped him wonderfully, and I asked your clerk to give me a bottle.

"Well, sir, from that request I date my wonderful recovery. World's Tonic acted like magic. In a week after I began taking it I knew it was no ordinary medicine. One by one my troubles went, my eyes and skin cleared up and my bowels moved regularly, and I became well again. This was a wonderful thing in itself. But, as you see, I am getting older all of the time, and I did not expect to regain my virility. Yet this great medicine gave me a complete recovery. I never in my life felt more masculine than I do now. I never had more ambition and courage than I have now. I never got the joy out of living that I do today. I can now eat anything and relish it. I wish you could tell all people who have failed to keep their youth what I have learned—that World's Tonic is a most remarkable restorer and invigorator as well as the greatest blood and stomach remedy I ever heard about." World's Tonic can be had of Dow's (formerly McCulloch's), also May's, and Mayflower, or of any other first class drug store. (B-4)

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

25-Cent Bus Fare Protest Coming to Head Soon

Request by counsel representing complainants against the 25-cent bus fare of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Lines that a date be fixed by the Public Service Commission for a hearing on the protest is to bring this matter within the rays of the searchlight October 24. Active protestants are Twenty-Seventh Ward Board of Trade and the Transportation Committee of the Allied Boards of Trade, who filed objections last March to the tariff put into effect for a bus line from Pittsburgh to Bellevue.

Among points to be brought up, it is believed, will be the comparison of the 25-cent rate with the 15-cent charge of the Oriole Motor Coach Lines, Pittsburgh to Mt. Lebanon and Greentree, and that of another company operating a route through West View from the downtown, also 15 cents, it is stated. Also that other cities have bus service comparable to that for which a quarter is charged here for only 10 cents and that some lines in New York are operated on a five-cent fare.

This action is significant because the carrier will have to prove the fairness of the 25-cent tariff, which the Sun-Telegraph, in a series of articles covering bus operation in a number of principal cities, disclosed to be grossly excessive. To make it permanently effective the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Lines will have to show that this particular line could not be operated profitably with a lesser fare. The proof is up to the carrier, whereas, in the lines already established and the fare fixed, the matter of proof of unfairness of the rate would be up to the complainant.

The people allowed the quarter rate to be fastened upon them and it seems they cannot change it without great difficulty. Their only present hope is that the Bellevue rate will be declared unjust and ordered reduced. In that case the carrier would have to abandon the line or stand in the light of gouging patrons of other routes who were charged a quarter for service that is given to Bellevue residents at a lower rate.

Hence bus riders in all parts of the city and suburbs should give active support if they can, and moral support anyway, to the fight being made by the Boards of Trade against continuance of the 25-cent charge for service which, it is contended, could be profitably given for a much less rate.

Army Seeking $110,000 For Its 1930 Activities

"Again the Salvation Army lassie comes and smiles in on you. She is still carrying on, still doing your work—our Master's work. She does not need to tell you much about this work as she feels you already know its worth."

These words introduce the Salvation Army's announcement of its annual appeal for funds to finance its many activities. It seeks $110,000 from the public to add to its other income to make up the budget for the coming year. It is assumed that it will be given generously and quickly, since it is well known, as the introductory paragraph states, that the work of the Army is most worthy of support. It includes operation of missions, home and hospital for women and children, day nursery, emergency home for women, family relief and other humanitarian activities. Surely something in which the public should help.

Members of the advisory board of the Army include Judge Joseph Buffington, president; George E. Alter, chairman, and H. C. McEldowney, treasurer. Get out your checkbook now, while the name of the treasurer is before you.

Just a Little Lesson
By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

HERE'S one for hit-and-run drivers to paste on their windshields.

It shows that retribution and justice may be pop-eyed, but they don't stutter.

"Bugs" Baer

It happened out in Los Angeles this August. One of those smack-and-scramm chauffers struck a woman pedestrian and knocked her 50 feet.

Then he played piano on all the foot pedals and looped away at 60 miles per escape hour.

Nobody got his number because a crash-and-rattle driver is like a rabbit. He goes so fast he don't need a tail light.

He must have thought he made a clean getaway. But when the coppers reached the woman's body, they discovered that nobody has ever amended the laws of fate.

Tangled up in the woman's skirt was the front license plate of the bump-and-scoot driver.

We don't know what the slamm-and-scramm motorist thought when he reached his sheltering garage and discovered that his front license plate was missing.

Probably he hoped that it had dropped off some time ago and that he never noticed it.

But we do know what the cops thought when they saw the plate tangled in the victim's skirt. We were right there at the time.

And we know what the judge thought when he got the bump-and-jump pilot in front of him. He didn't bother looking through the pages of the law. The judge just threw the book at him.

When arresting a bird like that, we have a few items of interest to divulge. First of all, don't grab him by the collar. Kick him in the tonneau.

And don't place him in the police van. Put him on a traffic spot. Then run into him with the police truck. Knock him 50 feet. And stand him up again. Knock him another 50 feet, all in the general direction of the jailhouse.

At the rate of 50 feet a collision, any lowbridging driver would learn a lesson in bruised etiquette by the time he crashed into the cell that was to be his home, sweet coop, for the next 20 years.

This incident, to our eggshaped minds, was the most dramatic thing we have read in years. It didn't bring the victim to life again, but it certainly took a bad penny out of circulation for 20 years.

Bible Passages

A Prophecy Fulfilled

(St. John 12: 14-26)

AND Jesus, when he had found a young ass, sat thereon; as it is written.

Fear not, daughter of Sion; behold, thy King cometh, sitting on an ass's colt.

These things understood not his disciples at the first; but when Jesus was glorified, then remembered they that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things unto him.

And there were certain Greeks among them that came up to worship at the feast:

The same came therefore to Philip which was of Bethsaida of Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see Jesus.

Philip cometh and telleth Andrew and Philip tell Jesus.

And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of Man should be glorified.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die not, it bringeth forth much fruit.

He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal.

If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour.

RARE orchids in a flower shop,
Their petals cool and dim;
And yet they hint of perils dared
To meet a woman's whim;
Of tropic forests strange domains
And tangled jungle deeps
Through which, unseen, the danger stalks,
The stealthy terror creeps.

A pot of gay geraniums
Upon a window-sill
That lend their brightness to the room,
A woman's need to fill;
Fresh, scarlet blooms that speak of home
And simple, homely things,
They still can lift the burdened thought
Of joyous, upward wings.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴
By Elsie Robinson

SALLY'S sweetheart's love has cooled. Sally, sobbing, sends me the following verse. Wants to know what I think of it. This is the steenth time young ladies have forwarded this quotation; evidently it's a hot favorite with the broken-hearted.

"For this is wisdom, to love, to live,
To take what Fate or the gods may give—
To ask no question—to make no prayer—
To kiss the lips, and caress the hair—
Speed passion's ebb as you met its flow
To have—to hold—and, in time, let go."

What do I think of it?

I think it's tommyrot.

As a philosophy for fish worms it may be 100 per cent, but as a program for a two-fisted human it's as silly and sloppy a snivel as ever I heard.

"For this is wisdom, to love, to live,
To take what Fate or the gods may give—"

Well, in my experience—and I've had plenty—if THAT'S your attitude toward life, or love, what "Fate or the gods will give" is A GOOD KICK ON THE SHIN! If you want to take life lying down, believe me they'll LET YOU. And plant a heel in your neck for good measure!

You'll get out of any performance exactly what you put into it and love's no exception. LOVE NEEDS ACTION LIKE EVERY OTHER FORM OF HUMAN PARTNERSHIP.

If you "asked no question and made no prayer" in the insurance business, you'd be bankrupt, pronto. If you tried to run a garage by "kissing the lips and caressing the hair" and leaving the rest to God, somebody else would shortly be selling your heavy oil and putting tubes in your tires. And as for "taking what Fate may give"—just try raising chickens or running a dental office on THAT jelly fish program!

These are horrid commercial examples, but they apply as well to romance as to trade. FOR LOVE, AS WELL AS THE AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS, IS BASED ON PRACTICAL CO-OPERATION IN THE GRIM BUSINESS OF LIVING.

Hair caressing is a delightful amusement for leisure hours, but it won't carry a man through a crash in the market or nerve him to face the grilling monotony of the Same Old Grind. What he needs, then, is the memory of a TRUE COMRADE—the memory of her hearty laugh, the comfort of her understanding mind, the stimulus of her energetic spirit, the backing of a hand and heart which will work as hard and endure as long as his own.

Courage and generosity, humor and imagination, spunk, sense, loyalty, tenderness, grit and initiative—these are the MAKINGS OF LOVE. And unless you can give these makings to YOUR love, Irene, Eunice and Clarabelle, you might as well make up your mind to "in time, let go"—FOR YOU CERTAINLY ARE GOING TO BE JARRED LOOSE, GIRLIES.

Modern photography, with a "shutter" of tremendous speed, makes it possible to photograph this bee in flight.

Young Americans with interest in airplanes and a tendency toward "invention" may study the flying bee with profit.

The bee's wing, which seems in the picture to be at rest, is in reality beating the air 3,000 times a second.

Such terrific power in so small a creature seems impossible. Nevertheless you are told that it is so.

Only the speed of light utilized by the camera makes it possible to photograph the wing of the bee as it flies toward the hive.

What interests the young inventor and airplane builder is the fact that high speed beating of the wing makes a WIDE wing spread unnecessary.

It is as though two small wings attached to a freight car could carry it through the air.

In airplane construction men have imitated birds with WIDE spreading wings.

Men always imitate Nature in the beginning, finally get away from it, and IMPROVE on nature.

A wide wing spread offering resistance to the air, might be diminished, assuming that the necessary power can be provided, by terrifically high speed. That is done in such planes as recently competed for the Schneider Cup, making more than 350 miles an hour.

These planes, small, almost bullet shaped, carry little wing spread. The wings, unlike those of the bee, do not move, of course. But intensively rapid motion of the propeller takes the place of the motion of the bee's wings.

If the bee was able to solve his problem in this way millions of years ago, long before there were any men on earth, men with the power of electricity and exploding gases at their command, should do things much more wonderful.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Thoughts while strolling: That important glow generated by a friendly wave from a traffic cop, Berton Braley, the jaunty jongleur from Madison, Wis. Cigaret-puffing grandmas. Phil Dunning, who drops in from Ft. Worth weekly in his airplane. A. E. Anson.

One of those "Ziegfeld girls" who cannot forget it. Janitors with drooping mustaches who stand all day at basement doors like statues. Charles E. Mitchell, a Chelsea, Mass., boy, who made good in the city. A fellow with deep pleats in his pants smoking a corn cob pipe.

Baby talkers with shoulder curls. The nameless restaurant on West Forty-second street. Patsy Cain, the theatrical warehouse man. Flappers who cover self-consciousness laughing at passers-by. Palm Beach window displays all ready. Jules Bledsoe's long arms. Claire Luce.

The fascinating travel in steamship office windows. Take a Scotch journey—stay at home and let your mind travel. A Sealyham puppy and a white rabbit curled up together in a window. Chocolates 60 cents a pound again. Whatever became of the Shetland pony?

Hennaed ladies with hard faces and husky voices. Where are the brass tweezers they put in boxes of candy that nobody ever used? An A. D. T. boy running—believe it or not. A xylophone studio. There's a career! That beautiful brunette forelady at Fifth avenue Schrafft's.

Almost everybody at some time or other thinks they are losing their mind. Never see a marble cake anymore. Complete characterizer: The type who knows the make of every car that passes. The new Sherry's near the Plaza. Pearl Regay, in bright red, steps out of a taxi.

Bide Dudley is only a couple of inches from being snow white. And he's just a child. The chiropodist who sports a turban and a Van Dyke and rides daily in the park. Joe Schanz, the tailor. A sale of Lindy hats. Tea time hand-kisses with boot-shaped sideburns.

* * *

On the lower East Side they have found a savant who never went to school but speaks six languages, translates entire Greek dramas, qualified as curator for a museum and is an expert minerologist.

A guy like that probably knows how they put ships in bottles.

Celebrities arriving in New York must sound their cymbals. A movie star thought he might inspire a little tom-tom beating by the inverse process of slipping into town incognito. He registered under another name, slipped in and out a secret entrance, and otherwise sought seclusion. After 10 days of hopeful waiting, he sent for his press agent, touched the trigger and let Park Row have both barrels.

* * *

In one of the new theaters they have placed an A before each seat row letter. Thus AK is merely row K, but with the A preceding it customers have an idea they are nearer the stage.

* * *

Friday night is becoming ladies' night in the theater. Big boxing matches are held on this evening, and wives go to the play and husbands go to the bouts—at least that is their story.

* * *

The fact that Steinmetz, the electrical wizard, had a gila monster as a pet was revealed in his biography and caused a few shudders. Yet the intimates of a world-famous manufacturer have been permitted to see a private zoo he has maintained on his estate for years and which includes a nest of copperhead snakes, a family of skunks and a pair of hyenas.

* * *

And the den of a playwright who dashes off worldly dramas of the drawing room has a human skeleton dangling from a wire in the corner. What would give most of us the horrors inspires him to sophisticated dialogue.

On one of the recent sweltering nights a Swedish elevator operator observed to Burns Mantle: "It gets no cooler fast."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today
By WILL ROGERS.

A GUY don't always get much thanks for giving something away. And it don't always make much difference how much he gives, either. I remember when folks used to make fun of Andy Carnegie for giving away so many libraries.

Well, there was a guy holding out a tincup on the boulevard instead of working, and some old lady passing by dropped a couple of pennies into the cup.

"Here, mam," said the beggar, "you'd better take these back! Yourself and Rockefeller is going to die poor, I'm afraid. That's how I got this way, handing out fortunes to every street beggar!"

ONCE OVERS
By J. J. Mundy

THIS is a talk with employed girls:

Do you stint yourself in food so as to have more to spend for clothes.

Are you so determined to get and keep slender that you do not eat enough to provide the food your body requires to be strong?

By limiting yourself in nourishing food you prepare the way for disease to enter and ruin your life, to say nothing of your good looks.

Thin, aenemic girls are not a pleasing prospect.

And in order to protect yourself from minor ailments you need good food.

For your own peace of mind you want to be well-dressed.

Often your idea of well-dressed is over-dressed.

To dress more plainly and have enough on your bones is far more to your credit, girls. And sensible young men prefer health to clothes.

To deny yourself wholesome food for several days to purchase some bit of finery is paying altogether too high a price for it.

Why be obliged to buy rouge and other so-called beautifiers to cover up the hollows and dark circles left by lack of proper food?

Because of your pride you are undermining your health. Don't do it.

It means that much discomfiture and pain will come to you in the future.
